For the most part these are good programs, and they are of great value in supplementing the retirement benefits that are provided through Social Security.

More and more people are joining these programs as they plan ahead for their retirement and they have made private pensions a big business, with assets in the neighborhood of $360 billion.

Yet even though these programs are managed reasonably well, there are still certain shortcomings in the present system. Because of the growing concern over the way these pension plans are set up, and in order to bring about some uniformity in the structure of pension programs, it appears likely that legislation will be passed this year to establish some fundamental standards for pension programs.

Pension reform has already been under consideration on Capitol Hill for several years, and the Senate will soon be acting on a pension reform act which I have cosponsored and worked on as a member of the Labor and Public Welfare Committee.

Vesting is one of the major subjects being dealt with in the pension bill.

Vesting means that an employee should be able to accumulate a certain amount of his pension entitlement as he works his way towards eligibility for a full pension.

In practical terms, it means that an employee could become eligible for a portion of his pension even if he changes jobs.

There are several different ways of determining how long a person should take part in a pension plan before he is vested, but the consensus is that it should be done.

There also is general agreement that a person should be able to transfer his pension rights when he changes jobs. This is called portability.

It means for example, that a person working for five years at Company X would be able to change jobs and go to work for Company Y and have five years of pension credit in Company Y's retirement program. Of course, there might have to be some adjustment for different pension programs, but at least he wouldn't be starting from scratch again.

Although this is a widely-supported idea, the practical questions of how to achieve it are proving more difficult and there may not be any standards for portability in this year's bill.

It is virtually certain, however, that regulations will be adopted to make pension programs accountable and self-sustaining.

In view of the vast amounts of money involved in private pension programs, it is important to have complete annual reports on all pension funds and their officers. There also should be standards on funding so that enough money will be built up in a pension fund to pay all retirement benefits even if a company goes out of business.

Along this line, there is a possibility of establishing a federally-backed termination insurance program to guarantee the payment of vested benefits in cases where a pension fund is terminated when a company goes out of business.

With more and more Americans joining pension programs to provide for their future security, there should be guarantees that everyone gets a fair return on his investment, and it is time for Congress to see that this is done.

No Trace Found Of Mrs. Robert Crosco

Last weeks searches in the Bethlehem-Deer Park area with K-9 dogs, their handlers, members of the State Police, and sheriff's department failed to turn up any trace of the missing Mrs. Robert Crosco, last seen Sunday, March 25.

Her husband Robert pleaded guilty in district court last week to giving false information to police, after he reported that she had been kidnapped.

For several weeks, the sheriff's office was receiving calls from people who reported seeing Mrs. Crosco, but since the search with K-9 dogs last week, no new reports have been heard.

Three Juveniles Charged With Property Destruction

Three Oakland young people, two males and a female, have been charged with malicious destruction of property in connection with incidents occurring last Thursday evening.

The juveniles allegedly drove their car through the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rodeheaver, drove to Southern High School and spun mud as high as the second floor, also doing lawn damage there, and then proceeded to Oak Park Church of the Brethren, where they drove through the yards and left a trail of churned lawn.

The three have been released to the custody of their parents, awaiting a juvenile hearing.

CRIMSON DIPLOMACY
the betrayal of Asia
Patricia Hurley, daughter of the late Patrick J. Hurley, former Secretary of War and Ambassador to China, was for years her father's confidante, with complete access to his records, reports, and correspondence. Through extensive study, including a recent visit to Asia, Patricia Hurley has become an expert not only on events in that unhappy area, but on the disastrous consequences of this country's policies and programs.
"The Communist regime on the Mainland is using diplomacy, terror, and drugs to spread its dictatorial control to every free country it can reach," Miss Hurley charges. "All that American recognition, support, and trade with Red China will accomplish is make the Communists' task that much easier."
Miss Hurley has prepared a dynamic speech tracing American foreign policy from the sellout to China in the late 40's to the present.
For a message of vital importance to all Americans, be sure to attend this program.

Correction To Accident Report Is Noted

Corrections need to be made in reference to the Hoover-Baker motor vehicle accident as noted in last weeks Republican. No charges were made against Mrs. Shirley R. L. Baker, Grantsville.

The article should have stated that Herbert C. Hoover was charged on 2 counts, operating under the influence of alcohol or drugs and failing to reduce speed under certain conditions.

The accident occurred Saturday April 14 and Trooper David A Miller investigated.

21 At Planning Meeting

Twenty-one people attended the public meeting called by the County Planning Council, held in the Grantsville Elementary School.

Charles C. Bender presided over the meeting. Visiting officials were Tim Dugan, Urban Research and Development; Marshall Rickert, County Planning Director; and Albert Jones, Assistant Director of the County Planning Council.

Films were shown of the streets and homes in the town by Mr. Rickert and ideas and plans for future growth in the town were explained.

A question and answer period was held and new ideas expressed. The directors were pleased with the community response.

There will be another public meeting held in the near future.

Grantsville has several landmarks which will be preserved, such as the Braddock Trail and the Casselman Bridge. Some maps will be printed to show interested persons at the next town hearing.

Polyester: The Workhorse Fiber of the Decade

The textile market has been deluged with synthetic fibers during the last twenty years, but polyester is by far the major success story.

Polyester is found in countless blends and numerous forms. Wovens and knits proliferate now, and the near future is expected to see such breakthroughs as flocked fabrics and non-wovens of polyester also. Men's, women's and children's apparel as well as home furnishings make great use of polyester fibers. No wonder. They are strong, resilient and resistant to wrinkles and abrasion.

Machine washing and automatic drying make care so simple, it is easy to see why polyester is the darling of consumers and is expected to dominate the industry for years to come, announced Freda S. Denison, Extension Agent Home Economics.

Admissions, Amusement Taxes Are Distributed

Figures showing admissions and amusement tax revenues collected for January, February and March of fiscal year 1973 were released by Louis L. Goldstein, state comptroller.

Revenues collected during the period amounted to $1,217,516.66 as compared to $826,610 for the same period in 1972.

For the nine months of fiscal 1973 the state has distributed $3,961,764 to local subdivisions, compared to $3,022,056 distributed during the same period for 1972.

Most of the growth, according to Mr. Goldstein, is due to increases in the local tax rates.

A county by county distribution shows that Garrett county's share was $5,601.32.

May Recoup Crop Losses By Emergency Loan

Farmers in Garrett County, who had sulfered crop or property losses because of the Hurricane Agnes in June of 1972 and who have not received an Emergency loan to assist them in recovering their losses may apply for an Emergency loan at the Farmers Home Administration County Office, U. S. Route 219 North, Oakland, on or before May 8, it was announced by Richard A. Greenwood, county supervisor. Applicants who apply by the deadline will be considered for Emergency loans at 1 percent interest.

In addition, those who qualify will receive a forgiveness benefit on their loan of not to exceed $5,000, based on losses that are uncompensated by insurance or otherwise.

No applications will be received after the May 8th deadline

Good Leadership For Music Camp Is Being Assured

[illegible] leadership has been secured for the Music Camp to be held at Camp Hickory this summer according to William Robinson, music director of Garrett Community College in McHenry.

Guest conductor of choral music Robert Hugh McIver is a former faculty member of Westminster Choir College. Mr. McIver has wide experience as a guest and leading baritone. He has presented 12 full-length recitals, 16 operatic productions, directed 3 choirs and assisted in directing others in addition to performing experiences. Mr. McIver will also be conducting a choir of students from Westminster Choir College in their five-week residency in Garrett County this summer.

Chief accompanist and assistant conductor of choral music will be David Agler of South Bend, Indiana. Mr. Agler has been associated with the Westminster Choir College, Princeton, N. J. and has been a member of the faculty of the Academy of Vocal Arts, Philadelphia. He has had wide experience in coaching voice, as an accompanist, as well as conducting with orchestra. Prior to his work at Westminster, Mr. Agler served five years as an organist and choir director in Indiana and New Jersey.

Dates of the music camp are July 8th through August 10th.

Swanton Scouts In Various Activities

Members of Boy Scout troop 57 of Swanton, held a clean-up day last Saturday, and helping to pick up litter from the top of the mountain to the railroad were scoutmaster Dan Hutson, assistant scoutmaster Jim Sweitzer, Craig Hutson, Jerry Friend, Carl Lee, Curtis Hutson, Bobby Storey. Mr. Hutson succeeded Orval Teets who had served as scoutmaster since 1950.

Two large pick-up truck loads were gathered along the two-mile stretch. Garbage bags were donated by Browning Foodland.

On April 30 at 7:30 in the Swanton Community building the troop will have its annual court of awards at which time the boys making scout advancement will receive awards. Following the ceremonies a party will be held in honor of the troop's 24th anniversary. All past and present registered scouts of troop 57 are invited.

The boys were on a weekend back pack camping trip on March 29, traveling down the Middle Fork to Savage river dam. Making the trip were Dan Hutson, scoutmaster; Orval Teets and Jim Sweitzer, assistant scoutmasters; Craig Hutson, senior patrol leader; Willy Kisner and Roy Lee, patrol leaders; David Wayne Friend, Jerry Friend, Carl Lee, Clarence Mellinger and Curtis Hutson, scouts.

Man Guilty Of Drug Possession Put On Probation

A Frostburg man who had been found guilty of possession of marijuana was placed on probation for one year following a pre-sentence investigation. Another man was found guilty on two charges of malicious destruction of property by Judge Lewis R. Jones in District Court last week.

Edward W. Kasecamp, Frostburg, had been found guilty of possession of marijuana at a trial March 5. As the result of the pre-sentence investigation ordered at the time, Kasecamp was placed on probation for one year at a hearing last Thursday. He was placed under supervision of the Department of Parole and Probation under the general conditions and also, he is to refrain from the use of marijuana and other controlled dangerous drugs. He is to comply with all orders and directions of the Probation Department including treatment for drug abuse as may be available.

Thomas Durst, Grantsville, was found guilty of two charges of malicious destruction of property. One charge was for destruction of property of Ronald Smeak at Grantsville in the amount of $34.45. He was fined $50 and $10 costs. A 30-day jail sentence was suspended. He is to make restitution for the $34.45 and was placed on probation for 6 months. On the charge of destruction of property of Wayne Baughman, east of Grantsville, Durst was fined $50 and $10 costs. A jail sentence was suspended as in the first charge, but restitution in this case is $85. Durst was found not guilty of assault and battery on Ronald Smeak.

Cases of assault and battery and disorderly intoxication against Richard Livengood were dropped, as his wife would not testify.

Many Visit Tasker Home

Also visiting were Edward Sweitzer, Maine, and a friend. Visiting on Easter were Mrs. Lemma Cooper, Mt. Lake Park, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tasker and two children, and Ray Cooper, Deer Park.

Mrs. Barbara Sweitzer returned to Maine with her husband Edward, who is stationed there with the Navy.

Housing Seminar To Be Held At Community College

The Garrett County Planning Commission will be conducting a Housing Seminar for people in the building trades industry on May 1 at 7:30 p. m. in the Garrett Community College auditorium. W. Marshall Rickert, County Planning Director, reported that the agenda will include a presentation of the Garrett County Housing report prepared by the Garrett County Planning Commission and their consultant, Urban Research and Development Corp., and a subsequent panel discussion by representatives of the building industry and the lending institutions of Garrett County, concerning existing issues and problems in the housing industry.

Mr. Rickert stated that the Housing Report is a summary of the land use survey and external building conditions survey conducted by the Planning Commission last year. The housing report includes current income statistics of Garrett County residents and outlines where the primary housing deficits are greatest in terms of individual purchasing power. The report concludes with a series of recommendations designed to promote new housing starts in the County and to assist the building trades industry in directing the construction toward the greatest income market within the county.

The panel discussion immediately following the housing report will be conducted by Charles C. Bender, Chairman of the Garrett County Planning Commission. Participants will include Courtney Tusing, President of First National Bank, R. Thomas Thayer, Jr., from Garrett Land Realty, and a representative of the builders within the county to be announced later. Panelists will discuss the housing industry as seen from their perspective and will point out the unique issues in each of their professions.

Interested county residents in the building industry are invited.

Court Upholds Use of Male-Female Headings

Newspaper advertisements may now state whether the person applying for a position is male or female and whether the individual wanting a person is male or female.

The U. S. Supreme court upheld a lower court ruling that a newspaper was not an employment agency and therefore could use separate male and female headings in its want ad classifications.

By an 8 to 1 vote Associate Justice William O. Douglas dissenting, the court said newspapers are out of the jurisdiction of the Equal Opportunity Employment commission under the terms of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

Newspapers had long contended that separate headings in a service requested by and provided for advertisers, were hoping that the decision would end the controversy once and for all. The Supreme court will also hear a similar case brought against the Pittsburgh Press by the Pittsburgh Commission of Human Relations and the City of Pittsburgh and the National Organization for Women.

The Press argues that classified ads are a readers' service and to impose regulations on them would be a violation of the First Amendment.

Record Entry List Expected For Whitewater

A record entry list is anticipated for the national whitewater canoe and kayak races this weekend on the Savage River's Olympic course near Bloomington.

Over 120 boats have already been entered and entries will be accepted up to Saturday.

Nine members of the team that represented the United States in the Olympics last summer in Germany are among the entrants including Jamie McEwan who won a bronze medal for America.

Joe Monahan, spokesman for the sponsoring Appalachian River Runners' Federation, said the area cleared for last year's tryouts will be available for parking near the course. Practice runs will get underway Saturday morning with competition to begin at 10.

Water for the races will be released from Savage River dam at the rate of 900 cubic feet per second.

Christmas Seal Campaign Is Tops

The 1972 Christmas Seal Campaign of the Maryland Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association was the most successful drive in the 65 year history of the organization's fund raising efforts.

Mrs. Roger N. Medford, MTR DA president, today announced that over $921,000 has been collected, an increase of 5.8 percent over the total raised in 1971, and well over the anticipated goal of $900,000. "We attribute this rise to an increased public awareness of the TB-RD Association as a result of our expanded program and to the increased number of persons receiving seals through a computerized mailing system," Mrs. Medford commented.

Response from all areas of the state was excellent, Mrs. Medford added, and the association expects to use the additional revenue to expand its medical research and training programs and public health education projects in every region of the state during 1973.

Married In Cumberland

Miss Reta Christine Shipley and Gary David Moss were married in a double ring ceremony on Tuesday, April 3, in Trinity Methodist church in Cumberland by Rev. Reg. Barss.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Shipley, LaVale; and Reid L. Shipley, Fort Lauderdale, Fla. The groom is the son of Mrs. June Moss, Cumberland.

The bride was given in marriage by a close friend of the family, Royce Johnson, of the Oakland area.

A reception followed at the home of the groom's aunt, Mrs. Reushel. The groom is stationed at Norfolk, Va., serving with the U. S. Navy aboard the U. S. S. America.

Attending the wedding from the Oakland area were Mr. and Mrs. Royce Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Turney and son Harry, Mrs. Carolyn Beckman and daughters, Kimberly and Krystal, and Babette Riggleman.

YFC Budget Deficit Causes Cancellation Of Two Programs

Mt. Top YFC Board of Directors voted to curtail two aspects of the Mt. Top YFC local program for this month and next due to an $7,800 budget deficit.

The rallies with Rev. Don Engram and Sammy Poole, vocalist, scheduled for this April 25 through 28, and the appearance of the Orrells Gospel Quartet from Detroit, Mich. May 19 and 20 have been cancelled, according to Board of Directors action.

At the 1973 Investors' Banquet, Executive Director Tom Crugan, mentioned, as the budget and calendar for the coming year was presented, that this is the fullest and most ambitious year of activities YFC has ever undertaken, and that if finances did not come in there will have to be further curtailment of some of the aspects of the proposed program.

Sources of income are being sought through more investors and special donations. Contributions may be made to Mt. Top YFC, P. O. Box 335, Oakland.

Scheduled Activities

April 29 at 3:30 p. m., there will be All-Star quiz practice at Crellin.

May 1, at 7:30 p. m., SHS Campus Life club will hold its Impact session at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schell, Route 219 north.

May 2, at 7 p. m., Union High School Campus Life club will meet at the school.

May 5, from 2:30 to 5:30 p. m., YFC bowlers may participate in a bowl-a-rama at Par-Matt Lanes, Oakland, for $2.75 advance ticket cost, or $3.00 at the door.

All-Star Quiz tournament will be held at Frostburg.

May 8, at 7:30 p. m., Billy Graham's film production of "For Pete's Sake" will be shown at the Loch Lynn U. B. Church. No admission will be charged.

Betrayal Of Asia Subject Of Talk

A talk entitled "Crunson Diplomacy, The Betrayal of Asia," will be presented at the First National Bank Community room on Saturday, April 28, at 7:30, by Patricia Hurley, daughter of former secretary of War and ambassador to China, Patrick J. Hurley.

The Upper Potomac committee to Restore American Independence Now, TRAIN, is sponsoring the event. Tickets are $1. Rev. W. H. Leake, Deer Park, is the local contact.

State Property Tax Will Stay 21 Cents

The Maryland Board of Public Works voted Wednesday to hold the state property tax rate stable at 21 cents and said there would be no increase during Marvin Mandel's current term as governor.

The Board was able to hold the tax line by taking advantage of federal revenue sharing funds.

Post Offices To Observe Postal Service Day

Post offices throughout Garrett county, and throughout the United States are observing Postal Service day on Monday, April 30. Some offices will have more activities than others.

All post offices will offer a first date of issue of a stamp honoring postal employes. Each person visiting the offices will be given a free souvenir envelope upon request for one. At the Swanton post office Mrs. Amy J. Wilson, postmaster, said refreshments would be served from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Where the Deer and the Antelope Play

I should have known everything would be all right when I took Bob home to the ranch during spring break. One of the nicest things about our falling in love has been finding that we agree about almost everything under the sun.

Bob won Mom's heart the minute we got there. Laurie, my little sister, asked, "Come see my bird's nest?" "Sure," Bob said and away they went. Mom beamed. She thinks anyone who likes children and birds is all right.

Later Bob played basketball with my brothers and tinkered with the tractor, getting black and greasy right along with Dad. Everybody loved him.

Sunday we all went to church. Standing there, singing with Bob, my family close by, I thanked God for His goodness.

I'm glad that God and His Church have been an important part of my life and of Bob's. Our life together will be enriched by this shared reverence.

Your church offers joyous fellowship. Why don't you go—and take your family with you?

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE LAST BEATITUDE

Lesson for April 29, 1973

Background Scripture: Matthew 16:13-16; John 20:24-31; Acts 16:25-34; Romans 10:5-13
Devotional Reading: Psalms 46.

Most of us are familiar with the beatitudes which are given to us in Matthew's account of the Sermon on the Mount. Perhaps we had to memorize them in church school or confirmation class:

Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

Blessed are those who mourn, for they shall be comforted.

Rev. Althouse

Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth . . . Etc. Because we may not understand too well the meaning of that word "blessed," the New English Bible translates it as "How blest . . ." and the Today's English Version makes it "Happy . . . ("Happy are the poor in spirit . . ."/"How blest are the poor in spirit . . .").

Do not be faithless

Yet, as well known as these beatitudes are, there is still another one that is often overlooked by most of us. It is found, not in the Sermon on the Mount, but in one of the resurrection appearances of Jesus as recorded in the Gospel According to John. It is the last of all the beatitudes of Jesus given to his disciples.

We know the familiar story of Thomas, the one whom we call "Doubting . . ." The facts are simple: while he was away, the other disciples claimed to have been visited by the risen Jesus. Thomas found that too good to be true and refused to believe his co-workers. So dubious was he, that he announced that he would believe only when he could touch and feel this apparition.

When Jesus returned again to the upper room, he challenged the startled disciple to go through with his tests and see for himself whether or not he was real. Most people assume that Thomas then did touch the wounds of Jesus, although the writer, John, gives us no such evidence. In fact, as John records it, as soon as Jesus has given him the challenge, Thomas's doubt is overcome and he pours out his overdue confession: "My Lord and my God!"

Believing without seeing

Jesus uses the slowness of Thomas's faith to lay down a great principle: the higher blessedness comes to those who can believe without proof . . . "Blessed are those who have not seen and yet believe".

This may seem strange to us and many of us may well assume it is an invitation to believe recklessly, but it is not. It is based on the assumption that we cannot afford to live on only that which is definitely proven. There is so much more to life than that. Often the greatest realities are those that require some sort of "leap-of-faith."

Even if science were able to prove most of the claims of the Christian faith, there would still be a need for faith. Man cannot live without faith; deprived of it, he withers and dies. It is that fact that makes the last beatitude so powerful: "Blessed are those who have not seen and yet believe" (John 20:29).

Mime Artists To Present Program

Well known mime artists Bert Houle and Sophie Wibaux, members of Center Stage of Baltimore, will present a full length program of "Mimes and Pantomimes," at Garrett Community College McHenry this evening, April 26, at 8:15. They also plan to perform in schools.

The lights will come up on two figures in black tights and painted white faces on the stage in this production.

The two artists will present their show to a musical background without dialogue using facial expressions and body movements to communicate thoughts and emotions.

Designed to appeal to an audience of all age groups, their repertoire includes several numbers for children.

There is no charge.

Another presentation is a 45-minute condensed version of "Under Milkweed" to be given on Friday evening, also at the college. This is a verse drama of life in a small Welsh fishing village.

A full length film version of the work of Dylan Thomas was recently released. The Center State condensation is intended as an introduction to the Thomas work and is recommended for junior and senior high schools and adult audiences. For this performance tickets for adults are $2.50 and $1 for students.

A final production will be the "Petrified Forest," to be given at Allegany Community college in Cumberland, on Saturday.

Bert Houle and Sophie Wibaux, pantomime artists in residence with Baltimore Center Stage Company, will introduce the art of mime ... Garrett Community College McHenry, this evening during ... and regional tour this month, sponsored by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts.

Deep Creek Lions Elect 1973 Officers

Officers were elected at a meeting of the Deep Creek Lake Lions club of McHenry, on Tuesday, April 10.

Elected were the following: John Brenneman, president; Bill Thomas, 1st vice-president; Joe Sessa, 2nd vice-president; Jay Kaminsck, 3rd vice-president; S Ivan Rowe, secretary; Dale Paugh, treasurer; Nick Lechliter, tail twister; Lindsay Gonder, Sr., lion tamer. Bill Roheson was named to a one-year term on the board of directors, while Wendell Beitzel was named to a two-year term. Installation will occur the first meeting in July.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to say many thanks to all who sent me cards, flowers, letters; brought me gifts, or came to visit me while I was a patient at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. All were really appreciated and helped to make the days shorter.

I also would like to say "Thanks" to Dr. Thomas and his wife, and all the nurses and the entire staff for the fine courteous service shown me while I was there.

Nelle S. Paugh

Named Air Force Specialist Of Year

Airman first class James A. Deem, administrative specialist of the year at Cannon A'r Force base in New Mexico, also was named the outstanding air force administration specialist of the year tor the 12th air force.

Airman Deem entered the air force under the delayed enlistment program and arrived at Lackland AFB, Texas, three days after graduating trom Southern High School, Oakland. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Deem, Mt. Lake Park.

He arrived at Cannon AFB in July, 1971 directly from basic military training and was assigned to the base administrative communications distribution center. His primary job with the center was picking up mail from the base post office and sorting and delivering all official mail to designated offices on the base. He receipted for accountable mail and delivered classified mail to the final destination. He had never lost any accountable mail or had any security violations in the handling of classified mail.

When Airman Deem arrived at Cannon he immediately began training for upgrading to the 3 skill level in his career field. After completing all the requirements in 45 days he passed his Airman's Knowledge test with a 95 percentile, the highest possible score attainable. Thirty days later he completed his Career Development Courses for his five skill level.

Airman Deem completed all of this training with little or no supervision from his supervisor. According to Capt. Betty L. Griffith, chief of administration, "Airman Deem demonstrated from the very beginning that he is truly an airman of outstanding caliber, initiative and well ahead of his peers."

In addition to recognition through certificates and letters of congratulation from his commanders, Airman Deem was awarded a pass for his selection for this honor. He visited his parents on a 30-day leave and is headed for assignment in Turkey.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our darling baby daughter Darla Diane DeWitt, born April 30, 1970.

These past three months have been lonely and blue
Since we had to say our goodbyes to you
In our hearts and minds each day
Are living thoughts, time can never take away.
We cannot speak of that far-off shore
Where they say we shall meet once more
Our hearts still grieve, our eyes still weep,
The pain is too sharp, the hurt too deep
So we'll only say you are asleep
We cannot help but wonder and ask ourselves just why?
They say we should not question but it's very hard not to do.
For I don't think we'll ever get over the loss of you.

Burch May Seek Seat Of Mathias

Attorney General Francis B. Burch declared Monday there was a possibility he would seek the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate in 1974.

"My tentative decision is that I will run again for attorney general, but I'm not ruling out the U. S. Senate," Burch said.

He made the statement shortly after Irvin Kovens, Mandel's chief fund raiser and political confidante, had declared that Burch would be the attorney general candidate on Mandel's 1974 re-electing slate.

A spokesman for Mandel later said that Burch would be the attorney general candidate unless Burch decided otherwise.

The two other elected members of the Mandel administration, Lt. Gov. Blair Lee III, and Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein, have been considered politically scenic for Mandel's 1974 ticket.

To date most speculation about a Senate candidate has centered on Thomas H. Lowe, speaker of the House, and Joseph D. Tydings, who was defeated in 1970 by Sen. J. Glenn Beall, Jr.

OPEN LINE

By
Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked me.

Can you tell me the location of abandoned railroad rights-of-way in Western Maryland? We are thinking about developing a few of them into recreation trails for hiking.

A booklet entitled, "Establishing Trails on Rights-of-Way" is available from the Superintendent of Documents and contains a state-by-state listing of abandoned railroad rights-of-way.

How do I, as a Maryland farmer, apply for Workmen's Compensation?

You may write—State Accident Fund, State Office Building, Room 705, 301 West Preston Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201. Or telephone 1-383-2300.

Your legislation on war debts —will it include collection of World War I debts?

Yes. The United States is presently owed $46 billion in war debts of which $18 billion is outstanding and past due from World War I. Under the proposed measure the Treasury Department would provide an accounting within 90 days of all monies owed to our Nation by other countries, and to make immediate arrangements for repayment of all these overdue debts.

Can credit bureaus publish lists of customer credit ratings and distribute them to banks and stores?

Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act credit bureaus cannot publish lists of consumer's credit ratings unless coded to insure consumers' anonymity. The Federal Trade Commission will enforce this interpretation beginning August 23.

What is the status of the "Antipoisoning Act of 1973"?

This bill (S. 819), which would prohibit the poisoning of animals and birds on public lands and otherwise regulate predator control programs, has been referred to the Senate Committee on Commerce.

THE GARRETT COUNTY AGRICULTURAL FAIR ASSOCIATION, INCORPORATED
Oakland, Maryland,
a former corporation of the State of Maryland, its successors, assigns and shareholders;
THE UNKNOWN HEIRS AND DEVISEES OF GEORGE GEISSMAN, late of Garrett County, Maryland, deceased;
All Persons having an interest in the matter of George Geissman, which is Docket 1, Bankruptcy No. 309 in the United States District Court for the District of Maryland; and
All Persons having or claiming to have any interest in the property described as Lot No. 7 of the Bradley Farm Subdivision located in Election District No. 14 of Garrett County, Maryland, which was conveyed to the Garrett County Agricultural Fair Association, Incorporated, by George Geissman, widower, by deed dated May 3, 1923, and recorded in Liber E.Z.T. No. 84, Folio 400, of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland
NO. 6315 EQUITY
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

This is to give notice that on the 3rd day of April, 1973, a Bill to Quiet Title was filed in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, by William E. Naylor against the Garrett County Fair Association and others. That the Bill to Quiet Title alleges that on April 27, 1923, George Geissman, late of Garrett County, Maryland, deceased, conveyed to the Garrett County Agricultural Fair Association, Incorporated, a then Maryland corporation, a 28 acre parcel of ground, collectively referred to as "The Fair Grounds" which included, inter alia, a 2.3 acre parcel of land known as Lot #7 of the Bradley Farm Subdivision as shown in Plat Book E.Z.T. No. 1, Folio 64, of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland. That part of the purchase price of the lands conveyed was represented by two $2,000.00 promissory notes from the said Association to the said George Geissman and that the said George Geissman reserved a Vendor's Lien to insure payment of the said notes. That there was no conveyance by the said Association of the said Lot No. 7.

That by mesne conveyance and devises, title to all of the 28 acre parcel, known as "The Fair Grounds", except for the said Lot No. 7, vested in William E. Naylor. That the said William E. Naylor and his ancestors in title, have, as part of "The Fair Grounds," had under fence and notoriously, hostilely and openly occupied, for a period of over twenty years, the said Lot No. 7 of the Bradley Farm Subdivision.

That the record of Vendor's Liens in the Office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, does not show any payment of the two $2,000.00 notes by the said Association to the said George Geissman.

That on September 21, 1927, the said George Geissman was discharged in bankruptcy in Docket 1, No. 309 Bankruptcy in the U. S. District Court for the

Two Pay Heavy Operating Under The Influence

Two were found guilty by Judge Lewis R. Jones in District Court last week and paid heavy fines for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol. One was also found guilty of operating without a valid license.

Richard Livengood, Friendsville and Clarence W. Stemple, Mt. Lake Park, were both found guilty and paid $155 each for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. Livengood pleaded not guilty but Stemple pleaded guilty.

Clarence Stemple also pleaded guilty of operating a motor vehicle without a valid driver's license and paid $30. A charge of displaying tags issued to another motor vehicle was dropped as he had pleaded guilty in the first count.

Leland G. McGhee, Friendsville, was found not guilty of failing to keep to the right side of the road.

All others forfeited collateral some on two counts.

Paul D. Fazenbaker, Bovnton, Pa., paid $25 for operating a motor vehicle on expired temporary registration, and $15 for failing to stop at a 'stop' sign.

Exceeding the posted speed limit: Larry E. Steyer, Deer Park, 79 in a 50 mile zone, $39, and Robert W. Harvey, Cumberland, 78 in a 50 mile zone, $25.

Marcus L. Smith, Morgantown, W. Va., negligent driving, $25, and operating a motor vehicle without a valid driver's license, $25.

Robert Lee Yow, Fairmont, W. Va., failing to obey official traffic control sign, $15.

Dorothy V. Malone, Frostburg, failing to grant the right-of-way, $15.

Stephen W. Lewis, Oaklaud, failing to have a Md. Road Fuel Tax stamp, $30.

Lawrence I. Bittinger, Salisbury, Pa., negligent driving, $25.

Ramdas P. Gupta, Morgantown, W. Va., operating on expired W. Va. registration plates, $30.

Ronald A. Freeman, Oakland operating at a speed too great for existing road conditions, $20.

Helen R. Price, Mellenry, backing when unsafe to do so, $15.

CAUGHT AT HERRINGTON—This four pound, three ounce large mouth bass, 22¼ inches long, was caught in Herrington Manor Lake last Friday around noon, by Lonnie Corby, of Hutton, aged twelve. He was assisted in his conquest by Tommy Coddington, 8, of Forestville, who helped pull in the fish when Lonnie's reel jammed. Lonnie used a night crawler for his bait. There's no mistaking that it is a large mouth bass, as Tommy spreads the opening.

Public Meeting Set To Discuss Training Center

An informal meeting will be held at the Bloomington Fire Hall on Wednesday, May 2nd at 7:00 p. m. for public discussion of locating a firemen's training center in Bloomington. On the basis of community sentiment and information presented at the meeting it will be decided if approval should be granted to use the facility if erected in Bloomington, according to officials of the county health Department.

Representatives from the Garrett County Health Department, Allegany County Health Department, Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene—Bureau of Air Quality Control and the Allegany-Garrett Firemen's Association will lead the discussion. The major issue in question is: "will the training facility contribute significantly to an existing air quality problem in Bloomington."

Baptist Youth Group Plans Film Sunday, Apr. 29

The young people of the Southern Baptist Church are sponsoring a 40-minute color movie of a true story filmed in Japan. The showing is set for Sunday night, April 29, at 7:30 p. m.

The movie, published by the Berean Gospel Distributors, Inc., is the true story of the conversion of a Japanese couple who had been contemplating suicide.

The film revolves around Gospel tract entitled, "God's Simple Plan of Salvation."

The public is invited to the church, recently constructed on Route 219 south of Oakland. Rev. I. H. Martin is pastor.

THE REPUBLICAN

Watergate . . .

The Watergate mess seems to be clearing, and eventually those responsible will be punished, as well they should be. There is no evidence thus far that the President was implicated in any way, and we are glad of that, for there has been an apparent witch-hunt underway in an effort to tag him with the blame.

In the President's talk the other evening he said the responsibility belonged to him, but certainly not the blame, and we applaud his courage to say so. He asserted that justice would be preserved fairly, fully and impartially. Rev. Billy Graham declared his full confidence in the President and termed the affair a "symptom of permissiveness, corruption, and crime permeating much of American life." He was sure that the President would "restore credibility," and we believe he will.

The more responsible leaders of both Republican and Democrat parties have expressed confidence in the President. The integrity of the office of the Presidency must be upheld by all of the American people.

The committee to re-elect President Nixon, as has been said a number of times, caused more trouble, scandal, and loss of reputation to the administration than any other single political organization. The committee acted stupidly, incompetently and dishonestly and those found guilty should be properly punished.

Let us not prematurely tag the guilt on any one person or group of persons until the investigation is completed.

Avilton Man's Death Thought To Be Suicide

An Avilton area man died at his home last Thursday of an apparent self-inflicted gunshot wound

Floyd Ellsworth Wilhelm, 53, of RD 1, Lonaconing, died Thursday, April 26.

State police at LaVale said the victim was discovered about 9 p.m. by his son, David E. Wilhelm, 16, apparently a short time after the incident.

He was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. James H Feaster, Jr., Garrett County deputy medical examiner. The body was taken to Sacred Heart hospital, Cumberland, for an autopsy, police said.

A native of Avilton, he was a son of John O. and Ada (Garlitz) Wilhelm.

Mr. Wilhelm was a member of St. Ann's Catholic Church, Avilton.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Margaret (Beeman) Wilhelm; two sons, Francis Wilhelm and David E. Wilhelm, both at home; four daughters, Mrs. Rachel Coffman, Listie, Pa.; Mrs. Mary Wellings, Frostburg; Mrs. Carolyn Stanton, Bittinger; Mrs. Audrey M. Nicol, Avilton; four brothers, Leonard Wilhelm, Asa Wilhelm and Thomas Wilhelm, all of Route 1, Lonaconing; Julius Wilhelm, Star Route, Frostburg; four sisters, Mrs. Mary Broadwater, Lonaconing; Mrs. Marie Russell, Barton; Mrs. Meda Sifler, Frostburg, Mrs. Elizabeth Fleming, Baltimore; and nine grandchildren

The body was taken to the Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville.

Mass of the Resurrection was celebrated Monday morning in St. Ann's Church by Father Kenneth Cox. Interment was in the parish cemetery

The Rosary was recited at the funeral home Sunday evening

HE'S IN THERE SOMEWHERE—A contestant in the White Water races last weekend tries to stay on course and negotiate the various gates, but obviously he was having difficulty in doing so. Identity of the contestant was not established.

A contestant in one of the one-man races, negotiates a gate in the turbulent waters of Savage River last weekend. Whether he was one of the winners was not determined.

Several Plate Glass Windows Broken In Oakland

Several plate glass windows have been broken in downtown Oakland recently.

One was broken at Englander's Pharmacy, Alder Street entrance, Saturday night or early Sunday morning.

It has also been reported that plate glass windows have been broken at the Army and Navy Store, Alder Street, and at Rolvans Furniture Store, Third Street. Those responsible have not as yet been identified

There was no report of anything being stolen.

Route 50 Mishap Injures 2 Persons

A one-car accident at Gorman caused injury to two Parkersburg, W. Va., men last Saturday. Another mishap occurred in the area the day before.

Larry A. Fought, operator of a station wagon, and his passenger, Jeffery G. Knotts, both were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital following the accident just past midnight Saturday.

Fought was headed downgrade east on U. S. Route 50 at the intersection with State Route 560 in rain and fog. He lost control of his car, crossed the center line of the road and struck some guard rails.

Tfc. Ronald S. Lewis investigated.

A hit and run mishap occurred in the same area the day before. Lloyd N. Fleming, Monongah, W. Va., was headed east on Route 50 with an unknown vehicle following just past midday Friday. The vehicle following Fleming passed him, but cut back in too quickly and struck the left front of his truck. Fleming then lost control and his truck overturned. The unknown driver failed to stop.

Tim Irwin Is One-Man Canoe Winner Sunday

Last Year's Champion Ends In Fifth Spot

Tim Irwin of Penn State Outing club, guided his one-man canoe over the course in the surging Savage river in 226.3 seconds Sunday to capture first place in the National Whitewater Canoe championships, near Bloomington.

Angus Morrison, Mohawk Canoe club, finished second in 233 flat, followed by Brent Lewis, of Big Bar, Calif., at 275 flat.

Last year's champion and Olympic bronze medalist, Jamie McEwan, of Silver Spring, held the lead after Saturday's preliminary run but slumped in the finals and finished fifth.

Kim Goertner, Canoe Cruisers association, Washington, D. C., took the one-woman kayak event in 267 seconds. Two members of the same club, Lyn Ashton and Louise Holcomb, finished second and third at 267.3 and 310 seconds respectively.

Miss Ashton teamed up with Russ Nichols Washington, to capture the mixed canoe event in 449 seconds. Chuck Lyda and Bonnie Losie, of Los Angeles, finished second. Dave and Carol Knight, of Philadelphia Canoe club, finished third.

The Holcomb-Ashton team captured the two-woman kayak event in 425.3 seconds.

Bill Nutt, Dartmouth college's Ledyard Canoe club, took the one man kayak event in 191.1 seconds. Les Bechdel, Cochituate Canoe club, of Massachusetts, finished second at 193.7 seconds. Steve Ruble, of the Ledyard club, took third.

Washington Canoe Cruisers John Evans and Russ Nichols won the two-man canoe event in 326 seconds. Bob Benham and Al Harris, of the Scudder Fall White Water club, finished second and Paul Liebman and Sid Feldman of the Philadelphia Canoe club, were third.

The river was swollen to three times its normal size by six inches of April rains. The water poured over the Savage River dam spillway.

McEwan on Saturday had overcome a first round charge by Penn State's John Sweet to take a narrow lead

A few canoes were lost on the rocks on Saturday. Some 120 registrants had entered the contest and only a few refused to enter the water. On Sunday some of the gatts in the upper reaches were eliminated.

Board To Register 17 Year Olds

The Board of Supervisors of Elections for this county announced a schedule for a registration drive in high schools so that the students who are seventeen years of age may register, prior to graduation.

The General Assembly passed Senate Bill 605 at the 1st session which provides for registration of seventeen year olds. It was an emergency measure and has been signed by the Governor.

The bill provides that persons who have reached their seventeenth birthday and will be eighteen years of age or older on or before the day of the next general or special election shall be entitled to register to vote if otherwise qualified.

Huge Rock Dynamited After Fall On Rt. 135

A rock estimated to weigh at least 50 tons broke loose and fell to the roadway on state route 135, between Westernport and McCoole, about a mile east of Westernport last Friday, following heavy rains.

Many residents of this county use route 135 to travel to Cumberland and east.

The rock was cleared away after being dynamited to break it into small fragments.

Lottery Explained Last Wednesday At Democrat Dinner

"Twin Win," the nickname for Maryland's new lottery which will begin officially May 24, was explained to some 140 local persons last Wednesday by Paul Moore, Public Relations officer for the state lottery agency

The explanation took place at the annual Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner, sponsored by the Garrett County Democrat Club

Participating in the evening's events were Rev. James Remley, who gave the invocation and benediction, Mrs. E. L. Baumgartner, mistress of ceremonies, and Mrs. Fannie Sullivan

Congressman Goodloe E Byron and several guests were present.

According to Mr. Moore, tickets will go on sale May 15 in the following local business places: Fireside Inn, J and M Market, Helbig's Sport Shop, Browning's Foodland, American Legion and Par-Matt Lanes. Additional business places will be announced later.

Mr. Moore, accompanied here by his daughters Adrian and Cam, joined the lottery agency in February. He had previously worked for the Baltimore Evening Sun and the Washington Star.

Before leaving the rounty they visited various business places and also Swallow Falls and Herrington Manor.

Ft. Ashby Woman Injured In Wreck On Backbone Mt.

A Fort Ashby woman was taken to the Potomac Valley Hospital by the Van Meter ambulance following an accident on State Route 135 at the lookout on top of Backbone Mt., yesterday about 10 a.m. Myrtle Rita Heimrich was reported having a possible back injury. A passing State Highway Admin. truck driver saw the accident and relayed the information by radio to the Oakland office, who in turn notified the police.

The woman, apparently headed west on Route 135, lost control of the car, crossed the center line of the road, and rammed the bank on the left side of the road.

Trooper G. D. Broadwater investigated the accident. Additional details were not available.

April Is One Of Wettest On Record

April just ended was the wettest on record as far back as available records go, with 8.71 inches of precipitation. Also, only eight months have been wetter in the last 45 years. Needless to say, the past week helped to contribute to this record with almost two inches of rain.

Snowfall also was above the normal for the month of April. Fall for the month was 14 inches against a normal of 4.4 inches. Snowfall for the season is 57.6 inches or 13.6 inches below the normal.

Skies were clear or mostly clear on only eight days during the month. There was some sunshine on 10 other days leaving 12 days of gray rainy skies.

Temperatures during the month were two degrees below normal. Daytime highs were 5.2 degrees below the normal, 60.4. Lows, on the other hand, were 1.7 degrees above the normal, 34 degrees. The highest for the month was 77 degrees on the 27th. Only on one day did the mercury not go above the freezing mark and that was 32 degrees on the 11th. The lowest

Amtrak May Continue Run As Far As Grafton

Amtrak officials agreed yesterday to continue rail passenger service from Washington through Maryland and into West Virginia, Gov. Arch A. Moore, Jr., of West Virginia announced.

Announcement of the extension came following a meeting in Washington Tuesday with Amtrak officials.

Moore noted, however, that the service after Saturday would run only as far west as Grafton, eliminating present service to Clarksburg and Parkersburg

David Watt, Amtrak vice-president, said Moore's announcement was "premature." He said discussions were continuing with a final decision to be announced today.

Southern Golfers In Triangular Win

Southern High school's golf team defeated Grafton and Bridgeport, W. Va., in a triangular golf match yesterday afternoon at the Tygarts Valley Golf Course at Grafton.

Southern finished with 163 strokes. Grafton had 183 and Bridgeport 190. Dave Hinebaugh and Brian Frederick were low scorers for Coach Don Stemple's team with 37 and 38 strokes respectively.

Southern Golfers Win

Southern High school's golf team recorded a 5½ to 2½ verdict over Moorefield High Tuesday afternoon at the Oakland Country club.

Brian Frederick and Jim McHenry paced Southern with 84 each. Coach Don Stemple's Rams are now 3-0 on the campaign.

Here's What Happened To Him!

Why is it that the nice, sensible guy you elected to Congress seems to go off the deep end shortly after he gets to Babylon on the Potomac? He often takes on an aura of royalty, tells you how to run your affairs and proposes with blithe unconcern new ways to spend tens of billions of your tax dollars.

It is reported that when new members of the House of Representatives go to Washington they find that suddenly they are ". . . Wrapped in a veritable cocoon of privileges and prerequisites—at taxpayer expense . . . ." To make sure a fledgling Congressman doesn't overlook anything, there is a new 204-page "Congressional Handbook" outlining all of the goodies provided for his creature comforts and working convenience. In the first place, he has a $157,092 a year allowance to hire a 16-member staff to help him run his office in Washington and in his home district. An employment service to find these people is provided free of charge. Provisions are made for every kind of personal service, from legal help to shoe shining, at no cost. Complete facilities and expert assistance are available within instant reach to help with communications to the folks back home—radio scripts, movies, slides, speeches—anything at all. The Congressman's salary, not to be sneezed at, is $42,500 a year and to assure that he stays around to a ripe old age, 31 different health plans are available as well as the complete medical services of Walter Reed Army Hospital and Bethesda Naval Hospital.

It's little wonder that that nice fellow from down the block that you sent to Congress fought so hard and valiantly to get the job of representing you and changed so much after he went to Washington. It takes a lot to support a Congressman in the manner to which he becomes accustomed, and it's hard to believe that most of the time we get our money's worth. —Industrial Press Service

American Bike Month

For the seventeenth consecutive year May, 1973, is being designated American Bike Month, calling attention to the growth of bicycling in America and to the continuing need for bicycle safety education, along with more safe, pleasant places to ride. We're told that Americans bought 13.7 million bicycles in 1972. . .an all-time record, and that bikes outsold automobiles for the first time since World War I.

The bike industry, through its trade association, the Bicycle Institute of America, is calling for a two-pronged safety effort: education of the cyclist on his and her responsibility to drive his or her bike safely and in accordance with local traffic rules, and the construction of more bike paths, trails, lanes and bikeways. We concur with both programs.

The industry is to be congratulated for its concern about the safe use of its product. American bike makers have taken the lead in product safety with the introduction a year or so ago of their voluntary safety standards, BMA 6, which provides rigid procedures, strength and durability testing and independent certification by an outside laboratory.

To make sure that bikes are in good operating order many bike retailers are offering free mechanical inspection during May as an American Bike Month bonus.

It seems to us that a safe bike, driven safely, provides a marvelous opportunity to peddle off a few pounds, see a little bit of the world around us and, on that non-polluting bike, make a personal contribution to a cleaner environment. —U. S. Press Association.

Farewell To David Lawrence

The death of David Lawrence, editor of the excellent U. S. News & World Report, Washington weekly, deprives the nation of its most widely respected journalist. In his eighty-four years of life he saw his nation, the United States of America, grow from a small giant, playing a relatively small role in world affairs, to the most powerful country wrestling with the problem of its own strength among other nations.

David Lawrence did not join with those of his countrymen who feared the great power bestowed upon his government through the creation and possession of the atomic bomb. He was a patriot first and last. He denounced those who "deluged us with lectures and speeches in the Senate and elsewhere which keep telling the American people, in effect, that they had better run up the white flag in Vietnam," and he asked for "full disclosure of the methods by which subversive movements inside this country have been financed by foreign governments."

He built the news magazine, U. S. News and World Report, into an indispensable gatherer and dispenser of objective information, free of advocacy journalism but full of the soundest kind of intelligence. Its coverage of the Vietnam War was a model of objectivity and sale guidance.

May those who inherit the noble foundations he built persist in his methods and principles, for American journalism has lost a magnificent pillar in its unsteady edifice. — U.S. Press Association.

Licenses Issued Back To Normal

The number of marriage licenses issued is back to normal with 30 being issued during the week ending April 30. Eight licenses were issued to county couples. Another couple was a former husband and wife.

Information is from records in the office of Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Circuit Court. Seven were not to be published.

Where the male is under 21 or the female under 18, parents' consent was given.

Marriage licenses issued during April totaled 95. Of these, 26 or 27 percent were civil ceremonies. Applications numbered 109.

Insurance Cost Problems

Rates for property and casualty hazards are intended to reflect the degree of risk assumed by the insurance company; but it's only human that underwriters differ in their evaluation or understanding of loss potential. So, if you have an unusual situation which is creating an insurance cost problem, we've had the kind of experience in risk evaluation that could result in more acceptable premiums.

Should you have such a problem, give us an opportunity to help you solve it. Chances are, you'll be glad you did.

reading was 5 degrees above zero on the 13th. Only on 11 days did the mercury go below the freezing mark. On the 22nd, the lowest reading was 56 degrees and the highest 76, just about summer-like.

The wettest day of the month was the 1st with 1.48 inches, and some of this being an inch of hail. On five other days there was .8 to an inch of rain.

The weekend weather followed April's tradition by having rain every day up to the end of the month. May began mostly cloudy but without much rain. The heaviest rain day last week was Friday with exactly one inch. By Saturday morning temperatures dropped and the rain changed to wet snow with a light accumulation. There was considerable fog in spots Thursday and Friday.

Moderate to brisk winds were blowing Saturday and again Sunday, with skies clear most all day Sunday.

Temperatures were on the cool side until a warming trend began Monday. Temperatures were in the 70's Tuesday and yesterday. Morning lows were mostly in the low 30's hitting the freezing mark Sunday and Monday. When a rain shower started yesterday afternoon the mercury dropped into the low 60's.

So far, no trace of the 19-year-old mother of two has been found, since her disappearance March 25.

Reports filtering into the sheriff's office this past week say that the young woman has been seen in Ohio, and authorities there are checking the matter.

Sheriff Jack Browning cautions all children and adults that it is unsafe and often dangerous to play around and on heavy equipment found in strip mines and quarries. Just this week, the sheriff's department caught three youngsters at the Browning quarry near Deep Creek Lake, after the three had managed to start a truck.

Bicentennial

A classic nightmare is when one dreams that one is running faster and faster, yet not moving a step forward, and the dreamer is helpless to do anything about it. So it has seemed to Americans anxious for the American Revolution Bicentennial to show some signs it will actually happen.

During seven long years the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission has produced elaborate plans—on paper—but nothing significant has happened.

Now, the Nixon Administration has initiated a new proposal. Abolish the Commission and create a Bicentennial Administrator. Shelve the 50-person public Commission where conflicts of view neutralize action. Instead, let the Administrator act freely within a limited sphere, but let him act.

But, no sooner had the Administration bill gone through a House Judiciary Sub-committee hearing, than a flurry of amendments were proposed and a substitute bill was introduced. It now seems that unless there is an overwhelming demand for action from the public we may see snow again by the Issue is resolved by competing branches of the Federal Government.

There may be one saving grace; namely, the individual initiative and voluntary action for which Americans once were world renown. One citizen action expert in Northern Virginia is getting the entire northern section of the Old Dominion organized for Bicentennial action. Already the citizens group has held its first commemoration. Appropriately, they marked the 200th anniversary of Virginia's creation of the first Provincial Committee of Correspondence with a flurry of letters to mayors of the 13 original colonies and to American Legion Departments all over the nation, urging Bicentennial action now.

"The American Revolution was a citizens movement," say the citizen involvement authority, Donald L. Miller, of Alexandria. "It's appropriate that citizens start now to observe the real Revolution, the radical changes in principles, opinions, sentiments and affections of the people which came in the years preceding the Declaration of Independence and the outbreak of the fighting." —U. S. Press Association.

Listen, Americans!

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON
President—National Education Program
Searcy, Arkansas

The behavior of the Communist military forces in South Vietnam after the formal signing of the cease-fire agreement with the United States is just another proof of the nature of this world-wide enemy of freedom. It is another rebuff, also, to the "peaceniks" in the streets, in the U. S. Congress and in some elements of the press who have constantly labelled America's efforts in Vietnam as "immoral." I have myself been attacked for saying that to have stood by and let the Communists overrun South Vietnam and southeast Asia would have been both immoral and, in the long run, dangerous to the security of every American citizen.

Many journalists have joined me in my conclusions. In this column I wish to present the views of one of America's foremost journalists, David Lawrence, the founder-editor of U. S. News & World Report and one of the most highly respected newsmen. His recent weekly editorial column was entitled: "Thank God for the United States!" Here are some excerpts:

"Ten years of war in Indo-China could be followed by a lasting peace in Southeast Asia, which could also help to promote the peace of Europe and other continents. But can we be sure?

"South Vietnam has struggled since 1951 to establish its independence. North Vietnam started a war to prevent it. The Communists of China and the Soviet Union provided military supplies and weapons to the North Vietnamese.

"To whom could the people of South Vietnam turn for aid? The United States, as a party to the Southeast Asia Treaty, recognized its obligation when a request for assistance was made by the Saigon Government. Acting under the pledge of the treaty, America began to give military advice and send troops to contest aggression.

"Where else could South Vietnam have looked for the support it so desperately needed?

"The United States responded because of the principle at stake. Acquisition of other nations' territory by force of arms could lead, if unchecked, to similar acts of aggression in other parts of Asia as well as in Europe and elsewhere.

"The United States Government was conscious of its responsibilities and unhesitatingly endeavored to demonstrate respect for the commitments made in the Southeast Asia Treaty, which had been ratified by the Senate in 1955.

"If the United States had declined to fulfill the provisions of the Southeast Asia Treaty, what would have been the consequences? Is there any doubt that the countries of Indo-China would no longer be free but would be part of the system ruled by the Communists? Is there any doubt, also, that Australia and New Zealand would have been confronted by agression or internal revolution?

"The United States has performed its duty under the Southeast Asia Treaty and also has shown itself to be the friend of countries threatened with a loss of their sovereignty. The world knows there is at least one major power willing to help a small nation when armed aggression menaces its independence.

"Millions of people around the globe who do understand what the Vietnam war means to the cause of freedom will say, 'Thank God for the United States.'"

Alaska Oil Sits, People Freeze

There is something heroically foolish about an attitude of ecological morality that says, "We must take care of the caribou at all costs; never mind what happens to people."

Amid the great fuel shortage that our country is now enduring, and while the great oil fields discovered at great cost off the Alaska north slope sit idle and unused, and while people suffer from lack of heat, the caribou in Alaska take their young to visit the pipeline camps to see how humans live.

But the 789-mile Alaska Pipeline, from Prudhoe Bay to the Arctic Ocean to Valdez on the Gulf of Alaska, almost due south, is not being built. It "might" bother the caribou, say the self-appointed ecologists. But that—as a cause for the delay of this great project, which would undeniably benefit people—does not ring true. For one thing, a 500-mile pipeline between Haines and Fairbanks already exists, in the same territory of the proposed Alaska line, and nobody has alleged that the caribou suffer from it.

Arguments have even been raised over the precise width of the right-of-way for the Alaska Pipeline. How ridiculous can you get? If you were to find a human hair long enough to stretch across the floor of your living room, and you did lay the hair across the floor, how much effect would it have on the atmosphere of the room? The width of the proposed pipeline, in proportion to Alaska, is far less than the width of a hair across your living room floor. But, because of this and similar useless debate, the $3-billion project languishes, while we look desperately about for ways to meet the fuel crisis. The seven oil companies concerned in the project make no outcry, hoping for a return of sanity and enterprise that made this nation great; indeed, the kind of enterprise which made possible the discovery of the oil. It is a manufactured crisis that passes all understanding. —U. S. Press Association.

ticket promises odds of about 5,000-to-one against winning some kind of prize.

Already 100 million lottery tickets have been printed, enough to last an estimated seven months with weekly sales of two million tickets anticipated.

Maryland, the eighth state to legalize the lottery, expects to derive $25 million in new revenue from the lottery to go into the state's general fund. All prizes are subject to state and federal taxes.

Anyone 18 or older can buy the tickets, and anyone of any age may claim a prize.

Southern Opens Season With Win

Southern High school, plagued by rain and snow throughout April, finally opened its baseball season Tuesday and the Rams took out their frustrations on visiting Union High 14 to 1 in a PVC encounter.

Southern, behind the slugging of Ernie Shotwell, Paul Lewis and Don Upole, exploded for 12 runs in the third, fourth, and fifth innings to rout the visitors.

Lewis slammed a pair of four-baggers and drove in five runs for the Rams. Shotwell doubled twice to drive in three runs and Upole connected for two triples to account for a pair of runs batted in.

Bob Ingram joined the extra base hit parade for Southern with a circuit clout. Shotwell started on the mound and went four innings, allowing all three Union hits while fanning 11. Lewis finished the mound chores allowing no hits and fanning four.

Also playing for Southern were DiSimone, Bosley, Cvetnick, Sutton, J. Upole, Friend, D. Shotwell and Skiles.

A recent rail strike in Japan received little public support.

Registration will begin at 9:30 a. m., followed by the business session at 10. Entertainment will be furnished by the Southernaires of Southern High School.

Reservations, accompanied by a check for $4.50 for each person, are to be mailed to Mrs. Maurice Brookhart by May 7.

Recently the Junior and Senior Women's Clubs held a workshop at the home of Mrs. James A. Riley to make favors for the meeting.

Article On Friendsville Appears In Balt. Paper

An article on the impact of the National Freeway on Friendsville and its inhabitants appeared in the Extra magazine section published with the Sunday Baltimore News American.

Author and photographer Ed Price is a former Baltimore resident who now resides on Marsh Hill Road near Deep Creek. He is currently employed at Garrett Community College, Mellenry, and his wife is a teacher in Friendsville Elementary School.

Mr. Price noted that "Friendsville today has the look of a typical southern town, circa 1930" and that some Friendsville residents do not relish the thought of the high-speed highway cutting through the town. A few of the older residents even speak of moving away, according to Mr. Price, despite the fact that the highway may attract new industries and hasten construction of sanitary water and sewage facilities.

Golfers Post Wins In Busy Week

The Southern Ban golfers are ngaged in a busy schedule this eek trying to make up for matches canceled because of ain or snow.

The team took on Beall and Boonsboro High Schools in a triangular match Monday. They lso met Moorefield on Tuesday at home. Other matches scheduled were with Grafton and Beall.

The team beat Boonsboro 15 to 3½ and shut out Beall 18 to 0 in that triangular meet Monday. Scoring double victories were Dave Hinchaugh, Brian Ered-rick James Ashby, Jim Mellenry, and Jeff Hile. Dave Sharps scored a single win for the Rams.

Other members of the team that did not play are Mark Dominick, Stu Lantz, and Rich Orr. The golf team is coached by Mr Stemple.

Students Visit Republican

The beginning journalism class, taught by Mrs. Wolfe, took a return trip to The Republican newspaper plant to observe the paper being printed on April 26.

Since the class had been studying the structure of a newspaper, each student doing a four page lay-out of his own paper, they had gone to the newspaper plant before Easter for a guided tour by George Hanst, editor.

On the second trip they were interested in the press run that prints approximately 9000 papers in about half an hour. The wrapping and labeling of out-of-town, -state, or -country papers were observed.

The class plans to visit the radio station and the H-P warehouse later this month.

Attend Workshop at GCC

Mrs. Joan Lambert, journalism teacher from Southern, took sixteen students, on Saturday, April 28, to the first Journalism conference held in Garrett County.

The conference, which was held at Garrett Community College, was titled "Communications for the 70's."

Students could pick three classes from a wide range of thirteen. These classes were each an hour long, one in the morning and two in the afternoon.

Guest speaker was Bill Currie, sportscaster of KDKA TV in Pittsburgh. His talk, a combination of humor and advice to future journalists, was liberally sprinkled with examples of his experiences in broadcasting and news writing. In answering the many questions from the student audience he held his listeners spellbound for an hour and a half.

A picnic lunch was given to the students in the gymnasium of the college.

YFC Plans 17-Mile Walkathon May 26

Mt. Top Youth for Christ Board of Directors has authorized the local YFC chapter to sponsor a Walkathon in an attempt to overcome the current $1,800 budget deficit.

The walkathon will begin at 9:15 a.m., May 26, with registration at Southern High School. The 17-mile bike will conclude at 5 p.m.

Walkers should try to get as many different sponsors as possible to pledge money for each mile walked.

Walkers have until noon June 9, to turn in to the local YFC office all money he raised. The walker turning in the most money to the YFC office will win a 1973 road-trail motorbike from Tressler's Sports Center, Mt. Lake Park.

The one turning in the second most money will get a 10-speed bicycle, and the one turning in the third most money will get a three-speed touring bicycle.

The first three females and three males to finish will get their choice of eight-track car stereo tape player; AM-FM digital clock radio; AM-FM 4-band transistor radio, or RCA cassette AC-DC tape recorder.

Other prizes include free shoes for the entire family for the largest family group to finish the hike, $75 clothing certificates to the first father-son and mother-daughter hikers who finish; dinner for four at Oak-Mar restaurant for the oldest person to finish; and a $75 gift certificate at Kelly's for the first couple to finish.

Walkers must have a minimum of $1 per mile to qualify for any prize.

Anyone may enter by registering at the local YFC office or by sending in the form in this week's issue of The Republican. Those under 13 may walk if accompanied by an adult.

There will be patrol cars for first aid and to control violations during the hike, and walkers must check through a checkpoint every two miles. Mt. Top YFC will provide free cokes for all walkers at the halfway mark.

Entrants will get free YFC shirts and Walkathon certificates. All prizes will be presented at the YFC Rally the evening of June 9.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

The Principles Of Prayer

Prayer is one of the greatest powers that we have available to us. Someone has said: "Prayer can do anything that God can do." One of the great needs of our society is more prayer. Christ encourages everyone to pray and set the example by being a man of constant prayer Himself. He taught His disciples to pray and gave the model prayer in the book of Matthew that we call "The Lord's Prayer."

So if we need to pray and it's such a great power available to us; what are some of the principles of prayer? Here are some that might help us in our prayer life.

1. Know What I want Specifically. Don't be general, using catch-all generalizations, eg: "God bless all people everywhere," but be specific.

2. Be Honest and Realize that God already knows us through and through. He also knows our every need. We can't fool God, but we can be honest and straightforth with Him.

3. Before we pray about a specific thing, ask: "Can God allow Himself to answer my prayer? Or will my request, if He answered it, cause Him to violate His Word, His Nature, and His Principles and Character?

4. Also we need to know if we really want the request granted. Don't pray about something unless you want God to really answer it. You may pray and just put in time and be praying amiss; this isn't real prayer and God won't honor it. Mean what you pray; God may answer anyway.

5. Another consideration we need to have is: Have I done my part? Am I trying to con God into doing what I should, with His help, do, eg: don't just pray, "God, Save my friend," but better we should pray "God, help me to find the right time to talk to my friend and give me the right words to say." That's putting feet on our prayers.

6. The most important consideration in prayer is to know What our present relationship with Christ is: The Book of John teaches us that "God hears not the prayer of sinners." We need to know Him personally and serve Him daily if we are to be successful in talking to Him daily through prayer.

Do You Have Only Half An Insurance Agent?

Think twice before you select your insurance agent. It may well be that the one you choose for price alone can't give you the full service you need.

For example, can the agent who gives you a low price on automobile insurance also cover your coin and stamp collection or some other valuable possession? We Can! We're a full service insurance agency. We deal with many fine companies who care like we do about your total insurance requirements. That's why we can give you the best available protection for all your needs with just one stop. And we give you the advantages of personal service at the same time. Your best deal is with a total insurance agency.

Title I — What It Is, And Does

Some students in Miss Anna Dillon's forth grade class are more interested in the camera than in their lessons at the moment. Students in upper classes not eligible for Title I funds have benefited from such ideas as learning centers, as seen in the background. Mrs. Yvonne Carr works with slower students in grades four through six and is paid with Office of Economic Opportunity funds, a separate bureau from Title I.

Mrs. Tom Schwaller, Oakland, a parent helper, checks the work of Kenny Whitacre at the learn-to-tell time center. Once a student has successfully completed a center, his name is given a smiley mark on a chart showing all the students' names and the learning centers. Mrs. Schwaller comes in one morning a week to aid Mrs. Myers. When asked about Title I's learning center idea, Mrs. Schwaller replied "Oh, I love it. I think it makes learning fun. I like that."

Very young student teacher is Kim Andrews, standing, rear, who listens to other students read. Other students are Jeff McCauley, Kristi Bowling, Robbie Rice Christina Savage, and Claudia Hinebaugh. If books are read well, each student gets a puff of smoke with the name of the book behind a car labelled with their name. Miss Andrews is leading the race with 20 books read.

Just what is this Title I program we hear about in connection with our public elementary schools? Is it effectively helping youngsters to learn and think?

First of all, Title I is the government name for funds channeled into public elementary schools, kindergarten through grade three, under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. These funds some $175,196 of which come to this county provide special aids to children who are educationally disadvantaged in some respect.

Educationally disadvantaged is defined as those children working behind their grade level in some phase of school work, usually language or math, or those who need extra help in maintaining grade level.

Title I activities and funds are not connected in any way with the office of Economic Opportunity (O.E.O.) or with Headstart. Monies for the program are through the state and the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Title I planners chose to work with these lower grades and kindergarten primarily to catch skill weakness before they get too advanced.

Title I began in Garrett County in March 1966. Some of its helps are additional books, games, records, and instructional aids of various types and also equipment such as cassette players, headphones, and filmstrip projectors.

A big Title I boon has been to supply aides to help in the classrooms. These aides reduce the pupil-to-teacher ratio by half, allowing the teacher to spend more time with individuals who are having problems with some phase of the required curricula.

There is one aide per kindergarten teacher and one aide per two teachers in grades one through three, in the six schools eligible for Title I assistance.

The schools here, Center Street, Oak Street, Grantsville, Kitzmiller, Crellin, Friendsville, and Bennett Road third grade were chosen on the basis of the highest percentages of children from low-income families.

The aides work mainly to reinforce what the teacher has presented, but all instruction originates with the teacher. There are 26 classroom aides and two other aides who work with parents in their home.

Some teachers' original scepticism about the effectiveness of the aide plan was quickly overcome when they discovered how much help the aides could be. Now teachers, principals, and parents all say "Cut some of the Title I funds if you must, but don't cut the aides."

Another help to the teacher and to the aides has been the Title I-funded trips to another school to see how the program is implemented there. Teachers and aides traveled to West Friendship school in Howard county last fall, a trip which was declared a unanimous success. All teachers got a chance to gather new ideas and to exchange ideas. Charles and Baltimore county teachers will be coming to this county April 26 for a similar exchange.

But the entire process of Title I can be little better than the executives behind it. In this county, Ernest C. Spoerlein, executive director; David Miller, parent-school coordinator; Mrs. Barbara Flinn and Mrs. Sue Pagenhardt, helping teachers, all believe strongly in Title I and can document the results it has helped achieve.

Mrs. Flinn and Mrs. Pagenhardt work with teachers and aides, helping coordinate their activities.

Since Title I, even "slow" children have shown as much as eight months scholastic growth in seven months' time, due to concentrated help.

Testing plans are being developed to show a student's growth from the beginning to end of the school year. Concrete, black-and-white proof of Title I effects can be documented then.

An important part of the Title I program is parent involvement. David Miller attempts to coordinate school and home efforts to aid children. Parents are encouraged to work with their children, reading stories, working puzzles, etc. to help their children and show that they care about their education. Meetings are called at various schools to get parents' ideas on what is helpful, and parents are also encouraged to visit the classrooms and get acquainted with the school in general.

At Friendsville and Kitzmiller, where parent aides are working with the home, parents from 48 percent of the homes have observed in their child's classroom. For the majority of these parents, it was the first time they had ever visited the school.

Parent-aides under direction of the teachers, have taken materials and activities to 93 percent of the families in the program.

Another welcome idea from Title I is the volunteer parent aide program, which further reduces the number of small chores a teacher must confront.

Parents come in for some days or hours a week to help put up bulletin boards, listen to children read, help them with various projects, and in general make themselves useful wherever possible. A Title I planning committee to present ideas consists of different members. Currently the members are Mrs. Jane Fox and Mrs. Carolyn Miller, principals; Mrs. Kay Miers and Mrs. Helen Friend, teachers; and Mrs. Marianne Green, and Mrs. Beth Myers, aides.

Learning Centers

One of the most dramatic and most noticeable changes in the classrooms is the introduction of what is called learning centers. Each of these centers, arranged around the rooms, deals with a particular learning phase—learning to tell time, spelling, vowel sounds, or any other subject which reinforces basic learning and skills and makes learning more interesting and enjoyable.

Children are encouraged to use these centers on their own choosing whatever they would like to work on and going to it freely after they complete their required work.

One helping parent, who couldn't say enough good things about Title I, especially the learning centers, said emphatically "I like it, I really do. When I first came in, I thought they wouldn't get their regular work done, but they do. They really do, and it keeps them busy. They really learn, and I'm all for it." She also mentioned that a child's initiative is stimulated by this "free choice" work.

Other related services provided by Title I include meeting health and clothing needs.

Title I funds have provided five nurses parttime in schools to conduct general examinations, make necessary appointments for doctor and dentist and transport the children to these appointments.

Clothing is provided where the need is apparent, so that a child need not feel "separate" or "inferior" because other children are better or more properly clothed.

But perhaps these latter advantages are not as important as the overall general outlook in education. Children today are not rigidly bound to their seats for an entire day, keeping up with the faster members of the class as best they can. Teachers have had their hands freed from smaller chores and can spend much more time working with individual youngsters.

Old-fashioned education ideas have little place in preparing a child for today's modern rapidly-changing world and Title I has provided many means toward a better learning system.

The future of Title I is very uncertain at present, with fiscal spending being chopped wherever possible. Locally, no new aides can be hired or plans for future growth mapped until the government decides to re-fund the program.

Perhaps a way will be found to keep the good points since, according to E. C. Spoerlein, "Helping kids is the principal goal of the entire program" and who can complain against that?

Mrs. Reba Riffle, aide at Friendsville school to Mrs. Leonard and Mrs. Price, listens as student Joseph House goes over a paper on map reading.

Mrs. Joanne Leonard's third grade room, with two centers displayed in the background.

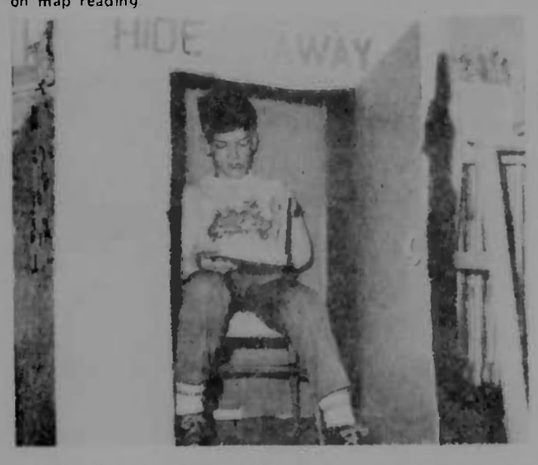
Friendsville kindergartener Allen Sisler works with a number game which teaches proper number sequence. He is in Miss Dale Dabney's room.



Richard Cosner gets away from it all for a brief time in a hide away in Mrs. Marolyn Price's room at Friendsville. Here a child may go to read, and can even close the door and read with a flashlight if he wishes to be alone. Aide Mrs. Reba Riffle set up this center.

Mrs. Marianne Green, aide to Mrs. Helen Friend and Mrs. Barbara Conway at Center Street, works with Ardelle Lee, Gary Glotfelty and Eddie Nutter. Mrs. Green feels that the biggest thing the centers accomplish is teaching children to work independently. Gradual levels of difficulty give children a needed sense of accomplishment.

Ossie Lynn and Deanna Titchenell hold Alpha-time huggables bought with Title I funds. These kindergarten pupils are also in Miss Dabney's room. Aide to the kindergarten is Miss Evalina Yoder.

Mark Ford and Patrick Hardesty use learning centers in Mrs. Helen Friend's room at Center Street. Mark is using a cassette tape recorder with a story recording made by Mrs. Friend, and is to follow along in his book. Mark is working on math.

Randy Cosner tests his manipulative skills while trying to draw his own face from a mirror image. Randy is a student in Mrs. Leonard's room.

Friendsville students Vicki Lacouize, Bobby Nazelrod and Amy Lowdermilk cluster around a learning center in Mrs. Pauline Leonard's first and second grade room.

Four students make use of a learning center at the Friendsville school, including Scott Bittner, Debbie Bennett, Rebecca [illegible], and Todd Bishop, of Mrs. Pauline Leonard's room.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear sister and daughter, Robin Marie Wakefield, who left us one year ago, May 5, 1972.

One year has slowly slipped by since that sad and tragic day.
That our dear sister and daughter was quickly taken away.
In our hearts and minds each day are loving thoughts.
Time can never take away.
It just didn't seem real, as we saw you laid to rest.
We will think of that far-off shore.
Where they say we shall meet once more.
Now all we have are memories of the happy days we shared
If only we could tell you how much we all still cared.
Once again we bring flowers and say a silent prayer,
For the one we loved so dearly, is now peacefully resting there.

Loved and Sadly Missed By Services were held April 20 at the Diers Valley Funeral Home. Interment was in Tucson Memorial Park.

Governors Work To Save Amtrak

Governor Arch Moore, West Virginia, and Governor Marvin Mandel, Maryland, began efforts to save passenger train service over the Washington-Parkersburg run.

Governor Moore's representatives, Sens. Jennings Randolph and Robert Byrd, and Rep. Harley O. Staggers met with an Amtrak representative to discuss plans.

Staggers said governors of both states were considering plans to include state subsidies for passenger train service in calls for special sessions later this year.

Governor Moore said that the deficit for operation of Amtrak trains could be cut in half if the western terminus were placed at Grafton instead of Parkersburg.

Amtrak is considering postponement for 90 days its decision to drop the service. The delay would allow the states more time to win support for Amtrak's proposal to keep the service operating.

Auxiliary Plans Tea Other Activities

The Loar Auxiliary of Garrett County Medical hospital in Oakland will mark the completion of its second year with a tea, to be held at the hospital on Tuesday, May 8, beginning at 2 o'clock. The occasion will honor members, prospective members and will open the annual membership drive.

All women wishing to participate in activities of the organization are eligible for membership.

One of the goals of the auxiliary since its inception was to provide a cardiac bed for the hospital and through member efforts and community support this goal has been achieved and instructions for the purchase of the bed have been authorized.

To further other projects the Auxiliary will hold a luncheon and card party, at the Oakland Fire hall on Thursday, May 24, at 12:30 o'clock. There will be bridge, 500 and canasta. Tickets are $1.50 and may be obtained from Mrs. Don Bender, committee chairman.

The force of the waters of Savage River are apparent in this photo taken during the canoe and kayak races last weekend near Bloomington. Water from Savage River dam was flowing over the spillway at the time of the contest and made the stream treacherous for the racers. The racers nevertheless remained enthusiastic about conditions of the stream.

Oil - Domestic or Foreign?

This is oil country. Almost every part of Oklahoma is dotted with oil wells. Oil and gas underlying the Sooner State was a saving factor for Oklahoma in the late 1920s, though low oil prices in the next decade added to the suffering from severe drought. The key role of petroleum products in the state's economy is symbolized by the working oil pump on the state capitol's front lawn.

This is a good place to learn about problems in the oil and gas industry. The problems are numerous because of national and international changes in the energy situation. Americans demand colossal amounts of energy for their homes, offices, plants and recreation. Because of restrictions on coal, which the United States has in abundance, use of oil and gas is soaring. The Oil and Gas Journal, published at Tulsa, Okla. predicts a 6.2 percent rise in demand for petroleum this year. In the same period, the output of domestic crude oil will drop by 1.6 percent and production of natural gas will stay almost level.

Because of shortages in certain parts of the country, pressure is building for abandoning all oil quotas for imported oil. To ease the situation, the administration has suspended the import quotas on heating oil for four months. But long-term reliance on imported oils contains serious dangers. The major oil fields are in the Middle East where the governments are unstable and, in several cases, unfriendly to the United States. Libya, for example, is a revolutionary Arab state closely tied to the Soviet Union. Algeria is in the same category. Even where the countries aren't communist or hostile an effort is under way to squeeze out the U. S. and other Western oil companies which developed the oil fields. It seems only a matter of time—and not much time at that—before all U. S. oil companies are excluded from the area and the Arab states operate with state monopolies. If the U. S. becomes truly dependent on imported Mid East oil, the Arab states are likely to demand concessions in the form of policy changes on international political issues. The U. S. certainly doesn't want to be over that particular oil barrel.

The alternative to dependence on Mid East oil is encouragement of further development of domestic oil and gas resources. Deregulation of natural gas prices would provide a profit incentive for new drilling. The misconceived regulation accounts for current gas shortages. But there is powerful opposition to deregulation. For example, S. David Freeman, director of the Ford Foundation's Energy Policy Project, recently complained that deregulation would be unfair to consumers. Liberals in Congress can't stand the idea of using the profits system to spur development.

One way or the other, the U. S. must gain new petroleum supplies in the next few years. There's no indication that Americans are prepared to lay up their automobiles, stop using planes or shut down their furnaces. The choice is clear-cut: huge, permanent imports from the Arab nations or new incentives for drilling in domestic oil and gas fields and on the continental shelf and slope. It is hard to believe that the American people will want to accept permanent dependence on the countries in the Middle East where instability and hostility towards the United States is widespread.

Church To Show Film

The latest Billy Graham film, "Lost Generation," featuring special appearances by Art Linkletter and Dragnet star Jack Webb, will be shown Thursday, May 10, at the Deep Creek Baptist church, south of Oakland, it was announced by Rev. Robert G. Jennings, pastor. There will be no admission for the 7:45 showing.

This is a documentary which takes a look at attitudes and morals of the nation.

Methodist Women Held Candlelight Service

Members of the Women's Society of Christian Service of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, conducted an Easter candlelight service last Thursday evening, April 26, under direction of Mrs. Merritt Feather.

A dinner with devotions led by Mrs. R. E. Cross, followed the dinner. Mrs. Jay Bell sang a solo accompanied by Mrs. Bob Flinn.

During the candlelight service Mrs. Feather and Mrs. William Naylor were candlelighters and Mrs. James Hutchinson was narrator. Mrs. Hoover Pelton, president, welcomed new members and visitors and conducted a brief business meeting, explaining the new organization of the United Methodist women. This was followed by a discussion of the new organization.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Fint, Aurora, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Linda Carol, to Ed Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Robertson, Aurora.

Miss Fint is employed at West Virginia University Medical Center as a research technician. Mr. Robertson is presently employed by W. S. Thomas Transfer Co., Fairmont, and will be attending Fairmont State College. The couple will reside in Fairmont.

An open church wedding ceremony is planned for Sunday, May 27, at two o'clock in the afternoon at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Aurora.

Youth Against Amnesty

At a time when some members of Congress seem to be selling amnesty for draft dodgers and deserters as a way America can "reconcile" itself with its youth, it's refreshing to see that many young people themselves aren't buying.

A case in point is provided by the Young Americans for Freedom, whose 60,000 members have launched an all-out campaign against amnesty. The young conservatives are circulating petitions; distributing literature, bumperstrips and buttons; holding press conferences; and lobbying at the state and national level to block amnesty for those who fled their country in a time of crisis.

As the YAF issue paper on the subject points out, "To permit amnesty for those who refused service in Vietnam is to set a precedent that says, 'If you think a law is immoral, break it, because you may very well find that society changes its mind, forgives you and does not punish you.' That's a principle we doubt liberals would accept if it were being practiced by right-wingers.

"Reconciliation"? How pleased will the millions of Americans who did serve in Vietnam be to see others who sat out the war granted amnesty? Not very pleased at all, we suggest. Those who agree that amnesty would polarize, not reconcile, may write to YAF at 1221 Mass. Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20005 for information on their No Amnesty effort.

The Other Perspective

Most travelers in Wyoming pass the Grand Teton Mountains on their eastern side, from Rt. 89, but we are told by backpackers and camping enthusiasts that Mount Moran and Grand Teton are just as majestic when viewed from the west. Only rugged people take the trouble to get over the difficult terrain in order to see the hidden beauty of the mountains.

Using the other perspective is a most valuable but often difficult activity in projects involving more than seeing nature. We can do it in daily evaluations, using our minds and kindness to mirror the right picture of a situation, a reversal which will put us in tune with the true overall meaning.

Rene du Bos understands the other perspective. He lectures on the quality of life, pointing out that efficiency may seem to be ultra important in modern living, but that it is really the diversity of living that releases the creativity of human beings. Efficiency may be a repetition, endlessly boring, but an output of creative effort may mean a departure that leads to greater efficiency. A person views something in a new way, be it Picasso rearranging parts of the body or a lady arranging colors for a quilt block.

Often it is said that if you should be debating a change in method to further your work, or even to leave it for another field, you would attain more by speaking directly to the top man instead of a subordinate. The difference between the two is that of sphere and outlook, for the man in total charge realizes that other worlds exist. He can place himself in your frame of mind, viewing it from your angle instead of dwelling upon only the smaller matter of how your plan may alter his enterprise.

When union negotiations proceed, when people of several races try to settle a communal problem, how often does one side regard the position of the other, especially in carrying with it the emotions and history of the persons opposing a decision? Does a labor boss think of the man who is worried about his five children and the rent, or does he fear losing his position if he attempts to intercede for those he supervises?

Lillian Compton, a past president of Frostburg College, did not make split decisions. Instead, she employed as many perspectives to an idea as she could, winning the praise of those who worked under her. When interviewed on an issue, she said, "We must consider this in the light of the students, and what I as an administrator can see as the results. Then we can make up our minds that what we adopt will be the wisest plan."

The sensible psychoanalyst, Erich Fromm, has suggested that when a married couple seriously disagrees, each should reverse his thoughts and argue for the other's point of view. Fromm must take for granted that a personality can do an about-face in such a sensitive situation. Yet open-mindedness is worth the effort in trying to restore a calm solution.

Like Robert Burns with the mouse in the furrow, we need to gain understanding of how we ourselves are seen. When others observe that our attempts are to strike the correct facets, they may see us in a different light. The other perspective will help us to penetrate other human hearts, just as a wise Cherokee prayer expresses it. "Oh, Great Spirit, grant that I may never find fault with my neighbor until I have walked the trail of life in his moccasins."

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. John M. DeWitt, Mr. and Mrs. Roger DeWitt, Kelly and Keith, Mr. and Mrs. David Woehelin and Debbie all of Pancsville, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Carroll G. DeWitt, Accident, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bittinger, Randall and Wyatt, Barton, Mr. and Mrs. Chester DeWitt, Fairfax, Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sanner Jr., and Mark, Friendsville; Mr. and Mrs. Adrian DeWitt and David Adrian, Derwood.

Children perch everywhere in the cafeteria at Green Street School during a visit from the Ali Ghan Shrine clowns who presented gifts to the school and treats to individual children. Some lucky children went home displaying large lipstick kisses from the clowns, who say they get more enjoyment from such a visit than the children. The clown unit chose Green Street School for its project this year, in keeping with the goal of helping crippled or otherwise handicapped children.

Summons To Greatness

Summons to Greatness, is a collection of inspirational thoughts and practical ideas from the messages and addresses of Richard M. Nixon, president of the United States.

Here is another one of the messages:

"Americans have long given their first concerns to the protection and enhancement of Life and Liberty. We have reached the point in our history when we should give equal concern to the Pursuit of Happiness.'

"This phrase of Jefferson's enshrined in our Declaration of Independence, is defined today as 'the quality of life.' It encompasses a fresh dedication to protect and improve our environment, to give added meaning to our culture and to make it possible for every individual to express himself freely and fully.

"We should not fall into the easy trap of confusing the production of things with the worship of things. We produce abundantly, but our values turn not on what we have but on what we believe.

"In the next 10 years we shall produce our wealth by 50 percent. The profound question is: Does not mean we will be 50 percent richer in a real sense, 50 percent better off, 50 percent happier?

"Or does it mean that in the year 1986 the President standing in this place will look back on a decade in which 70 percent of our people lived in metropolitan areas choked by traffic, suffocated by smog, poisoned by water, deafened by noise, and terrorized by crime?

"These are not the great questions that concern world leaders at summit conferences. But people do not live at the summit. They live in the foothills of every day experience. It is time for all of us to concern ourselves with the way real people live in real life.

"To meet the challenge of complexity we must learn to disperse and decentralize power—at home and abroad—allowing more people in more places to release their creative energies. We must remember that the greatest resource for good in this world is the power of the people themselves—not moving in lockstep to the commands of the few—but providing their own discipline and discovering their own destiny."

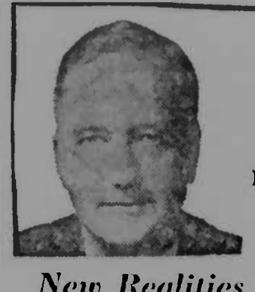
Capitol Comment



By Charles McC Mathias
U.S. Senator

New Realities Need New Laws

The Congress recently received a message from President Nixon proposing vital changes in our international trading laws.

These proposals will touch the household budget of everyone of us. They will have a lot to do with the cost of living in America and in the standard of living that we are able to maintain.

In the years immediately after World War II, America was in a very favored position. The United States was intact. It had not suffered any war damage.

By contrast, in Western Europe, in Russia and in Japan, the economies were in ruins. The productive capacities of those countries were almost destroyed. As a result, the whole world wanted American goods because, in a large measure, American goods were the only ones available. Therefore, we were able to sell on favorable terms almost everywhere.

Now the situation is very different. Western Europe has recovered and is an economic and industrial unit as large and as strong as the United States. Russia is now producing effectively and Japan is the miracle of the age, not only recovered, but far more productive than it has ever been in its entire history.

So we have to compete in a very aggressive world market. American goods must fight on the basis of their merits with the goods produced by these recovered nations.

As a result, we are going to have to change some of the trading practices that we have been able to get along with in the era in which we had the monopoly. We are going to have to go out like the old Yankee traders who sailed the Baltimore clippers and show them that we still have the knack of trading in world markets.

In the long run, I think we are going to have to recognize that we have these strong competitors in the world. We are going to have to treat them as equals and reform our procedures to make our system more competitive.

And so, the trade initiatives that are now being discussed by Congress will be vital. It is important that business, labor and the public make their views known to the Congress so that their interests can be reflected as we go along, not after the decisions are made.

The Port of Baltimore and the entire state of Maryland have a direct interest in these trade initiatives being studied by the Congress. If we are successful in framing a new trade code for the United States, I think it can help us negotiate for a more open and equitable world trading system. Then we can take advantage of new trade opportunities, leading to new jobs and better living standards for American workers.

Married April 14 In Frostburg

Marriage vows were exchanged on Saturday, April 14, by Karen Jane Platter and Gregory L. Dishong.

Rev. Arthur Evans performed the double ring ceremony at the Frostburg Church of the Nazarene, Frostburg. Organist was Mrs. Sharon Cutter. The bride's brother, Rick Platter, was soloist. His solos included "When I Fell in Love," "The Lord's Prayer," and "Because." Rudy Winkler played "Always," and "O Promise Me" on the cello.

Mr. and Mrs. William V. Platter of Star Route, Frostburg, are the parents of the bride. Mr. Dishong is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Donald Dishong, Sr., Frostburg.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a controlled silhouette gown of duchess satin, styled with a molded bodice, cowl neckline and half sleeves. Embroidered Alencon lace appliques trimmed the dress and full chapel train. A full bouffant veil of imported bridal illusion fell from a hand-fashioned headdress of rosebuds. She carried a cascade of yellow daffodils and babysbreath.

Miss Donna Kinsinger of Grantsville was maid of honor. Bill Dishong was his brother's best man. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Ruth Ann Hahn, Accident, escorted by Ronald Leecy of Cumberland; Miss Janet Dishong, sister of the groom, escorted by Gene L. Folk, cousin of the bride; and Miss Eileen McCullough of Cumberland, escorted by Roger Dishong, brother of the groom. The flower girl was Miss Lisa Rohrbaugh, cousin of the bride. The ring bearer was Adam Ramos, a cousin of the groom. Ushers were Jon Platter, brother of the bride and Butch Cartwright.

The bride's mother was attired in a street-length coat and dress ensemble of vivid rose trimmed with silver and crystal braid. Mrs. Dishong wore a turquoise floor-length gown. Both were presented with corsages of white daisies.

The maid of honor wore a gown of pink and carried a nosegay of pink daisies. The bridesmaids wore yellow gowns and carried yellow daises. The flower girl wore a pink floral gown and carried a basket of multi-colored daisies.

A reception followed at the Finzel Fire Hall. Mrs. John W. Loar, sister of the bride, registered guests. Miss Pam Bowers, Grantsville, served the punch while Mrs. Charlotte Folk, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Edna Clark, Barton, served the cake. Mrs. Louise Skidmore, Barton, supervised the other refreshments. Miss Dishong assisted opening of the gifts while the best man and maid of honor registered the presents.

For a trip to Gettysburg, the bride wore a blue and white striped pantsuit with a blue neck scarf and white purse and shoes. Her corsage was blue and white daisies.

Th bride is a graduate of Northern High School. She is employed by W. T. Grant Co. part-time and is a horsemanship instructor at Blue Pine Springs, Inc.

Mr. Dishong is a graduate of Beall High School, Frostburg, and has attended Controlled Data Computer School, Virginia. He is now employed at Sacred Heart Hospital as a computer operator in Data Processing.

The couple will reside in their own home at Star Route Box 34, Frostburg.

Plan Musical Service

St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, will have a Service of Worship Through Music Sunday, May 6, at 10:15 a.m. The Mennonite Mixed Chorus, under the direction of Paul Yoder and John Yoder, will present a concert of sacred music. The worship leader will be Merritt Feather, Lay Leader.

The Children's Day Program will also be this Sunday, at 9:30 a.m. The boys and girls and the youth of the Sunday School and UMYF will present recitations, playlets, songs, and other presentations from their educational work. Persons will go to their classes at 9:30 a.m. for a few minutes; then all will assemble in Fellowship Hall for the program.

On Dean's List

William George Hetz, of near Lonaconing, was placed on the Dean's list of DeVry Technical Institute, a Bell and Howell school, Union, New Jersey, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hetz, have been informed.

Hetz attained a grade point average greater than 3.5 out of a possible four-point.

Hetz was graduated from Northern High school, Accident, in June of 1972 and is attending DeVry on a Bell and Howell scholarship. He is an electronics major. Harold Trickett is electronics instructor at Northern.

Youth Corps Work Is Summarized

Achievements of the Neighborhood Youth Corps in this area were summarized this week by Rev. W. Shelby Walthall, field supervisor.

The corps has been part of the work scene in the county since 1965. Several hundred young people have gone through the program since that time, which is funded by the U. S. Department of Labor and sponsored by the Western Maryland Labor Council.

Boys and girls 16 and 17 years of age who have dropped out of school and whose family income falls below federal standards, are eligible. A person enrolling with the program is placed in a non-profit job. Persons may work as aides in places like hospitals, state parks and forests, schools, head start centers, court house offices, library, etc.

Applications are being taken for a number of jobs that are available, Rev. Walthall said. Interested people may apply at the NYC office in the McLaughlin building in Oakland.

With Our Men in The Service

Army Sgt. 1st class Robert Layman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Layman, Bayard, W. Va., recently was awarded a certificate of appreciation while serving with the 7th Engineer Brigade in Germany.

He received the award for meritorious service while assigned as a platoon sergeant with the 503rd Engineer company of the brigade's 563rd Engineer battalion.

The sergeant's wife, Susan, is with him in Germany.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation to all who contributed in any way during the illness and sudden death of Charles E. Rexroad.

Thank you,

Public Service Commission of Maryland

ORDER NO. 50223

In the Matter of the Application of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland for authority to increase and restructure its schedule of rates and charges.

Before the Public Service Commission of Maryland
Case No. 6651

On April 23, 1973, the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland ("The Company") filed with the Commission an application to increase and restructure its schedule of rates and charges together with revised rate schedules to become effective May 23, 1973, which are designed to produce an additional $39,245,000 annual gross revenue. In addition thereto, the Company filed its prepared testimony relative to its application. The application and supporting testimony are on file at the office of the Commission, room 904, State Office Building, 301 West Preston Street, Baltimore, Maryland, and may be inspected by any interested member of the public.

The revisions filed with the Commission set forth new proposed rates which, in the judgment of the Commission, should be suspended in accordance with section 70 of article 78 of the Annotated Code of Maryland in order to provide opportunity for the Commission to determine the reasonableness thereof.

It is, therefore, this 25th day of April, in the year nineteen hundred and seventy-three, by the Public Service Commission of Maryland, ordered:

1. That the rates set forth in the full set of revised tariffs filed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland, filed with the Commission on April 23, 1973, be, and the same hereby are, suspended for a period of not more than 120 days from May 23, 1973.

2. That proceedings as to the reasanableness of said rates hereinbefore suspended be, and the same hereby are, instituted by the Commission.

3. That petitions requesting leave to intervene in the above captioned proceeding must be filed with the Commission no later than the close of business on Monday, May 7, 1973.

4. That a prehearing conference be, and hereby is, set before the Commission on Wednesday, May 9, 1973, at 11:00 o'clock, A.M., at the Office of the Commission, 301 West Preston Street, Baltimore, Maryland.

Provided, the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland cause a copy of this order to be published in two newspapers of general circulation in the Baltimore City Metropolitan Area, in two newspapers of general circulation in the Washington, D. C. Metropolitan Area, and in one daily or weekly newspaper of general circulation published in each of the twenty-three counties of the State of Maryland at least one time before May 4, 1973. Certificates of publication shall be filed with the Commission on or before May 9, 1973.

You wonder how it got there . . . a sapling far from the forest. And grew . . . alone, unlended, little-noticed. And flourished to stand like a sentinel against the horizon.

Maybe a tree understands, as sometimes man does not, the secret of God. We are never alone!

What we need He has provided. What we are to become He has designed. The beauty and majesty and grace that can emanate from one object, one creature, He has envisioned and made real . . . for all to share.

There is no loner.

But when we feel alone, then, more than ever, we are drawn to God and His Church. In faith, in friendship with others who believe, in service to those who need our affection and care—we discover how deeply and satisfyingly we belong.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

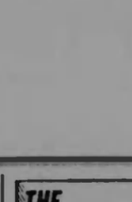
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

TO LIVE AGAIN

Lesson for May 6, 1973

Background Scripture: John 1:9-13; Ephesians 2:1-10; Colossians 3:1-17. Devotional Reading: Ezekiel 11:17-21.

Recently there has been considerable interest in the concept of reincarnation, the idea that we are born into this world, not once, but a number of times to live several lives and thus grow in the spirit to some level of the soul's maturity. Many people are fascinated with the possibility that they have "lived before," and may well "live again" in some future life or existence.



Rev. Althouse

He gave power

Unfortunately, too many people become so fascinated in what they might have been, that they utterly forget to be concerned with what they can be right now. Even if there were "past" and "future" lives, these could not be half so important to us as experiencing life right now. Sometimes, to the person who asks me whether I think they might "live again," I am often tempted to ask them whether they are really 'alive now.'

That's what the good news of Jesus Christ is about: life here and now! We believe in a life beyond death, but we also believe in a life before death in all its fullness. Christ comes to give us power for such a life: "But to all who received him, who believed in his name, he gave power to become children of God" (John 1:12).

Yet, it is true that many of us reach a point in life where we are simply going through the motions, repeating old, tired routines. We need to be given the power to "live again," not in some distant "incarnation," but this one! We need new life now. We need, as the writer of Ephesians puts it, to be "made alive" again (2:1). This experience goes by many different names and descriptions. It matters little whether you call it "conversion," "new birth," "regeneration," "new life," or "renewal;" these words all point to a common reality: new power and direction for an individual's life.

"Dead through our trespasses"

The writer of Ephesians not only tells us what we need, he also helps us understand why we need it. We have become "dead" because of the kinds of life we have lived. For example, Ephesians says: "when you were dead through the trespasses and sins . . ." Thus, the focus is to allow Christ to make us "alive" once again:

> But God . . . made us alive together with Christ . . . and raised us up with him (2:5, 6). The Apostle Paul made the same allusion in 2 Corinthians 5:17: If any one is in Christ, he is a new creation; the old has passed away, behold the new has come.

There are many people today who know that they need "to live again." They are people whose lives have become stifled with sin, with conflict, with disappointment, with selfishness, with tragedy, with suffering, with boredom and indifference. Whenever the world has taken the life out of us, we need to seek his power that we might be helped to live again."

Sometimes you will see this on the label of your prescription in place of specific instructions for taking the medicine. It is there because your physician has already told you how he wants you to use the prescription. With some medicines we will double check with you to be sure you have the directions correct.

It is also important to remember that "as directed" today may not be the same two months from now and you should be careful to check with your physician before requesting a prescription be refilled after mech time has elapsed.

Dr. Guild College Graduation Orator

Dr. Nelson P Guild, president of Frostburg State College, will be the commencement speaker for graduation exercises at Garrett Community College, McHenry. Commencement is set for Saturday morning, May 19, at 11 o'clock.

Dr. Luther Shaw, president of the college, said there would be approximately 15 graduates.

Observe 50th Event

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Yommer, Grantsville, route 2, marked twenty-five years of wedded life on May 5 with an anniversary reception the Saturday before their official day. It was held at the Grantsville Sportsman building.

The celebration was given by their children, daughter Peggy Beitzel, route 1, Grantsville; and son Blair Yommer, route 2, Grantsville.

Mr. Yommer and the former Iva Pauline Resh, exchanged vows on May 5, 1946, in Bittinger, by the Rev. Beam.

Mr. Yommer is employed at Harbison-Walker Refractories. Mrs. Yommer is employed at Flushing Shirt factory. They are members of the Jennings United Methodist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Yommer have four grandchildren, Sheila and Renee, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Beitzel; Tony and Julie, children of Mr. and Mrs. Blair Yommer.

As part of their celebration the couple cut a three-tiered cake trimmed with silver leaves, and a 25th anniversary top. It was served by their daughter-in-law, Shirley, and cut by Mr. Yommer's sister, Esther Resh. The table was decorated with two silver candles with artificial roses arranged on guest tables.

Dinner was served prior to the cake cutting and opening of gifts. Sixty-four persons attended.

Cattle rustlers are reappearing in the western states.

Students in Mrs. Pauline Leonard's room at Friendsville school board a bus which will shuttle them to the Friendsville fire hall, where the school cafeteria staff has prepared their lunches. The youngsters had previously walked from the school to a newly-constructed cafeteria which had to be demolished to make room for the National Freeway. Some classes are split into groups, leaving for lunch at different times.

Friendsville school pupils will be dining in style in this prefabricated building beginning either this week or next. The building, located immediately behind the present school, was brought to the site in November through State Inter-Agency Construction funds. After its usefulness at Friendsville, the building may be moved elsewhere in the county for possible use as a library, or it may be taken to a different part of the state, as need dictates.

Accident Scouts Pick Up Litter

Members of Scout troop 82, Accident, picked up litter and painted barrels for trash collection in the town of Accident. They were assisted by members of the North Star 4-H Girls.

Scott Schwing, Gary Reckner, Dale Carpenter, Allen Glotfelty, Joy Humberson, Doug Bowser, Scott Bashore, Bill Thomas, Bob Thomas, Kevin Margroff painted the barrels in the Accident fire hall prior to picking up litter in Accident, from the Accident-Bittinger road, Accident-Friendsville road and U. S. 219 north and south of the town covering a half mile of road in each direction, on both sides of the highways.

Kendra [illegible] of the 4-H club, assisted in painting and drove one of the tractors used to haul a small cart for the accumulated litter. The County Roads department supplied a truck which was about half filled. Beer cans and cigaret packs prevailed.

Barrels were donated by Butler-Carpenter Ford, Inc., with paint provided by the town council. Elmer Kolb provided the farm cart for trash collection. Two small tractors and another cart were provided by troop committee members John Reckner and Paul Frank. The group was accompanied by Paul Thomas and Paul Frank. The activity was part of troop 82's SOAK project in conjunction with the national effort to save our environment by the Boy Scouts of America.

Amtrak to Keep On If Cost Is Shared

Amtrak directors last Thursday announced they would continue the passenger service between Washington and Parkersburg, W. Va., if Maryland and West Virginia would underwrite two thirds of the operating losses.

Amtrak started the service of one round trip a day between the two towns on an experimental basis but announced in March it would discontinue on May 5 because it failed to attract enough passengers to show a profit. The loss for 1972 was $1.1 million dollars, according to an Amtrak spokesman.

The board has notified governors and congressmen of the two states. Under the proposal Amtrak would pick up the tab for one third of the loss and the states would agree to pay their pro-rated shares of the remainder.

The board considered a proposal that the train's run be extended to Cincinnati, O., but rejected it because they believed the extension would increase the size of the losses.

The Washington-Parkersburg service is not a part of the passenger service network that the government's national passenger train service took over on May 1, 1971. It was added several months later on an experimental basis.

The Department of Transportation reported to Congress in March that it recommended discontinuing the service and shortly afterward announced it would be discontinued on May 5.

State Aid Not Likely

Neither Maryland nor West Virginia appeared interested in underwriting two-thirds of the Amtrak losses on the run between Washington and Parkersburg, W. Va.

Spokesman for Harry R. Hughes, Maryland secretary of transportation, said that some of the $1.8 million appruved by the General Assembly to improve commuter service may be used for the B. and O. line. Gov. Marvin Mandel's office said he would meet with West Virginia officials before deciding whether to commit state funds to keep the route alive.

In Charleston the chairman of the West Virginia Legislature's two finance committees expressed little enthusiasm. U. S. Senator Jennings Randolph, of West Virginia, blasted the Amtrak directors for failing to extend a May 5 cutoff date. Randolph claimed the board had "ignored appeals and counsel by the West Virginia congressional delegation and the governor's office."

Governor Arch Moore had asked that the termination date be pushed ahead to June 30, to allow time to come up with a possible solution.

A planned coup by politicians in Bolivia has been stopped.

Termite Swarming Season Here Again

Every year termites cause more than $500 million worth of damage to buildings in the U. S., according to Dr. Eugene Wood, Extension entomologist at the University of Maryland in College Park.

Although they are notorious as "house-wreckers," termites also perform a useful function by feeding on all types of wood and thereby aiding in the decomposition of such eyesores as stumps and fallen trees.

In Maryland, virtually all of the termite damage to houses is caused by the Eastern Subterranean Termite. This termite lives underground and builds tunnels to wherever it can get wood to keep the colony thriving.

Termites are social insects and have similar "caste" systems for division of labor.

The winged termites which swarm each spring are the reproductive males and females. But the termites which actually cause damage to houses are the white, wingless workers, which most people never see. There are also soldier termites, similar in appearance to the workers, which protect the colonies from invaders, particularly their worst natural enemy, ants.

Take a close look to make sure they are not flying ants rather than termites.

Ants have a distinctive waist appearing to divide the body into two parts, while the termite has no waist. Also, ant fore wings are longer and larger than their hind wings, while termites have both sets of wings of similar size and shape.

Most termite problems can be effectively controlled by reputable Pest Control Operators (PCO's). Such pest control companies will visit your home, evaluate the problem, estimate the cost of control measures, and explain the operation, usually at no cost.

You can try do-it-yourself termite control, the Maryland specialist said, but don't attempt it without obtaining written or oral advice from your local county Extension agent or other knowledgeable source.

WASHINGTON REPORT
FROM SENATOR J. GLENN BEALL JR.

East-West Trade

The Senate Commerce Committee has made use of the Easter recess to schedule a trade visit to Russia and four other European nations: Poland Hungary, Austria and Belgium.

Each of these places offers certain trade opportunities for American goods, and each of them also presents unique situations which could help or hinder our trade efforts.

Our visit has come at a particularly good time as far as East-West relations are concerned. Nearly a year has passed since the summit meeting between President Nixon and the Russian leaders, and the groundwork that was laid in Moscow has helped to foster economic cooperation between our two nations.

The Soviet Union is rich in many of the raw materials that we need for our industries, and also in fuel, such as natural gas, which is in short supply here.

We on the other hand, have the technology and manufacturing skill to produce the industrial and agricultural machinery that their country needs, the consumer goods that their people want, and, of course, our supply of agricultural commodities that need a market.

But even though we may be moving towards greater economic cooperation, we are not by any means nearing our potential as far as non-strategic trade is concerned.

In 1971, for example, our trade with the Soviet bloc totaled under $600 million, or less than 1 per cent of the $15 billion in trade between the Soviet bloc and Western Europe in that year.

Part of this is due to the fact that the Soviet Union does not have "most favored nation" trade status with the United States so Russian exporters have been developing other markets for their products.

There is a movement to grant most favored nation status to the Soviet Union, but it is being held up because of the taxes which the Russian government is imposing on Jews who are seeking to emigrate to Israel. The exit tax matter will have to be resolved satisfactorily before this trade barrier can be removed.

There also are some problems with exporting American goods to Russia, notably the difficulty in converting the Russian ruble to other currencies and the incredible government bureaucracy that controls all of Russia's foreign trade. The government trade regulations all but eliminate any direct contact between the buyer and seller.

The currency problem and government trade monopoly exist in other Soviet bloc nations, but the situation is not as difficult in Poland, which enjoys most favored nation status with the United States.

There have been indications that Poland is looking to make a significant increase in its import of American goods. This could also mean added business for the Port of Baltimore since the Polish merchant fleet is the most active in shipping between Soviet nations and the United States.

Austria plays an important role for developing trade with countries like Hungary. The Austrian capital and trade center of Vienna is on the edge of Eastern Europe, and it has the important banking and business services that are essential to international trade

Belgium plays a similar role as a business center for the Common Market nations, and the stop-off in Brussels will provide an opportunity to view our trade relations with Western Europe

In all this will be a busy, informative and very timely trip. The insights will be invaluable as the Senate considers some important trade legislation later this year.

Rt. 40 Homemakers Plan May Health Projects

Route 40 Homemakers Club will hold a public meeting May 9 at 7:30 at the Finzel Community Building. Health Chairman Mrs. Earl Opel announced that Mrs Sally Schwing, cancer chairman for the northern Garrett county area, will present films on breast self-examination and how to recognize the danger signals of cancer

Other information on Health Services will be available. All mothers and daughters over age 13 are urged to attend

Club president Gladys Lashbaugh and Safety Chairman Beatrice Opel will report on another project, concerned with the new law making it mandatory for children who live within one mile radius to walk to school.

Topic for the month is Family Health — A Common Sense Guide to Nutritinn and Health Safety Habits. Hostesses will be Mrs. Margie Meese, Mrs. Loretta Paul, Mrs. Lillian Crowe, and Mrs. Mildred Klink.

Fellowship Dinner Planned By AAUW

The following questions were typical of the kind asked me.

What are a passenger's rights when it comes to supplemental or charter flights?

For information on group charter guidelines write to the Supplementary Services Division of the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) in Washington. For a free copy of the booklet "Air Travelers' Fly-Rights," write to the Publications Services Section of CAB

Why isn't the Coast Guard taken out of the Department of Transportation and transferred to the Department of Defense?

Legislation along these lines is currently pending before the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries

What filibustering tactics are possible in the House of Representatives?

In as much as no Member can address the House for more than one hour without unanimous consent, the only method of filibustering is to force roll calls.

Where can I obtain a copy of the 1972 edition of "The National Register of Historic Places?"

The National Park Services' new 614-page book describing 3,500 historic properties may be ordered from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402. A check or money order covering the $7.80 purchase price for each copy should accompany every order.

I am unable to work and applied for Social Security but have heard nothing. Please help as there is my wife and two children and we don't have anything to live on?

Upon receipt of your letter my office contacted the Social Security Administration in Baltimore. As you are now aware, based on the additional evidence you provided, your claim has been approved. Citizens experiencing similar difficulty in receiving government benefits justly due them should contact my office in Washington for assistance.

New regulations will change care of needy with less federal and more state funds to keep people off welfare.

Thirteen Are Killed On State Highways

Thirteen persons lost their lives on Maryland highways last week according to Sergeant James E. Harvey of the Maryland State Police. Three of those killed were drivers, seven were passengers and three were pedestrians. The opinion of the investigating officers in at least five of the deaths was that fatalities might have been prevented had seat belts been in use.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in two of the deaths, speed in seven and "driver error" in ten Persons killed through April 29 totalled 261 compared to 246 for the same period last year.

Retired Teachers Plan Annual Luncheon

The Garrett County Retired Teachers association will have its annual luncheon at Will o the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake, on Tuesday afternoon, May 15, at 12:45.

All retired teachers are eligible to attend. Rev. John Grant, Episcopal rector, will be the speaker on "Achieving a Goal," with slides to add interest. Reservatinns are to be made with Mrs. Elizabeth Thayer before May 11. The cost is $2.50.

Optimist Oratory Winners Listed

Tom Conlon, 8th grade student, SS. Peter and Paul high school, Cumberland, winner of Bedford Road contest, won the 1973 Boys' speech contest of Zone Ten Optimists clubs, sponsored by the Oakland, Bedford Road and Cumberland clubs held April 16 at the American Legion home in Oakland. The Oakland club hosted the event. The subject was "Listen World."

Lewis Marks, 9th grader at Southern High, Oakland was first runner-up, and Scott Groves, 7th grader of Southern, was second runner-up.

Conlon will represent Zone Ten in the District Optimist International contest, scheduled for Ocean City May 4th, 5th and 6th. He is the son of Mayor and Mrs. Tom Conlon, Cumberland. Marks is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Marks, Mt. Lake Park; and Scott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Groves, Loch Lynn street, Oakland.

Judy Thompson, sixth grader from Penn Avenue school, won the Girls' speech contest, immediately preceding the boys' contest. Becky Fike, tenth grader Southern High, was first runner-up. Judy will represent Zone Ten in the district contest.

Judy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Thompson, Cumberland. Becky is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Fike, Route 2, Oakland.

Judges were Dick Stegmeyer, social services worker, Oakland

Changes Noted In Gas Personnel

Arthur A. Call

Harold R. Rohr

Arthur A. Call, Uniontown, Pa., Southern district manager for Columbia Gas of Pennsylvania and Columbia Gas of Maryland, retired May 1 after more than 46 years of service. Harold R. Rohr, Uniontown, succeeds him.

Thomas Butscher, radio announcer, Oakland; and Miss Sandy Schweitzer, professor at Garrett Community College. Ken Bittinger, guidance and vocational counselor, Southern, served as timekeeper. Dave Beard, Southern High instructor and lieutenant governor of Optimist, and Ben Thorn, guidance counselor at Southern, were chairmen for this year's contests.

The Southern district includes Cumberland, Frostburg, Oakland and Lonaconing in Maryland.

Call became area manager in 1948, assistant district manager in 1959 and district manager in 1954. Rohr joined the Columbia system in 1951. He was transferred to Pittsburgh from Columbus, Ohio, in 1965, and to Uniontown in 1972.

Centenarian Dies

Mrs. Mary C. Elliott, 101, of Oakland, died last Thursday, April 26, at the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing home where she had been a patient for two and one-half years.

Mrs. Elfintt was born February 2, 1872, at St. George, W. Va., a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Piefer. Her husband, Emory P. Elliott, preceded her in death.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Dolly Friend, Felicity, O.; two sons, Roy F. Elfintt, Hutton; and Elmer W. Elliott, Oakland; 20 grandchildren and 47 great-grandchildren.

The body was taken to the Minnich-Stewart Funeral home. Funeral services were conducted from the funeral home on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. Paul Poland. Burial was in the Underwood cemetery.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Hanst:

This letter is in comment about the editorial in the April 26 issue of The Republican. I was almost amused by the subject matter for the editorial. When one is dealing with a government with a budget of over 180 billion dollars, one can't get alarmed over such insignificant amounts of money as were mentioned in the editorial. In a governmental system as large as the United States, there is bound to be waste of money.

After reading the editorial one thought stayed in my mind: how much money was spent on the Watergate. I'm sure that the readers of The Republican are more concerned with this than Federal grants to the University of Yugoslavia.

Sincerely,
Richard K. Bates, Student
University of Maryland

P.S. It is my own personal opinion that The Republican should take a stand on the Watergate for the benfit of the paper's readers.

Editor's Note:

There's no difficulty in taking a stand on "Watergate," but let's not condemn everyone as guilty until the ones involved have been tried and convicted. The Watergate affair is a sloppy mess and those convicted should be punished according to law.

—o—

Dear Editor:

Where have all the babies gone. Gone to the crematories everyone. A sad commentary on American Law. Law protects the criminals and yet innocent babies are being aborted by the thousands, and our Supreme Court has ruled that unborn babies have no rights and are not covered by the First Amendment. One can almost certainly see the day when the aged, infirmed and mentally retarded will fall into this category and will cease to be classified as citizens; but will be label rejects and of no further use to the state and thus will be exterminated.

It seems frightening and rightly so. When the Supreme Court can rule that criminals have rights and innocent babies have no rights, one would think that the Supreme Court Justices have the spirit of Hitlerism. It is time we as Americans begin to let our Senators and Congressmen know how we feel, and that such killings not be allowed. The projected murdering of babies is expected to reach nearly one million three hundred thousand (1,300,000) this year. Their blood will be upon our Supreme Court, Congressmen, Senators, the American People and you unless something is done. Won't you do something today?

Sincerely yours,
Jack L. Michaels, Jr.

Dear Sir:

You are to be commended for the Editorial in last week's issue of The Republican in addition to the thousands of dollars of taxpayers' money you mentioned, there is also Foreign Aid and the re-building of North Vietnam.

My main purpose in writing, however, is to bring attention to the use of taxpayers' money right here at home.

I quote from a weekly publication, "Review of The News," Belmont, Massachusetts, wherein they have a question and answer section. Question from New Britain, Connecticut. Do you have any examples of O. E. O. wasting money?

Answer—Examples of the political, spendthrift, and subversive activities of the Office of Economic Opportunity are legion. But we will choose a representative one from your neighboring state of Rhode Island that shows why O.E.O. is being dismantled and why it deserves to be. In our files we have a copy of a letter dated March 17, 1971, from an O.E.O. Agency in Woonsocket, Rhode Island. The letter, from the agency's director to a supplier states: "OEO programs, in order to be funded (or refunded) get 80% of the total budget from the federal government in cash. The remaining 20% has to be made up in in-kind contribution. . . .What I would like is a signed statement, preferably on company paper, valuing what we got from you. I haven't kept an exact figure, but that really doesn't matter. We can exaggerate and inflate things. (No one will check so you can even lie). . . ."

Mr. G. Bradford Rinard is director of the Community Action Program under the O.E.O. in Garrett County. I am of the opinion Mr. Rinard is handling the local taxpayers money in the same negligent manner as described above.

Question: How long are "We The People" going to allow spending of this nature to continue?

Thank you.

Respectfully yours,
Charles H. Bowman

Cranberries for Convenience

Brighten up your springtime meals to match the brilliant colors of the season. What with? Why, cranberry sauces, of course, since they fit the bill to perfection.

Cranberry sauces, both jellied and whole, are now in plentiful supply, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service. Take advantage of the bounty so you can enjoy these refreshing, colorful convenience foods at will.

Jellied cranberry sauce and whole cranberry sauce are "natural" accents for many entrees, poultry and meats particularly. They'll highlight sandwiches, too, add color and flavor to salads, and make appealing garnishes. Keep them in mind, as well, for toppings for ice cream desserts, pancakes and fritters and other eye-catching creations.

For a cranberry shortcake, combine whole cranberry sauce with diced bananas and chopped unpeeled apples, adding some chopped nuts if desired. Chill the cranberry, apple and banana mixture for about an hour and then serve shortcake style on hot buttermilk biscuits with a topping of ice cream or whipped cream.

Try your hand at some delicious cranberry sauce variations. To a can of whole canned cranberry sauce add ½ cup of applesauce and a half teaspoon of cinnamon for accent; or add 1 cup of drained pineapple chunks, ½ cup ground lemon rind, and 1 ground orange, including the rind, announced Freda S. Denison, Extension Agent, Home Economics.

Lunar Phase

The moon passes through its First Quarter phase at 8:07 A. M. Wednesday morning. It will stay all week. Moonset will vary from 9:42 P.M., this evening to 2:01 A.M., on Wednesday morning.

Moon At Perigee

Only 360,100 kilometers (223,800 miles) will separate the earth and the moon on Friday morning at 2:00 A.M.

Meteor Shower

On Saturday morning the Eta Aquarid meteor shower will reach its maximum at 5:00 A.M. An observer may see as many as 20 meteors per hour. These meteors leave persistent trails and may be seen on the 4th and 6th in fewer numbers.

Visible Planets

Mars, Jupiter and Saturn may be easily viewed this week. Venus may be seen through binoculars just after sunset for a few minutes. Saturn, the bright star, Aldebaran, and the new crescent moon form an interesting pattern tonight and tomorrow night 1 hour after sunset. Saturn sets about three hours after the sun. Jupiter rises about 3½ hours before the sun. It is the last object to fade before the brightening sky. Mars rises about three hours before the sun, following Jupiter.

Daylight Increases

Thirteen minutes of daylight are gained by Wednesday. Today sunrise was at 6:17 A.M., followed thirteen hours fifty-six minutes later at 8:13 P.M., by sunset. Wednesday sunrise will occur at 6:10 A.M., and sunset at 8:19 P.M.

Health Care—How Much, How Good? A Md. Perspective

One of the major questions facing Congress and the nation in the next year or two is what do we do about caring for the health of our citizens. Clearly, the most technologically advanced nation in history is way down on the standings when it comes to the quality of health care available to its people.

I have just finished a two day journey through Maryland, visiting an array of health facilities, in order to be ready for the judgments I will have to make in the Senate. Already, several major bills have been filed in both houses, and in the coming months, these will be the subject of hearings, committee action, floor action in the House and Senate, and eventually action by the Appropriations Committee of which I am a member and on which I have to decide how much will be spent in each of the various priority areas.

My visits across the state were designed to gather information that will make sure Maryland's needs are not forgotten when national health legislation is voted upon in Washington. For example, in Ocean City, there is a very special problem of a population which is in the thousands for most of the year, and in the hundreds of thousands during the summer vacation season. In the last two years, they have made progress in providing a summer expansion of doctors and medical resources to handle the tremendously increased burden. I am concerned about the continued availability of this program and the knowledge developed through it.

Elsewhere on the Eastern shore, I learned about a wide range of health problems in which the federal government plays a crucial role. It is particularly important that in the massive overhaul which I expect in the next few years, resources which can save lives and prevent injury or disease do not get lost in the shuffle.

In Baltimore City, I was shown plans for a statewide expansion of the infant emergency medical system. This system is geared to handle the kind of situation in which moments literally make the difference between life and death for critically injured victims of auto accidents and other tragedies. By the way, if you drive too fast, and if you are not in the habit of using a seat belt, I can tell you that one trip through the shock trauma unit at University Hospital in Baltimore will cause you to think again. Many of the people there owe their very lives to the skills developed in handling several serious injuries within minutes or even seconds after an accident victim arrives. Senator Beall and I both support the rapid expansion of this system to serve the entire state.

In both Frederick and Hagerstown, I visited facilities for the aging, and looked into the special needs of this important part of the national health care system.

I have made at least one conclusion so far; that we need more medical talent available, and that training doctors, assistants and technicians to meet this need cannot be done through private resources. Government will have to help.

Even more important are basic decisions that will be needed to determine what quality of medicine, both treatment and prevention, ought to be available to both rich and poor, and how we are to pay for it, in a fiscally responsible, cost-conscious system. These two considerations, the quality of care we deserve, and the resources we can afford to spend, will be my guide in facing the complex health questions of the months ahead.

Planetarium

Last week there were four classes scheduled. Thursday, Mrs. Carol Bell's third grade class from Center Street School studied "Indian Myths." Friday, the Albright Elementary School of Albright, West Virginia, visited. Monday, Mrs. Carole Lovett's kindergarten class from Oak Street School studied "Day and Night." Tuesday, the Mineral County Outdoor School will study "North Circumpolar Constellations."

This week finds four classes scheduled. Today, Allegany County Outdoor School will study "North Circumpolor Constellations." Tomorrow, Petersburg Elementary School will study the "Solar System." Monday Mrs. Marjorie Hamill's fourth grade from Dennett Road School will study "Day and Night." Tuesday, the Mineral County Outdoor School's second group will learn about the "North Circumpolar Constellations."

ule of rates and charges together with revised rate schedules to become effective May 23, 1973, which are designed to produce an additional $39,245,000 annual gross revenue. In addition thereto, the Company filed its prepared testimony relative to its application. The application and supporting testimony are on file at the office of the Commission, Room 904, State Office Building, 301 West Preston Street, Baltimore, Maryland, and may be inspected by any interested member of the public.

The revisions filed with the Commission set forth new proposed rates which, in the judgment of the Commission, should be suspended in accordance with section 70 of article 78 of the Annotated Code of Maryland in order to provide opportunity for the Commission to determine the reasonableness thereof.

It is, therefore, this 25th day of April, in the year nineteen hundred and seventy-three, by the Public Service Commission of Maryland, ordered:

(1) That the rates set forth in the full set of revised tariffs filed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland, filed with the Commission on April 23, 1973, be, and the same hereby are, suspended for a period of not more than 120 days from May 23, 1973.

(2) That proceedings as to the reasonableness of said rates hereinbefore suspended be, and the same hereby are, instituted by the Commission.

(3) That petitions requesting leave to intervene in the above captioned proceeding must be filed with the Commission no later than the close of business on Monday, May 7, 1973.

(4) That a prehearing conference be, and hereby is, set before the Commission on Wednesday, May 9, 1973, at 11:00 o'clock, A.M., at the office of the Commission, 301 West Preston Street, Baltimore, Maryland.

Provided, the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland cause a copy of this order to be published in two newspapers of general circulation in the Baltimore City Metropolitan Area, in two newspapers of general circulation in the Washington, D. C., Metropolitan Area, and in one daily or weekly newspaper of general circulation published in each of the twenty-three counties of the State of Maryland at least one time before May 4, 1973. Certificates of publication shall be filed with the Commission on or before May 9, 1973.

Assignee's Sale
OF VALUABLE
REAL ESTATE

Situate in Election District No. 3, Garrett County, Maryland, in Grantsville.

Under and by virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage from Leon Boyer, single, to The Garrett National Bank in Oakland, dated March 14th, 1969, and recorded in Liber R.L.D. No. 290, folio 554, one of the Land Records (Mortgage) of Garrett County, Maryland, default having occurred under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and it having been duly assigned to the undersigned for the purpose of foreclosure, I hereby give notice that I will, on Friday, the 25th day of May, 1973 at the hour of 11:00 a.m., D.S.T.

in front of the Court House in the town of Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, offer for sale and sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the following property, to-wit:

All that piece or parcel of ground, situated, lying in Grantsville, Garrett County, Maryland, on the south side of the National Pike, in said town, and which said lot is known as Lot No. 1 on the plat of said town as laid off by one Adam Shultz, and which said lot is described as follows:

BEGINNING for the same 40 feet East of a stone marked A. S., planted at the corner of the Hotel, and running thence South 166 feet then East 66 feet, then North 166 feet to the National Pike, then with said Pike 66 feet to the place of beginning, reserving, however, and excepting from the operation of the deed all that portion of said lot upon which a part of the Hotel Stable and Granary once stood, and being the same parcel of land firstly described in a deed from Charles C. Nathan, single, to the said Hayward F. Broadwater and Lilly Broadwater, his wife, as tenants by the entireties, bearing date on the 26th day of July, 1947, and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber R.L.D. No 148, folio 17, etc., the said Hayward F. Broadwater being deceased, title to said property has vested in said party of the first part as the surviving tenant by the entirety. And being the same property as described in that certain deed from Joseph C. Westcoat, et al, to Leon Boyer, by deed dated March 14, 1969, and recorded in Liber R. L.D. No. 250, folio 267, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The above property is situate at the intersection of Maryland Route 495 and U.S. Route 40 in the town of Grantsville, this site being a desirable business location in Grantsville and has been improved with a large frame structure partially damaged by fire.

TERMS OF SALE: Cash on day of sale.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES —Let us send you our success story. Are you too busy making a living to make money? Let Sun Chemical and Refining Corporation send you our Record of Success, then you decide if it is a track record you want to be a part of in making money. Our product is unique and there is none on the market to compete. The PILL for the automobile is nationally advertised in Road and Track, Hot Rod, Motor Trend, Car and Driver, Cycle, and Service Station Dealer, just to mention a few, and replaces all automotive additives on the market today. You simply drop it in your gas tank, get a ring and valve job and save gasoline. We cut 7 cents per gallon off gas price and we will stop oil burning. We will send you our complete brochure and laboratory testing, and for the qualified person, we will pay all expense bringing you to our home office for complete training, and furnish you a list of all customers in your area. We pay 100% cost of local and national advertising including newspaper ads, radio and TV scripts. We invest three dollars to your one. To get started, you must have $5000 to $10,000 investment for starting inventory depending upon size of territory. (No Franchise Fee) This is truly a ground floor opportunity you should check out if you want a Dream Success Story of your own. If you are serious, let us hear your story and position. If you are not serious, please don't waste our time or yours, as time is money. At this point we are sure you have questions and it is impossible to explain everything in this ad. Our brochure package will explain everything from factory to marketing to consumer use. Our brochure package contains a free gift for you and over 50 pages of pictures, laboratory tests and marketing concept on corporation. Our products are a guaranteed sale to you. For this package, write or phone Mark Anthony, A C 904-396-5856 or write Sun Chemical and Refining Corporation, 1301 Gulf Life Tower, Jacksonville, Florida 32207. —Adv. 10-3t.

Meet The Staff

SONNY MARTIN

Sonny Martin joined our staff in August, 1969, after completing his military obligation with the U. S. Marine Corps. His first duties were in the front end department where he excelled in all phases of his job. Next he was moved to the grocery department where he has over two years of experience.

Sonny is in charge of receiving the grocery department day deliveries. He has to make sure that all deliveries are correct in price as well as quantity. Also since most of the deliveries are made through the back doors, Sonny must enforce strict security precautions. The serious and professional manner in which he performs his duties has gained him high respect and confidence among all his fellow workers.

During shopping hours it is quite difficult to stock shelves. There are many items which have to be stocked several times daily. Being able to accomplish this job and not interfere with the shoppers takes a lot of special effort. Sonny is an expert at his job. You'll notice how efficient he is at work and at the same time he is willing to help shoppers locate their favorite items.

This article is too small to list all of Sonny's strong points. We would have to sum it up by saying he's about as close to perfection as anybody we've ever employed.

Sonny and his wife Andera reside at 520 Seneca Ave., Mountain Lake Park. Their favorite pastime is picnicking. Sonny prefers football over all other athletics. He was a football player and wrestler at Southern High School. The Martins' pride and joy is their little daughter Christy, and it's rumored that this fall Christy will have a new playmate.

IS YOUR HOME A "HALFWAY HOUSE"?

If your house was built in 1964, it would probably cost 50% more to build the same house today. So it's important for you to watch property values carefully to make sure your insurance stays current with these increasing costs.

We can help you find out if you own a "Halfway House". We'll give you a copy of the Dwelling Approximator, a simple folder that will help you determine the approximate replacement value of your home. Then we'll review your present home insurance with you to help you determine whether it gives you adequate protection.

Much To Be Proud Of...

There's so much to be proud of, in America, let's talk about that for a change.

I'm not sure but that we said a few words about that several times before, but it still sounded good when we read it not long ago in an advertisement of the Warner and Swasey company of Cleveland, O.

Here it is:

"Eighty two million Americans have jobs—the best jobs in the world. This is the country where no one need go hungry, no one need go without an education he can use to grow and progress. And this is the nation that shares its wealth with practically the whole world—the nations of three and one-half billion people have shared in America's generosity.

"Best of all, perhaps, it is America where 50 million working men and women give up much of their hard-won leisure to help those less fortunate, by teaching, acting as nurses' aides, or as counsel and guide to young people as Scoutmasters, big brothers, junior achievement advisers.

"This is the nation people all over the world long to come to. You and I are here. Doesn't it make sense to appreciate what we have, and be as proud of it as it deserves? And say so!"

New Deep Creek Bridge Slated

Following a meeting between the County Commissioners, officials of the state Highway Administration and State Senator William A. Wilson last Thursday evening plans were decided on a bridge project at Deep Creek Lake which will carry U. S. route 219 over the impoundment.

Funds are available for the project, according to Sen. Wilson and the SHA will process the project.

The bridge carries a heavy voluoe of traffic and is rather narrow. In addition, the headroom for boats moving beneath the bridge is restricted.

John D. Bushby, district SHA engineer, said that plans were to replace the structure with a dual lane bridge which will provide at least a 14-foot clearance for boats moving under the structure. There will be a walkway for pedestrians and also for bicyclists.

Also attending the meeting held at the Court House in Oakland were Hugh Downs, chief engineer, SHA commissioner Thomas Barton, and members of the county Planning and Zoning commission.

Senator Wilson said that in addition to the bridge project the SHA will resurface a section of State Route 135, which is in bad state of repair. The resurfacing will be done while awaiting improvements to the highway at a later date.

Man Pleads Guilty Of Robbery In Circuit Court

A Pittsburgh man pleaded guilty of robbery in Circuit Court before Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill, Jr. Tuesday morning.

William James Taylor had been charged with robbery, assault with intent to rob, petty larceny and assault. Taylor entered the home of Harold Adams early the morning of March 26. Taylor had been accompanied by a 15-year-old girl.

The two charges of assault and one of larceny were dismissed by the State's Attorney.

A pre-sentence investigation has been ordered by Judge Hamill.

Taylor has been remanded to the custody of the Sheriff of Garrett County pending a report of the investigation, without bail.

Police Investigate Robbery, Breaking, Entering At NHS

A thief of thieves broke into Northern High School early Sunday morning, causing extensive property damage and making off with some cash, stamps and sound equipment.

An acetylene torch stolen from the vocational shop was used to cut open the safe door. Some rolls of stamps valued at about $60; $170 from the office safe and $30 from the physical education department; a tape recorder, microphone and amplifier were missing.

Several doors in the building were damaged, including the office doors, in the thieves' attempt to get into the office.

Total property damage and value of the stolen items amounted to an estimated $2,257.75.

May Seems To Be Following April's Trend – Wet

May seems to be following in April's foot steps with lots more moisture. Rain has fallen on five of the last seven days. Also, there has been a variety of weather this past week with a mixture of summer-like thunder storms Tuesday night and winter-like snow last Friday.

Last Thursday night's rain turned to a combination snow and sleet on Friday. The heaviest rain day was late Tuesday night and into yesterday when .85 inches of rain fell in combination with some thunder and lightning activity. Breezes were rather strong at times. The clear days were Saturday, most of Sunday, and late yesterday after noon into this morning. In all, there was 1.24 inches of precipitation during the week.

Daytime temperatures varied from the highest, 74 degrees Monday to only a high of 49 degrees last Friday. The mercury dipped to a low of 28 degrees Sunday morning. It was warmer Tuesday morning with a low of 56 degrees. Temperatures averaged four degrees below the normal for this time of the year.

Keys to the Leighton Buick Company changed hands during the past week, when William Wilke, Pittsburgh purchased the business from the preseot owners. Shown left to right are Floyd Leighton, retired former owner, Mrs. Clarence Leighton, whose late husband was the current owner; William Wilke and Alvie Leighton, present sales manager. Mr. Wilke stated his desire to make no personnel changes at the garage. The company will now be known as Leighton Motor Company, Inc.

4 County Bills Up For Hearing

Four Garrett county measures are among the bills scheduled for a public hearing in Governor Marvin Mandel's office on Monday, May 11 it was announced by Delegate DeCorsey Bolden and John C. Eldridge, chief legislative officer of the Maryland Executive office.

The bills in question are S.B. 1118 which creates one matron-Clerk position in the sheriff's department; SB 1150 which authorizes the County Commissioners to appoint an attorney to provide legal council to the commissioners and the sheriff's department. HB 1097 removes the maximum dollar amount that may be expended in any one fiscal year for purchase of road repair and maintenance equipment; and HB 1567 requiring that any county elected or appointed board, commission, agency, authority or council to seek competitive bids on any purchase exceeding $500.

On appointment of an attorney, heretofore the attorney was appointed under the implied powers of the commissioners. This bill creates the position under a new section of the law.

Concerning HB 1097 the present ceiling is $125,000. A restriction in the bill would require

Leighton Buick Is Under New Management

Leighton Buick, Inc., Third Street, Oaklaod, got a new name and new management last week when William Wilke, of Pittsburgh, became the new operator.

The new company will be knowo as Leighton Motor Company, Inc. The change was effective on May 1 and operations began under the new name on that date.

Mr. Wilke is a Pittsburgh native, born in 1934 in Greentree Borough. At age 13 he began working in a service station and doing minor car body repairs.

At the age of 16, he began working as apprentice in a local body shop, and when only 19 he opened his own body shop in a two-car basement garage at a service station in Greentree.

In November 1963, after ten years in the body repair business, he moved to a seven-car shop and later expanded to a two-shop operation which could accommodate 27 cars.

In May 1972, he combined his body repair business in one location, and in August of that year he assumed the operation of Zip Car Rental, the largest car rental service for the insurance replacement industry.

Mr. Wilke, his wife Margaret and their six children will be residing on Fairway Drive in Oakland.

In Pittsburgh he was a member of St. Margaret's Catholic Church, the local fire department, and the Loyal Order of Moose.

Former Owner Deceased

The former owner and manager of Leighton Buick, Inc. was the late Clarence Leighton, who died January 13. He had taken over the business from his brother, Floyd, who retired October 1, 1969. The firm was started in 1928 by Floyd B. Leighton and the late Russell Leighton.

Clarence Leighton had purchased a third interest in 1936. Another brother, Merle Leighton, has been employed in the business for years, and will remain in his capacity as sales manager.

Cecil Hahn will continue as parts and service manager, and all personnel will remain in their jobs, according to Mr. Wilke.

The garage has always been located on Third Street. A new building, constructed on the site in 1934, had to be partially rebuilt in 1945 following damage by fire.

Bids For Freeway Section Sought

The State Highway Administration is advertising for bids on another section of the National Freeway in this county, according to John D. Bushby, district SHA engineer.

Specifications call for the grading, drainage and paving highway from a point 1.2 miles east of U. S. route 219, south, to .54 miles east of Shade Hollow road.

Also included will be the construction of a dual three-span continuous rolled beam bridge to carry the freeway over relocated Shade Hollow road. A single two-span bridge of continuous welded plate girders will carry the relocated Amish Road over the freeway.

The contract will also call for grading, drainage and paving of .32 miles of interchange ramp from the freeway in the area of state route 495. Grading, drainage and paving of .46 miles of relocated Amish road are also in the contract.

There will be a pre-bidding conference at the district SHA headquarters in Cumberland on May 29 at 10 a. m. Work is expected to get started in June.

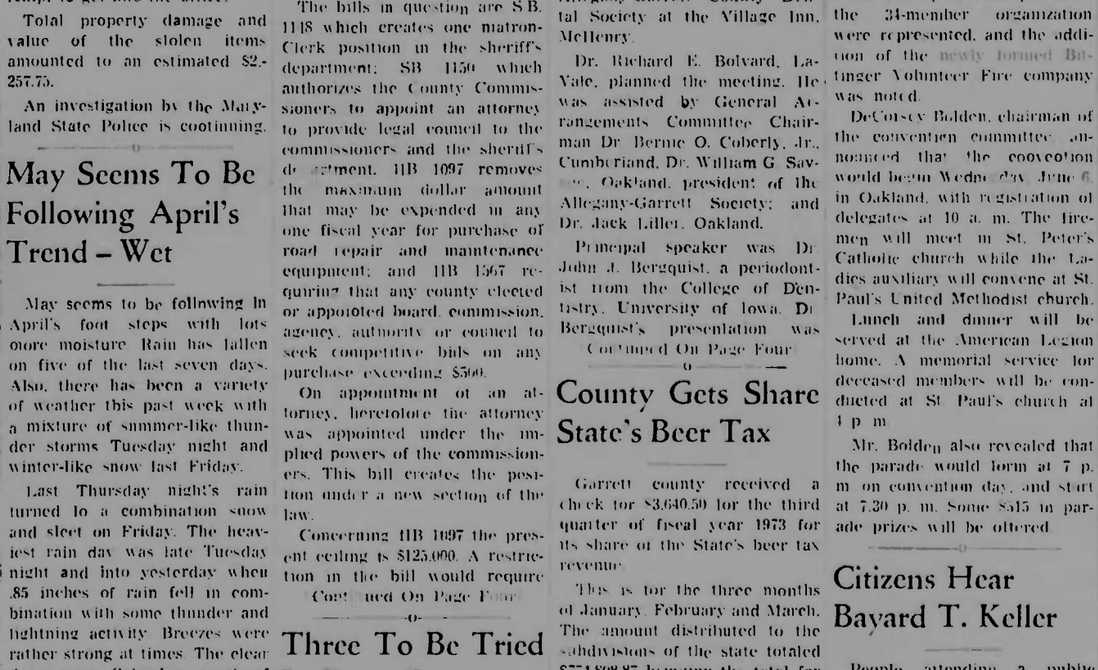
Garrett Gets $3,058 From Spirits Tax

Garrett County received $3,058 last week as its share of the state tax for distilled spirits.

This brings the amount received for the first three quarters of fiscal 1973 beginning in July 1972 to $11,752.50.

The amount given to each county is determined at the rate of 50 cents for each gallon delivered to retail establishments.

The 23 counties and Baltimore City collectively received $1,015,650 from the distilled spirits tax.



NORTHERN RESCUE SQUAD checks out Southern Rescue Squad in auto extrication as part of the Emergency Medical Technician-Ambulance training now in progress at the National Guard Armory. Identifiable in the picture are Mrs. Dotty Folk (back to camera) and Mrs. Shirley Baker of Northern Squad grading the proficiency of Southern. Mrs. Kay Carlson, victim, of simulated back injuries, is being removed on a spine board. The vehicle was furnished by Shaffer Ford Sales, Oakland. Southern Rescue Squad will complete its training May 29. Northern has been in operation since November and has already answered 87 calls.

Pilot Childhood Development Plan Set Up With CAC

David T Mason Maryland Secretary of Employment and Social Services announced last week that his department has entered into a contract with the Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc to implement a demonstration childhood development program in this county.

The program, which will cost approximately $130,000, is funded entirely through a grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission.

The program to provide childhood development services for a minimum of 118 children up to age six, will include a family center at Bradley Manor, a townhouse complex near Oakland.

Many other children and families scattered throughout the county are to receive benefits from the program, through use of home visitors and a mobile classroom.

According to G Bradford Linard, Garrett County Community Action director the program which began on May 1 will continue operation on a year-to-year basis.

The objectives of the program are to develop and demonstrate alternate delivery systems through which each eligible child and his family can receive quality services, to involve parents directly in the educational and overall development of their children, strengthening their role and skill as the child's permanent and most important provider; to provide improved health and general conditions for home and family; and to fully utilize existing resources in coordination with concerned agencies, organizations and individuals.

Named District Scout Executive

Alex McPheeters has been named the new district Scout Executive for Deep Creek district, it was announced jointly this week by William J. Rue, Potomac Council president; and Willis V. Smith, scout executive for the council.

Mr. McPheeters is a graduate of Virginia Tech, at Blacksburg, and is a native of Richmond, Va. He also spent four years in the U. S. Coast Guard. He will work with the scouting and cubbing program in this county, starting this week. He and Mr. Smith were here for the monthly meeting of district scout leaders at Southern High school. Mr. McPheeters plans to attend the national Executive's Institute for scouting, starting in July and concluding in August.

Aurora - Eglon

The Aurora High School Band participated Saturday in the annual Northern West Virginia Band festival. Audition numbers were "Royal Gorge" and "Russian Masters Suite." Annette Arnett and Nancy Roth were members of the All Festival Band which gave a concert on Friday evening. The band rated a III this year.

"The Messengers," a quartet from Oakland, will present an evening of gospel music May 19, 7:30, at the Aurora United Methodist Church.

Women of Union District celebrated May Fellowship Day on Friday, at the Aurora United Methodist Church with the Rev. Don Thomas in charge of the program which followed the covered dish luncheon.

The Union District Senior Citizens met Saturday night, May 5, at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial building. Following the supper, a short business session was held and it was decided that for the summer months the time of the covered dish meal will be set at 6:30 p.m., instead of 6:00, as it has been for the winter. This will begin with the next meeting which is the first Saturday in June. Summers McClum, Jr. Kingwood, was guest speaker and his talk was "The Aurora Community."

Services were held Sunday from St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Aurora, for Cyrus W. Moats, 70, who died May 3, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. A native of Stemple Ridge, he is survived by his widow, Edna Simmons Moats, ten sons and one daughter. Services were conducted by the Rev. Ralph E. Jacks with interment in the Aurora cemetery.

The Aurora Pioneer 4-H club met at Aurora High School, on April 9, at 7:30 p.m., with 20 4-H members and two non-members present. The club is planning to have a skating party and a trip to Beckley, W. Va., to see the outdoor production, "Honey In the Rocks" at Grandview State Park, and to other points of interest this summer. Guests were Jeanette McLinden and Dortha Forman. The next meeting will be May 4, at the school or at David Stemples at 7:30 p.m.

The Eglon Homemakers met Tuesday, May 1, at the Eglon Memorial building with Mrs. Leland (Sandy) Teets presenting the lesson on "Fashions for Summer." During the business session, conducted by president Mrs. Freda Armentrout, it was stated that the Eglon Club will again be cooperating with the Aurora Club in sponsoring an Aurora High School Junior girl to Rhododendron Girls' State at Jackson's Mill this summer. The girl chosen this year is Rita Sue Teets, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Teets, Horse Shoe Run. The Cancer Crusade will also be conducted in this area by the Homemakers. Mrs. Avenell Roth was hostess. She also displayed the special feature, two sugar eggs which she had made and several decorated and cut-out eggs made by Mrs. Ernest Shaffer. Recreation was a follow-up of last month's lesson with exercises from the Slimnastics record.

Southern Golfers Get 8th Victory

Southern High school completed a week of eight golf victories on Friday, defeating St. Francis and University High, both of Morgantown, at the Pines Golf Course in Morgantown.

Brian Frederick's low score of 36, along with the 42 recorded by teammates Dave Hinebaugh and Dave Sharps, led the Rams with 166 strokes, followed by St. Francis with 190 and University with 206.

Coach Don Stemple's Southern golfers, winning over all eight opponents this week, have additional games this week.

Dave Hinebaugh had low score of 41 and teammate Brian Frederick scored 42, pacing Southern High School's golf team to a 222-304 victory over Keyser High last Thursday at the Oakland Country club.

Don Biser was low scorer for Keyser with 55. The match was played in forty-degree weather and high winds.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Teets and children, Springfield, Va., visited this weekend with Mrs. Teets' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Myers, and other area relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Nice have moved into their new mobile home placed near the home of Mrs. Nice's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Sisler, Amboy.

Mrs. Flo Kimmel has returned to her home in Aurora from Garrett County Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Roth, Morgantown, returned Mrs. Lela Roth to her home in Eglon Sunday. She had spent a week visiting with them and other relatives there.

Mrs. C. R. Winters, Brookside, is a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital at this writing for tests and treatment.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence "Doc" Burger and Margaret Ann Sunday were their daughter, Mrs. Lois Glotfelty, Oakland; and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Burger, Ft. Ashby.

Mrs. Ilene Fint and Mrs. Jean Winters returned last Friday evening to their homes at Aurora and Eglon from a visit in Morton, Ill., with their children, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Winters.

Mrs. Pearl Forman was brought last week from the long-term care unit of Preston Memorial Hospital to the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stemple, Aurora. On Saturday she celebrated her 90th birthday with a card shower, receiving some 60 cards.

Mrs. Daisy Roberson was hospitalized last week in Preston Memorial Hospital following a heart attack. She is recovering satisfactorily and expects to return to her home this week. She is the mother of Weldon Roberson, Mt. Top.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Harsh and Mrs. Mildred Wilt were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Mildred Wilkison, Maidsville. Also visiting Mrs. Wilkison were her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Don Harsh, and sons, Warrenton, Va.

Frank Stemple and his sister, Mrs. Eva Wotring, spent the weekend in Winchester, Va., where they attended the Apple Blossom Festival and visited relatives.

Attending a county craft day held in Kingwood Thursday and sponsored by the Homemakers Council of Preston County, were Opal Myers, Marguerite Shillingburg, Mergil Fike, Nina Layman, Mary Wotring, and Nellie Wolfe all of the Aurora and Eglon communities.

Mrs. Eleanor McManus and Mrs. Evelyn Howard, Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson were Tuesday guests of Z. Bond Evans at the Willis Harsh home on Stemple Ridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Harsh were visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Harsh, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, this week. Staying in the home in their absence were Mr. Harsh's sister, Mrs. Mildred Wilt, and Mrs. Eva Wotring.

Mrs. Olive Beckman has been staying in Oakland with Mrs. Richard Travis. Mrs. Zora Shipe, who had been staying there, has been in Mt. Lake Park with Mrs. Mae Artis.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Slanbaugh, Eglon this weekend were Mrs. Slanbaugh's niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Martin, Mt. Joy, Pa., and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bingel, Palmyra, Pa.

Summons To Greatness

"Summons to Greatness," is a collection of inspirational thoughts and practical ideas from the messages and addresses of Richard M. Nixon, president of the United States.

Here is another one of the messages.

'At the turn of the century, our chief environmental concern was to conserve what we had—and out of this concern grew the often embattled but always determined 'conservaion' movement. Today 'conservation' is as important as ever—but no longer is it enough to conserve what we have; we must also restore what we have lost. We have to go beyond conservation to embrace restoration.

"Restoring nature to its natural state is a cause beyond party and beyond factions. It has become a common cause of all the people of this country. It is a cause of particular concern to young Americans—because they more than we will reap the grim consequences of our failure to act on programs which are needed now if we are to prevent disaster later.

"Through our years of part carelessness we incurred a debt to nature, and now that debt is being called.

"For all Americans, we can open the door to a new era of opportunity. We can open the door to full and effective participation in the decisions that affect their lives. We can open the door to a new partnership among governments at all levels, between those governments and the people themselves. And by so doing, we can open wide the doors of human fulfillment for millions of people here in America now and in the years to come.

"The industrial nations share no challenge more urgent than that of bringing 20th century man and his environment to terms with one another—of making the world fit for man, and helping man to learn how to remain in harmony with the rapidly changing world.

"No man can predict the ultimate shape of the new alignment that is happening in America today. But I know this: It is alive, it is moving forward, it is rooted in reality, and it calls out for you to come aboard."

Two Rape Cases Heard, One Guilty, One Sentenced

Two rape cases were heard in Circuit Court last Friday. One man was sentenced following a pre-sentence investigation and the other pleaded guilty to the charge of rape.

Jerry Woodrow Waybright of Bradley Manor had pleaded guilty to the charge of statutory rape at a trial March 27 at which time a pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

Last Friday Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., as the result of the investigation, sentenced Waybright to the custody of Secretary of Health and Mental Hygene. Judge Hamill ordered the Sheriff to deliver Waybright to the Backbone Mt. Forestry Camp from which he is to be released by due process of the law. The judge further ordered that when he is released from the Forestry Camp, he is to be placed on probation for an additional three years.

Waybright had been charged with four counts including: two of assault, rape, and statutory rape last October 19 at Bradley Manor. Of the four charges, two charges of assault and one of rape had been dismissed at the March trial.

Kenneth Ray Broadwater had been charged with assault, assault with intent to rape and rape at Kitzmiller February 10.

At the trial last Friday, Broadwater pleaded guilty to the charge of rape. The two assault charges were dismissed. He was delivered to the custody of the sheriff pending the result of a pre-sentence investigation. Charges had been filed in District Court but were transferred to Circuit Court ten days after the incident.

TOPS Club Gains In Membership

The Bayard TOPS club gained three new members at a meeting Monday, April 30 to make total membership now nineteen.

The biggest loser in April was Alice Lippy Young, lost nine pounds. Alice Dunham was runner-up with a loss of eight and one-half pounds.

The week before Easter each member was asked to bring a funny hat. Those who did were rewarded with home made, low calorie candy made by Jean Head, leader.

Couple To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Wiles, Maryland avenue, Westernport, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Linda Marlene, to Rev. Donald Eugene Webb, son of Rev. and Mrs. Mitchell Webb, route 3, Bedford Valley, Pa.

Miss Wiles is a 1969 graduate of Bruce High school, Westernport, and will be graduating this month from Frostburg State College with a teaching degree in elementary education.

Rev. Webb is a 1969 graduate of Fort Chiswell high school, attended one year at an engineering college in Virginia and will be graduating in June with a ministerial degree from Southeastern Bible college, Lakeland, Fla.

The wedding date has been set for July 14.

Miss Wiles is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Boteman, who were former residents of this county.

Beall Is Commencement Speaker At Frostburg

U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., will deliver the address at the 70th annual Commencement ceremonies at Frostburg State College on Sunday, May 27, it was announced by Dr. Nelson P. Guild, president of the college.

Frostburg State College will confer nearly 650 undergraduate and graduate degrees at the public ceremonies scheduled for 2:30 p. m. on the college's quadrangle.

A native of Frostburg, Sen. Beall began his career in politics in 1962 when he was elected to the Maryland House of Delegates. He was elected to the U. S. House of Representatives in 1968 and then to the U. S. Senate in 1970, a seat once held by his father, the late Sen. J. Glenn Beall, Sr.

Russia's Chief Export: Strife

Previously noted has been the great force of Virginia Cowles' book, "The Russian Dagger: Cold War in the Days of the Czars" (Harper and Row, N. Y.) in showing that Soviet Russia follows Czarist Russia in a direct line at home and abroad—only more so.

Whereas the Czars depended, for penetration into foreign countries, upon a Russian bureau or bureaus and a limited number of spies and agents, the Communist Russians, operating behind a smokescreen of propaganda, have great armies of willing agents in every civilized nation today, ready to help carry out the expansion of Soviet power.

In the days of the Czars, the smokescreen consisted of a movement called "Pan-Slavism," under which the Slavic brothers in such "distant" lands as Poland, Bohemia (now Czechoslovakia), Bulgaria, Slovenia, Herzegovina, Serbia and Croatia (now Yugoslovakia) were to be united one day. The fact that the Russians then intended also to "unite" themselves with the Turks, Greeks, Romanians, Hungarians, and Albanians (who were not Slavs) was not deemed worthy of explanation.

Now that the Russians operate Communist "parties" in all countries throughout the world, with Russia as the homeland and heartland, they are enabled to expand in nearly all directions, whenever or wherever opportunity beckons.

In 1839 the French Marquis de Custine wrote that people in Petersburg (now Leningrad) were saying: "Europe is enervating herself by a vain liberalism, while we continue powerful precisely because we are not free. Let us be patient under the yoke; others shall some day pay for our shame."

Now, Miss Cowles writes, the "great slave country is expiating its sins by forcing its neighbors to share its shame." So Russia requires others to sacrifice everything, "particularly hope and honor." It is a lesson to be learned, whether we like it or not. —U. S. Press Association.

convention. She has served the National Federation in numerous capacities, culminating in her national presidency in 1965-66. She assumes the triple role of wife, business woman and community leader with dedication. Mrs. Leslie is executive vice president of K and W Supply House, Inc., as well as co-owner and secretary-treasurer of three companies, including Krauss Air Conditioning, Inc., in St. Petersburg, Florida.

For her participation in community affairs, Mrs. Leslie received a citation for "Outstanding Service to St. Petersburg," in 1962. In 1965 she was a member of the All American Cities Jury, which was sponsored by Look Magazine and the National Municipal League.

In the interest of global understanding, Mrs. Leslie has traveled nationally and internationally. In April, 1965 she was the guest of the West German Government in the interest of international understanding. She also visited many of our neighboring countries in Central and South America.

A graduate of Auburn University, she is a member of Mortar Board and Delta Zeta social sorority. She is listed in "Who's Who of American Women" and "Who's Who of the South and Southwest."

Miss Mildred Wucik, chairman of the Young Careerist, will present the young career women. Mrs. Mary C. Hipp is the county representative.

At the annual banquet Saturday evening Dr. Lawrence Sherwood, St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, will give the Invocation. Miss Antoinette Joseph, office of the assistant general manager for energy and development programs, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, will be the speaker.

Rev. Richard McCullough, Frostburg State College, will conduct ecumenical services on Sunday morning, followed by a memorial service honoring deceased members.

Wayne Hamilton, president of the County Commissioners, will extend greetings at the formal opening Friday evening. The color guard furnished by Co. C, 121st engineer battalion, Maryland National Guard, Oakland, will present colors and the pledge of allegiance.

Anne G. Bell, Oakland, will be the soloist Friday evening and also on Sunday morning following installation of new officers. Marguerite Hess, Frederick, will be accompanist.

The Maryland Federation is composed of 25 clubs representing over 1,000 business and professional women whose objectives are to elevate the standards for women in business and the professions; to promote the interests of business and professional women; to bring about a spirit of cooperation among business and professional women of the United States; and to extend opportunities to business and professional women through education along lines of industrial, scientific and vocational activities.

tion of talking about most anything.

He declared that the course the United States was pursuing could mean the difference between surviving or falling, and he emphasized that "America could fall."

He pointed out the reckless use of our resources, that the American people through the years had not taken from nature when they needed, but what they wanted.

He termed "integrity" one of the most important attributes, and one that was necessary if we were to keep the respect of the other nations of the world.

He called attention to two courses the country was following, scientific exploration and firing projectiles to the moon, on the one hand, and the other, dropping bombs on another part of the world.

He was optimistic that reason would prevail and that the difficulties faced by the government today, would be surmounted.

Mr. Keller, nephew of Miss Ruth Keller, Oakland, was in military intelligence during World War II. He served three years as chief representative of the department of defense in Turkey. In July he will go to Germany where his title will be Chief-Combined Group Germany.

He emphasized he was speaking unofficially. His talk was sponsored by the League of Women Voters. Approximately 75 people attended.

the amount to be spent to be placed in the annual budget.

In regard to competitive bids of HB 1567, Mr. Bolden said it was concluded that this bill should be vetoed, because the necessity for any emergency purchases was not provided in the bill. However Mr. Bolden said that the bill would be rewritten and introduced next year with these provisions.

Continuing Mr. Bolden said the reason certain bills were scheduled for a hearing was that a request had been made. This permits the governor to listen to the proponents and the opponents before signing or refusing to sign the measure. Persons desiring to express their views should write or contact Mr. Eldridge at the State house in Annapolis, Bolden said.

Southern Takes Pair From Lions of Piedmont

Southern High's baseball team stayed undefeated in the Potomac Valley conference with a doubleheader sweep last Thursday at Piedmont.

Ernie Shotwell was the winning pitcher in both games. He went the route in the lidlifter, a five inning affair won by the Rams 17 to 1, and got credit for the seven-inning nightcap in relief. Southern won this one 9 to 6.

Ram Golfers Win PVC Tournament

With five of its golfers atop the leading scorer list, Southern High school cruised to an easy victory in the first Potomac Valley Conference Golf tournament over four other schools yesterday at the Oakland Country club.

Jim McHenry led all scorers with a low stroke total of 84, followed closely by teammate Jim Ashby who had 88, as Coach Don Stemple's Rams finished with 345 strokes.

Keyser placed second with 407, followed by Beall's 411, Petersburg with 438 and Moorefield with 454.

Dave Sharps and Dave Hinebaugh and Brian Frederick shared third place honors in individual scoring with 88 strokes each. Moray Vetler, Moorefield, was fourth with 89 strokes.

Fifth was Jeff Hile of Southern with 90.

The tournament was sanctioned by the PVC at the spring meeting of the athletic organization, and it was hoped that a league would be formed for next season.

Southern High will host University High of Morgantown today and on Friday will play at Moorefield. The Rams will host the Maryland district L tournament on May 29.

Cumberland Man Tries Suicide Here Tuesday

Oakland police were called to Oak-Land Motel about 4 a. m. May 8, after a Cumberland man apparently attempted to commit suicide there after a domestic quarrel.

The man was taken by ambulance to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he is listed in satisfactory condition. The Manager of the motel had heard a disturbance and found the Cumberland resident had attempted to slash his wrists.

Fight at Armory

City police had also responded to a call early Sunday morning at the National Guard Armory, where two men were fighting. Several other individuals were also involved, but the disturbance had ended before police arrived on the scene, and little information was available.

Wins Promotion

Mrs. Donald D. Hetrick is among the beauty advisors in America who was promoted to the position of manager of Studio Girl. She is from Grantsville.

Mrs. Hetrick won the promotion because of her record of personal sales and recruiting. She started with Studio Girl as beauty advisor, then became a counselor, then official beauty show trainer, a meeting leader and now manager.

At the Holiday Inn at Silver Spring on May 6 Mrs. Hetrick (Ruthie) received her gold manager award emblem set with an emerald and mounted on a gold base pin.

Three Injured In Northern County Vehicle Accidents

Three persons were injured in accidents in the northern part of the county recently.

Sherri Lynn Stone, Meyersdale, Pa. was injured in a one-car wreck about 10:30 the evening of April 28. Her car was called a total loss. She was driving south on U. S. Route 219 when she appearently fell asleep. The car went off the right side of the road, struck an embankment and overturned. Trooper David A. Miller charged her with negligent driving.

Two persons were injured in a two-truck accident on U. S. Route 40 in Gramsville the afternoon of April 23. Paul L. Harman, RD I, Frostburg, driver of a truck, and a passenger, Robert S. Hay, in a pick-up driven by Junior W. Guthrie, both of Grantsville, were taken to the Meyersdale (Pa.) hospital by the Northern Rescue Squad. Harman, traveling west on Rt. 40, was struck by the Guthrie pick-up which failed to yield the right-of-way coming out of Penna. Ave. Tfc. C. D. Skidmore investigated the accident.

A deer was the cause of an accident on U. S. Route 40 near the Zaner road the evening of April 27. Robert D. Muser, Washington, Pa., was traveling east when a deer ran into the side of his car from the south side of the road. Trooper Miller made no charges.

Column For Homemakers

By Mrs. Freda Denison Extension Agent

Spare Those Old Tires

There is a lot of fun—and backyard fun—left in old, discarded tires. Instead of scrapping, recycle them with a thorough scrubbing of detergent suds applied with a heavy duty brush. Hose rinse and let dry completely.

For young children, they can be used educationally. Arrange tires in a pattern close together and let children learn muscle control and balance by walking the edges, stepping from one tire to another, jumping from the run into the center hole—all kinds of games.

Try making a small incline with a sturdy board leading to a solid platform. Stack two or three tires at the edge of the platform and see the fun as children "walk the plank" and jump into the center of the tires. The tires are not hard and have no sharp edges, therefore slips while learning won't be serious. Clean tires can even be used in a family room for rainy-day fun, announced Freda Denison, Ext. Agent, Home Economics.

Children aren't the only beneficiaries of these castoffs. Homemakers can use old tires to create interesting oases of flowers or tires of strawberry plants. After scrubbing, apply a coat of exterior enamel paint to the tires and add a design if you wish, either free hand or with stencils. When the paint is thoroughly dry, fill tires with soil and plant.

If you cannot use the tires yourself, wash them anyway, and consider donating them to an interested local nursery, kindergarten, or head start schools.

Officers For Council Of Alleghenies Elected

Officers of the Council of the Alleghenies for 1973-74 were elected at a recent executive board meeting of the Council.

New officers include Dr. Raymond McCullough, Friendsville, president; I. N. Hagan, Chalk Hill, Pa., vice president; Dr. Alta Schrock, Grantsville, executive secretary and editor of the Journal; Ralph Race, Frostburg, treasurer; Mrs. Edward Stepp, Frostburg, recording secretary, and Mrs. Harold Cordts, Frostburg, program chairman.

Newly elected members to the executive board include Clyde Moor of Ohiopyle, Pa. and Jack T. Slocomb of Cumberland.

Northern Defeats Terra Alta 13-1

Northern High Huskies erupted for 11 runs in the fourth inning to crush host Terra Alta 13 to 1 Tuesday afternoon.

The Huskies, nursing a slim 2-1 lead, took advantage of the host team's errors and wildness by Meising, along with the extra base power of Lewis Humberson to score the 11 tallies. Humberson smacked a double and triple during the Northern uprising.

Mike Swauger and Vernon Snyder shared four safeties as Northern collected nine hits in the five inning contest. Humberson allowed just two hits and fanned seven, while walking three in gaining the victory.

Also playing for Northern were Robinson, Slagle, Bender, Sines, Graves, Blocher and Swauger.

Thirteen Killed On State Highways

Thirteen persons lost their lives on Maryland highways last week, according to Sergeant James E. Harvey of the Maryland State Police. Four of those killed were drivers, five were passengers and four were pedestrians. The opinion of the investigating officers was that death might have been prevented in at least five of the collisions had seat belts been in use.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in one of the deaths, speed in eight and "driver error" in eleven.

Persons killed through May 6 totaled 271 compared to 265 for a year ago.

Prior Service Men May Obtain Discharges

Prior service men who have reached 26 to 35 years of age may secure a copy of their discharge form at the local draft board No. 47 in Oakland if it is on file, it was announced by Miss Katherine Campbell, secretary. She said these forms, DD Form 214, would be destroyed if the individual does not come to the board or call before June 14.

All males when they reach their 18th birthday, are still required to register for the draft. Persons may register 30 days prior or 30 days following their birthday, she said.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

One of the great blessings God has brought to his people and which opens up the way for man to share in even more of the blessings God has in store for his children is the Blessing of forgiveness. Sometimes we tend to forget what a blessing forgiveness is, and as a result some of the joyous release and relief and thankfulness wears off and our Christian witnesss is not the shining light it should and can be. Our zeal to serve wears off and serving becomes a drudgery or we quit altogether.

To assist us in a refresher course on how important forgiveness is in the experience of man, let us look briefly at the story in the gospel of John, chapter 8, where some religious people bring a woman to Jesus and tell him she has been caught in the act of adultery. They then ask him what to do with her. The religious law directed such a person to be stoned to death. Jesus takes his time answering the question of the crowd and finally tells them that those in the group who are without sin should throw the first stone. Of course all men sin, so instead of stoning the woman, condemning another sinner, they all left thinking about their own sins. Evidently it didn't seem right for a sinner to kill another person for sinning. Jesus then shows us how God, in his love, does not destroy the sinner, but cleans him up and makes a new person out of him. The sinner becomes a new creature in Christ Jesus, with a new life.

Tradition tells us that this woman became a devoted servant and follower of Jesus from that time, not serving because she was afraid not to, but because out of her thankfulness and gladness she wanted to serve and follow.

When we remember the joyous release and relief of forgiveness, the promise that it brings of life eternal with God, then our witness, our following, our serving, will regain its original luster, energy and enthusiasm, and will be a want to relationship. Our life with Christ will be a life of happiness and joy, of peace and good will, of assurance and trust. Our Christian life will be a challenge and an inspiration.

But, first we must realistically face and accept out guilt. We are not innocent before God. If we compare ourselves with other men we may think we are good, but, when we compare our life with Jesus Christ, and what life in him can be then we can see our need and understand our shortcomings much clearer.

When we compare his faith and devotion to God with our own; when we compare his love for others, especially those who are difficult to love; when we see his devotion to the scripture; when we see the time he was willing to give to a life with God, when we look at his life of prayer; these alone should be enough to reveal even to the most stubborn of us something of the extent of our need. Now, add to this our ignorance, which is largely self imposed because we are too lazy to work to learn; our selfishness, our attitude of temperament and social unconcern and our over indulgence in pleasing our physical desires, and, our sin of omission; it is easy to see that we all stand very much in need of God's forgiving love.

Our thankfulness for forgiveness should increase when we remind ourselves that there is no other way to be made clean outside God's way of admitting our guilt, asking God to forgive us, and in faith accepting that forgiveness on the promise of God's word. In second Chronicles God's word brings us this certain promise, "If my people, who are called by my name, will humble themselves and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked way; then will I hear from heaven and forgive their sins, and heal their land."

Also from first John 1:9 "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just, and will forgive our sins and cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

One further part of the story of the woman Jesus did not condemn. Jesus said to her, "Go your way and sin no more". True repentance includes being sorry for our sins, asking God's forgiveness and living daily with the intention of leading a new life, following the commandments of God and walking from henceforth in his holy ways. In other words, go your way serving God and intend to sin no more' However, the scripture tells us that if we do sin we should come to God for forgiveness again.

God help us as we remember the blessing of forgiveness to gain a new lease on the Christian faith, to regain our life of thankful release and joyful service. To those who have never experienced the joy of God's forgiveness one of the greatest blessings ever made available to all men is available and waiting for you if you will only trust in God and accept it. I am sure that any minister or Christian layman would be glad to assist any who would like to have some help in finding and understanding God's blessing of forgiveness.

Southern Nine Trims Petersburg

The Petersburg Vikings dropped a 4-1 decision to Southern High baseball team last Wednesday afternoon at Petersburg.

The Rams' Paul Lewis limited the Vikings to only three hits. Donnie and Junior Upole took care of the scoring for Southern High while Paul Lewis was blanking the Vikings.

Junior Upole got to first base and then Donnie Upole hit a liner to center field. The ball got beyond the center fielder and both runners tallied on the three base error.

Sutphin singled to lead off the seventh inning and Ingram got aboard on an error and both runners scored on a double by Junior Upole.

Sanctuary Dedication Postponed Few Weeks

The dedication of the church sanctuary of the Mt. Lake Park Independent Baptist church, scheduled for Sunday, May 13, has been postponed for a few weeks, it was announced by Rev. Allen Britt, pastor.

There has been a delay in acquiring carpeting and furnishings for the sanctuary, and appropriate notice will be given when the furnishings do arrive.

Lynn Valley 4-H Chooses

Representatives to the county 4-H demonstrations from the Lynn Valley 4-H Club were chosen at a meeting last Thursday evening at the Aid Hall, Loch Lynn.

Those chosen are: Steve Lichty, handyman; Susan Mason, personal appearene, Tammy Mason, dairy; Connie Bernard, flowers; Rhonda Lichty, nutrition; Jane Plessinger, pastries, and Nancy Plessingr, arts and crafts.

The county 4-H demonstrations are to be held at the Accident Fire Hall June 2. Those chosen at this demonstration will go on to State competition.

Plans for 4-H Sunday, May 27 were also discussed at last Thursday's meeting. Plans for a demonstration on artificial respiration is planned for the future.

To Play for Preakness

The Southern senior band will travel to Baltimore over the weekend and participate in the Showcase of Music. On Friday night they will perform in Memorial Stadium along with nine other bands from all over the United States. On Sunday they will march in the Preakness parade. The band has been practicing all week in preparation for this band trip.

Junior Band at Winchester

The Southern junior band took second place in the Apple Blossom parade at Winchester, Virginia, last Friday. The band competed in the junior high category, and received a trophy for their efforts. They traveled by school buses and were chaperoned by several parents and director Richard Clever.

Visit National Art Gallery

The art appreciation class and eight graders of Southern High School left at six a. m., May 7, to tour the National Art Gallery in Washington, D. C. Accompanying the students were Miss Frances Patterson and Miss Patricia Filsinger, two of the art teachers of Southern.

The students, who were divided into groups, went to see what each group preferred. There were paintings of all time periods, beginning with early Italian to modern day art. The students' favorite period was the Impressionistic paintings. Besides the unusual exhibits, the gallery had a special Eskimo exhibit. The students also toured the Smithsonian Institution.

Ecology Classes Visit

Ruthvan Morrow's ecology classes went by bus to Dolly Sods and Canaan Valley as a supplement to their nature studies last Friday. Mr. Mortow, who is a naturalist and who knows the area well, pointed out the many interesting phenomena of nature.

Despite the fact that it was May, it was snowing at Dolly Sods. The cold weather limited the time the students were able to explore and forced them to walk fast to keep from freezing. The highlight of the trip was climbing Bell Knob Tower and seeing the view for miles around.

On the return trip, Mr. Morrow induced Ben Sincell and Paula Browning to sample some of his fresh ramps. This added an interesting oder to the venture, besides adding to the authenticity of a trip through West Virginia.

At age 75, a New York man enjoys running.

Odor Reduction Program Passed Mid Point At Luke

A major $1.3 million odor reduction program designed to install capacity to lower odorous emissions to 5 percent of 1970 levels at Westvaco's Luke mill has now passed the mid-point of construction according to a report by Arthur L. Noble, mill manager.

The three-phase program consists principally of installing a new hot water accumulator tank, three new heat exchangers, extensive pumps, piping and condensers. The final phase will include incineration of the odorous gases.

Phase I has been completed, foundations have been poured and heat exchangers erected for Phase II of the program. Union Boiler Company, Nitro, W. Va., has the mechanical contract and Queen City Electric Company, Cumberland, has the electrical contract.

Site preparations and pouring of the foundations for a secondary condenser in Phase III of the program is underway now. Installation of 1100 feet of 6-inch stainless steel pipe will be started in May. Completion of the program is expected mid-July when collecting and incineration of the mill's odorous gases will be accomplished in a power boiler.

National Hospital Week Observed By Garrett Memorial

The Garrett County Memorial Hospital in Oakland has joined more than 7,000 hospitals in observing National Hospital Week, May 6-12, to honor those persons employed in health care institutions. This year's theme is "Your Hospital . . . A Caring Community—Your Health . . . Our Common Concern."

National Hospital Week, sponsored by the American Hospital Association, is being observed by the local hospital and began with the annual membership tea by the Loar Auxiliary Tuesday afternoon.

The goal of National Hospital Week is focused on how people who work in hospitals are meeting the changing and challenging health care needs of the American people.

Merritt H. Feather, administrator, said that to provide the services necessary for efficient operation the hospital maintains the following departments: Nursing, Pharmacy, Laboratory, X-Ray, Medical Records, Accounting, Insurance, Plant Operation, Housekeeping, Laundry, Dietary, Emergency, and General Stores.

"Older Americans In Action"

by Phillip Barton
Project Coordinator

In recognition of the month of May as Senior Citizens Month, the Ruth Enlow Library is displaying various arts and crafts made by Garrett County senior citizens. The exhibit includes a number of handmade articles, such as quilts, wood sculpture, a furnished doll house, rugs, crocheted slippers, afghans and beadwork.

The contributors to the display include Mae Artis, Mrs. Robert Ford, Freda Handwork, Nellie Harsh, Ethel Hetrick, Ethel Kelly, Agnes Lantz, Elizabeth Martin, Carl Miller, Della Moomaw, Mr. and Mrs. John Rembold, Afie Sisler, Myrtle Spencer, Claude Yoder, Olen Yoder, Pauline Yoder, and patients of the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home.

The display is built around the theme "Older Americans in Action." It was arranged by Catherine Willard, who assists in the operations of the Community Center Libraries Project. One of the primary groups being served through the Community Center Libraries Project is senior citizens. Presently, movies are being shown following the senior citizens luncheons in Kitzmiller, Crellin, and Jennings. Also, a number of arts and crafts books have been placed in the community libraries, particularly for use by the senior citizen groups.

The project is also providing library services to the two nursing homes in Garrett County—the Goodwill Mennonite Home, Grantsville, and the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home, Oakland. The library is now sponsoring a bi-weekly film program, and regular filmstrip presentations at the nursing homes. There are also book deposits in both homes, which include a selection of large-print books. At the Cuppett-Weeks Home a new idea for circulating books is successfully being tried out. The books are kept on a book cart which is taken from room to room by volunteers once a week. Thereby, it is hoped that more of the patients, especially those who are invalid, will have the opportunity to choose their own reading materials. The library was also instrumental in organizing a group of people who regularly visit the Goodwill Home to read aloud to some of the patients.

There is a great deal of artistic talent in Garrett County which is often overlooked. Such talent exists among both the young and the old, as readily can be seen at the library now, since the library is also exhibiting artwork done by students at Southern Junior-Senior High School. It is hoped that county residents will take a few minutes to stop at the library to see some of the achievements of Garrett County's young and elderly artists and craftsmen.

The family has requested that expressions of sympathy take the form of contributions to the Cancer society.

One Injured In Glendale Bridge Accident Thursday

One person was hospitalized last Thursday following a two-car collision on the Glendale Bridge near Thayerville. Three other accidents last week resulted in moderate to light vehicle damage and no apparent personal injuries. One wreck involved a tractor-trailer on the Route 219 bridge.

Gordon David Green, 30, McHenry, driver of one car, was admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where he remained over night. Denise Ann Harvey, Swanton, was driving west on the Glendale bridge and Gordon D. Green, east, both in the center of the roadway. The two collided head-on near the middle of the bridge. The accident occurred 8:30 last Thursday morning. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater charged both drivers with not giving a motor vehicle passing in the opposite direction sufficient space to pass.

Taylor Mark Sines, RD 1, Oakland, was driving south in a pickup on the Herrington Manor road just north of Leighton Drive the evening of April 30. Kenneth L. Schultz, DuBois, Pa., traveling north in a Scout swerved to avoid a collision with the Sines truck. The two vehicles sideswiped on a curve. Tfc. Robert E. Friend charged Sines with failing to keep to the right of center of the roadway.

John M. Wells, Media, Ohio, was traveling north in a tractor-trailer, crossing the Route 219 bridge at McHenry. In passing through, the top of the trailer struck part of the bridge super structure half-way across the bridge. Tfc. Broadwater made no charges. Damage was moderate.

Robert Dean Kisner, Jr., Mt. Lake Park, was traveling south on U. S. Route 219 just south of the Foster Road late last Friday evening when a deer jumped in his path. The deer had come from the right and Kisner swerved to avoid hitting but did. Trooper Dale K. Williams made no charges. The deer was killed.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

New Dog Licenses Must Be Purchased on or before July 1, 1973

No Extensions Will Be Permitted

As set out in Article 56, Annotated Code of Maryland (1957 Edition) dog licenses expire on June 30, 1973, and new licenses must be purchased. Persons owning dogs should secure the proper tag immediately as the law will be enforced and those persons owning dogs without a license will be subject to provisions as set out in said law as follows: "Any person violating or refusing to comply with any of the provisions of this sub-title shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, which upon conviction thereof before any Justice of the Peace of the County in which he resides, or in the Circuit Court of said County, shall be fined a sum of not less than five dollars nor more than twenty five dollars or shall be imprisoned in the County Jail for not more than thirty days or shall be both fined and imprisoned in the descretion of the Court. It shall be the duty of the State's Attorney, the Sheriff, and the Constables of the several Counties of the State to prosecute all persons found violating the Law by refusing to comply with its provisions."

Tags may be secured from the County Treasurer, Oakland, Maryland. For the convenience of the public, forms to be mailed to the County Treasurer for dog tags have been placed at the following locations in the County:

Accident	Matthew's Store
Bloomington	The Havelot
Finzel	Warner's Store
Friendsville	U & W Clover Farm
Friendsville	Schlossnagle's Store
Grantsville	Long Stretch Market
Kitzmiller	Sower's Texaco Service Station
McHenry	Walt's General Store

Applications may also be obtained at the Courthouse, Oakland, Maryland.

The County Treasurer requests that remittance for tags be made by check or money order, as she will not be responsible for cash sent by mail.

To have a town clean and beautiful should be the ambition of everyone of its citizens.

Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me as Mayor, and with the hearty approval of many conscientious citizens, I hereby proclaim

CLEAN UP & PAINT UP WEEK

Town Trucks Will Haul Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday

You are being asked to:

- Clean up your rubbish
- Banish the plague spots
- Clean up those vacant lots of rubbish, weeds and junk

We need a thorough cleaning and renovation. It is the sensible thing to do for health, safety, pride and happiness of all our people.

If you will cooperate and comply with this simple request, you will avoid the expense of having the town do your job and rendering you a bill.

If our town employees should miss any rubbish during this campaign do not hesitate to call City Hall, phone 334-2691, giving name and place of same, and it will be removed.

Accident Man Makes Driftwood Come Alive

Some of Carl F. Miller's driftwood pieces are displayed on their dining room table. The large Indian figure in the center took approximately 24 hours to complete. Mr. Miller says he works only when he feels like it, and has completed twenty in the past eight years since he retired from active farming. Nearly all of his works show graceful action and movement, which Mr. Miller says is inherent in each piece of driftwood when he finds it. He can recognize a form as an animal, Indian, etc., almost the minute he sees a likely looking lump of wood.

When the average person looks at a piece of driftwood, he sees only a piece of wood, usually knobby and bumpy and oddly shaped.

When Carl F. Miller, Accident, looks at a piece of driftwood he immediately sees a dancer, donkey or maybe an Indian.

Mr. Miller has been interested in working with driftwood for many years. He spends hours polishing his pieces with a wood rasp, blending the general shape of the piece to the image he forms in his mind.

Most of the driftwood Mr. Miller uses he has found in the Savage River area. Some wood he finds on his large farm located not far from the small community where his family has lived for many years.

The wood pieces themselves are often polished smooth by action of water and rocks as they are carried downstream for miles from their original entering place.

Nearly every piece of wood in Mr. Miller's stockpile has already taken a definite shape in his mind. As soon as he sees a likely looking piece of wood, he can visualize it as a graceful dancing form, an Indian preparing to draw an arrow from his quiver, a wild boar, or a replica of Jesus on the cross.

Some forms need only minor polishing and staining, some need more extensive work before the object matches Mr. Miller's ideal.

The ones needing more extensive work are painstakingly fitted together if necessary, using small nails and glue. Plastic wood is used as filler if needed to fill in unwanted crevices.

After he is satisfied that the real object matches his original mind's eye image, Mr. Miller sands the piece, then uses a dark or light wood stain followed by a polishing with oxblood shoe polish.

So far Mr. Miller has completed about 20 art pieces from driftwood. He has been doing most of his work in the last eight years, since his barn burned and he more or less retired from active farming. Some years ago Mr. Miller's carvings were featured in the Sunday magazine section of the Baltimore Sun. He says he works as he feels like it, so he can take his time to get the wood finished exactly as he wants it.

Several of his works have been exhibited at the local county fair, and he has had many offers from people interested in buying his work. Some pieces he has given to friends.

Most of his work, however, he is keeping for family heirlooms, to pass on to the families of his son Richard, who teaches art at Northern High School, and his wife Betty; his son Ralph, who is a traveling art teacher in the county school system, his wife Mary and their baby daughter, Heather Lynn, pride and joy of her grandparents' lives.

Both sons live on the home property, which Mr. Miller inherited from his father, William. Mr. Miller has lived on the 179-acre farm all his life, except for a few years while he was away to attend the Maryland Institute of Art.

The Miller home itself is a high-ceilinged, large-family-type farm home displaying objects handed down through the family. The home is decorated with paintings, by Mr. Miller, who notes that he is "not painting much now," and by his son Richard. Mr. Miller's works, in both oils and pastels, include a seascape and a landscape.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller, who have been married 35 years, while away many winter hours together at a rug frame, hooking rugs. Mrs. Miller also enjoys braiding wool rugs of scrap material pieces, recycling these into long lasting, warm and decorative home rugs.

In the summertime, the Millers care for a large garden.

Both these modest and unassuming people exemplify the best traits of many Garrett Countians, including the ability to use their talents in ways that bring comfort and beauty from overlooked and undervalued remnants of wood and cloth.

Article and pictures
by Carol Canan

Mr. Miller demonstrates how he carefully rasps away knobs and bumps on the wood pieces he uses. The top part is a separate piece, which would be joined to the lower section with small nails and glue.

Holding one of her beautifully soft handmade wool rugs is Mrs. Carl F. Miller, Accident. Mr. and Mrs. Miller also spend winter hours hooking rugs for their home and family.

A road runner, a donkey, a cowboy, a "wild" boar and a horned animal take the spotlight in the Carl F. Miller residence, near Accident. These are some of the more than 20 pieces Mr. Miller has created from driftwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller stand beside their most awe-inspiring piece, which needs little description. This work is composed of several pieces of driftwood found by Mr. Miller.

Carved men display Mr. Miller's ability to bring a piece of driftwood to life. A smooth, glossy finish is obtained with liberal use of oxblood shoe polish, combined with lots of hand rubbing to bring out the sheen and highlight detail.

Elected President Of University Club

I. Robert Rudy, student at Ohio university at Athens, Ohio, was recently elected president of the J Club, a junior men's honorary at the school.

The club consists of eleven outstanding men from the entire junior class. The selection is based on character, leadership, service to campus and community and scholastic achievement.

Rudy was one of those tapped for membership in November. He was named president at the regular May meeting, and will serve for one year.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin R. Rudy, Oakland, he is treasurer of Sigma Chi social fraternity, is now working with the Ohio university alumni relations office, traveling around the state and attending alumni meetings. He also has been employed part time at Stiffler Shoes in Athens for the past three years, and worked on the campaign of Claire Ball in his state representative race last November.

Oral History Program May Develop In Garrett County

by Mr. & Mrs. Paul Calderwood

Four people from Garrett County attended the Oral History Seminar held in Baltimore on April 11.

Organizations from this county represented in this group were the Ruth Enlow Library, Community Action and the Historical Society.

Everyone was impressed with the information presented during the seminar and which is available from the Oral History office of the Maryland Historical Society. Each one returned home inspired to try to implement a program in our county.

In line with this, a meeting was announced for April 26, inviting all interested persons to attend. Approximately eight were present and some very worthwhile discussion ensued. This group, representing the Library, Community Action, and the Historical Society, felt that the effort should be a united one, with each organization contributing whatever it could to the project. It was also felt that invitations should be extended to the high schools and Garrett Community College to participate.

If the schools could include Oral History activities in their curricula, it could be the source of much needed manpower for various aspects of the program. School involvement could include classes in history, journalism, typing, transcribing from taped recordings, to name a few possibilities.

Following this meeting, a few from the group discussed the matter with a representative of the Community College and the idea was well received.

The annual banquet of the Garrett County Historical Society will be held on Thursday evening, June 28, at the Volunteer Fire Department's Community room, Friendsville, at 6:30.

A family-style roast beef dinner will be served, at $3.25 per person. The speaker will be Dr. Harry I. Stegmaier, professor of history at Frostburg State College.

All are invited to attend. Send reservations, with remittance, to Mrs. Carl Cathell, Ronte 1, Box 224, by June 23rd. Also, please include names of those attending.

SANG RUN

Mrs. Michael Barsh and Mary Lou, and William Trout, Pittsburgh, visited Mr. and Mrs. Milton DeWitt Monday.

Mrs. Mae Mayle, Mrs. Milton DeWitt and Debbie, and Ann Speicher visited Mrs. Anna Wilhelm Sunday.

John DeWitt, Gaithersburg, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale DeWitt, over the weekend.

Mrs. Doris Rodeheaver, Mrs. Peder Baasland, and Martin Friend attended the funeral of Floyd Friend at Cumberland on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Long, Georgetown, Ill.; and Mrs. Leslie Rodeheaver visited Mrs. Doris Rodeheaver Saturday.

Billy Buchanan, Lusby, visited Mr. and Mrs. Martin Friend over the weekend.

Named Outstanding

U. S. Air Force Sergeant David R. Buckel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Buckel, Bittinger, has been named Outstanding First Term Noncommissioned Officer of the Quarter in his unit at Hill AFB, Utah.

Sergeant Buckel, a communications operations specialist, was selected for his outstanding duty performance, leadership and exemplary conduct. He is assigned to the 1881st Communications Squadron.

The sergeant, a 1963 graduate of Northern High School in Accident, received his A.A. degree in business administration in 1965 from Potomac State College in Keyser, W. Va., and his B.A. degree in 1968 from West Virginia University. The sergeant is a member of Kappa Sigma.

His wife, Mary, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emile Germain, 513 Dennett Road, Oakland.

Plan Meeting June 6

David T. Mason, recently appointed secretary of the Department of Employment and Social Services, is planning to be in Garrett county on Wednesday, June 6, from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m., it was announced by Robert W. Stemple, director of the Garrett County Department of Social Services.

Mr. Stemple and Charles Briner, manager of the Maryland State Department of Employment Service for the county, are making plans for the meeting in the Community room of the First National Bank at 2:30 on that day.

Invited to attend the meeting will be staff members of the Department of Employment and Social Services, the Board of the Department of Social Services, County Commissioners, DeCorsey Bolden, Delegate; and G. Bradford Rinard, director, Community Action committee.

Chewing gum is said to be more popular than ever.

YFC Adding Group Plan To Walkathon

The Board of Directors of Mt. Top Youth for Christ has added a group plan to the prize list for its first annual YFC Walkathon set for May 26.

Any local group wishing to raise money may enter the Walkathon, as a group of ten or more, and keep one-third of the funds that they raise from sponsors.

The group raising the most money and turning it in to YFC will receive an additional $50 bonus.

Group entries must be made through the local YFC office, Alder Street.

Individuals desiring to enter the Walkathon may do so by signing up through the YFC office. Grand prize is a 1973 Bultaco motorcycle; second prize, a 10-speed racer bicycle; third prize, a three-speed touring bicycle.

Other prizes will be given to the first three females and three males to finish the hike; the largest family group to finish; the oldest person, and first couple to finish.

Grand prizes are being donated by Tressler's Sport Center and Montgomery Ward's catalog store.

Summer Insight Begins

Campus life club has concluded for this school year, to be replaced by Mt. Top YFC's summer program, Summer Insight. First meeting is set for Tuesday, May 15, at 7 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Shaffer, Roanoke Avenue, Mt. Lake Park.

Teen Convention Spots Open

Teen delegates may still register for the annual convention at Ocean City, N. J., June 16-23. Cost is $60. Further details are available at the YFC office.

Concert Planned

"The Singing Americans," from Winston-Salem, N. C., will be here May 19 and 20 to present three concerts. There will be no admission charge.

Child Treated for Bruises After Center St. Mishop

A Center Street pupil was struck by a car early Wednesday morning after getting out of his mother's vehicle and attempting to cross the street.

Kenneth Ray Whitacre, six years old, was treated for abrasions and bruises and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital after being knocked down by a car operated by Milton D. Fike, Liberty Street.

A child of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Whitacre, Kenny insisted on returning to school and spent the day in his class.

May Fellowship Day Is Conducted

Some 61 persons from seven denominations and fifteen churches attended the May Fellowship day celebration sponsored by Church Women United at Otterbein United Methodist church in Swanton.

Business was conducted by Mrs. Gerald Eddy, president. Following a report of the nominating committee by Mrs. Jane Tucker, chairman, the following officers were elected: Mrs. Robert Jennings, vice-president; Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, treasurer.

They will be installed in November and assume office in January. Mrs. Eddy discussed the Fellowship of the Least Corn.

Announcement was made of World Community Day at Emmanuel Lutheran church, Buttonger, Friday, November 2, at 1:30. The theme will be "Where in the World is My Neighbor?"

The Material Aid project is $3 gift certificates which may be designated for specific needs such as blankets, shoes, self help projects.

A luncheon was served by women of the host church.

Those attending participated in the worship service which centered around the theme, "As Hand Touches Hand," saluting persons doing volunteer services.

Discussing their work as volunteers were Mrs. Amy Wilson, mental health, Green Street school; Mrs. Elsabeth Thayer, hospital auxiliary; Mrs. William Hesen, blood program; Sandra Tasker and Walt Davy, health careers; Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, nursing home visitation.

Mrs. Robert Jennings sang "It Pays to Serve Jesus," accompanied by the choir and Mrs. Robert Harvey, organist.

Vignettes dramatizing work of early volunteers was portrayed. The material aid project was bars of soap and some 100 bars were gathered. The soap will be sent to Church World Service for distribution. Ushers were

Peggy Rhodes Is Finalist In West Virginia Teenage Contest

Peggy Sue Rhodes, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rhodes, Tunnelton, has been selected as a finalist in the 1973 Miss West Virginia Teen-ager Pageant to be held June 8, 9 and 10 at Morris Harvey College, Charleston.

The Miss West Virginia Teen-ager Pageant is the official state finals to the Miss National Teen-ager Pageant to be held at Atlanta, Ga. September 1.

Contestants will be judged on scholastic achievement, leadership, poise, personality, and beauty. There is no swimsuit or talent competition.

Each of the contestants will recite a 100-word essay on the subject, "What's Right about America."

Miss Rhodes is being sponsored by the Terra Alta Bank.

Her hobbies include baton twirling, swimming and horseback riding.

Mrs. Wm. Mousch, Mrs. George Rexrode, Mrs. Delores Friend and Mrs. Daniel Donley. Mrs. Ellis Harvey was chairman, assisted by Mrs. Harley Wildesen.

Announcement was made of an executive session September 21, at Swanton, at 7:30 and the UNICEF drive for coins the latter part of October.

Weisgerber Paintings Displayed At Hospital

This month's art exhibit displayed throughout Garrett County Memorial Hospital will feature water color works by George T. Weissgerber, Morgantown, W. Va.

Mr. Weissgerber will receive his B. A. degree, magna cum laude, from West Virginia University this month. His parents reside in Deer Park.

These paintings may also be purchased and information can be obtained from Mrs. Elsabeth Thayer, president of Local Auxiliary, which is sponsoring monthly art exhibits.

The open house was arranged by their children and families, including Mr. and Mrs. Hancell (Mildred) Teets, Amboy; Mrs. James (Grace) Knotts, Aurora; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Donham, Hanover, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Harley Donham, Grafton, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Jack (Alma) Snyder, Oriania, Va. The couple has 14 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Amtrak To Run To Cumberland

Amtrak said last Friday it would begin a new daily passenger service between Washington and Cumberland.

The service would continue through June 30, pending completion of permanent arrangements with Maryland and West Virginia, the states which requested the temporary operations under terms of the Railway Passenger Act.

Amtrak President Roger Lewis said he acted to start the new temporary service on the basis that the governors of both states would provide assurance before June 30 that permanent funding would be arranged.

The service from Washington to Parkersburg ended Saturday. The new trains will connect Washington and Cumberland by way of stops at Silver Spring, Brunswick, Harpers Ferry and Martinsburg.

The schedule: eastbound, Monday through Friday, leave Cumberland 5:30 a. m., arrive Washington 8:35 a. m.; westbound, leave Washington 4:50 p. m.; arrive Cumberland 7:52 p. m.

Weekends and holidays, leave Washington 11 a. m., arrive Cumberland 2:02 p. m., leave Cumberland 4:25 p. m., arrive Washington 7:30 p. m.

Confluence Woodyard 1972 Report Released

The Confluence, Pa. woodyard of Westvaco Corporation spent $87,417 in goods and services during 1972, according to a report by Leonard B. Compton, yard manager.

Confluence Woodyard is one of 15 Westvaco woodyards serving the Luke mill. It provides an open market to 160 area farmers and loggers, who were paid $62,000 in 1972 for pulpwood thinnings and harvests.

Over 10,000 tons of pulpwood was purchased for shipment to the company's Luke mill. The Confluence facility, on State Route 53 was purchased in 1964 and has a storage capacity of over 7,000 tons of pulpwood.

AT HOME

Kangaroo mamas have one advantage over "human" mamas—their crib is "built-in." There's no need for them to dash around the house to give Junior tender loving care. He is always nearby, located quite conveniently for mother's attention.

Any mother's attention is crucial in providing a child with the religious foundations needed to produce a responsible adult. Enough freedom so that he can be independent — enough discipline to provide structure for his life. And moral precepts instilled by the Church and parental example.

One day Junior will outgrow mama's pouch or crib. Then, and only then, can parents know if they have been successful.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

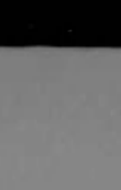
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

BEYOND DIFFERENCES

Lesson for May 13, 1973

Background Scripture: Acts 11:4-18; Ephesians 2:11-22; Galatians 3:23-29; I John 4:7-12.
Devotional Reading: Matthew 12:46-50.

In Lloyd Douglas' novel, The Big Fisherman, Voldi, one of the characters, writes of the voice of Jesus: "It's a unifying voice that converts a great crowd of mutually distrustful strangers into a tight little group of blood relatives."



Rev. Althouse

Whether because of his voice, as Voldi asserts, or his whole personality, this is the way Jesus often affected groups of "mutually distrustful strangers." He helped them overcome their differences and find a oneness in him that was more compelling than any other kind of mutuality.

There are differences

Too often we have attempted to establish fellowship on a false basis that has attempted to ignore our very real differences. About seven years ago, my wife and I were two members of a team of American churchmen who were visiting Protestant parishes in the various areas of Bavaria, Germany. One Sunday morning we worshipped in the parish church of Peissenburg, a small mining town in Upper Bavaria. The Pastor of the church and a layman spoke words of greeting to us. I was asked to reply for the Americans.

I was tempted to begin with that old cliche' that asserts that "Christians are the same the world over," but I knew that, regardless of how often it is said or implied, it is simply not so. A week spent in this parish had amply demonstrated that fact. So, instead I began with the tacit admission that "we are not all alike."

I observed that Bavarian Protestants, that Peissenburg churchmen were not like the church people of Munich, just as Pennsylvanians are not like North Carolinians, and people of the inner city are not like people in the rural parishes. "Yet," I said, "though we are not 'all alike,' because of our mutual love of Jesus Christ, we are enabled to go beyond our real and considerable differences and find our oneness in him."

Creating the "new man"

We are one in Jesus Christ, not because our differences are few and inconsequential, but because we are enabled to overcome these differences through him. The differences are real and often great, but the power of Christ to unify men is even more real and much greater. In him the greatest differences can be conquered—no wall is too formidable for him to breach.

In the Jerusalem temple there was a Court of the Gentiles marked by a "dividing wall" on which there were inscriptions warning Gentiles that if they went into the Temple past this point they were liable to be killed instantly. Now, says the writer of Ephesians, this wall and all other barriers between men, have been broken down by the unifying power of Christ. Our differences may be great, but the unifying power of God enables us to go beyond those differences to know the [illegible] for which we were created.

A MOTHER'S DAY THOUGHT

How do you best describe Mom? All the songs that have been written do not really express how wonderful she is. For, to each of us there is a something so special about our own mother that nobody else's words can say it for us.

If one special attribute above all others had to be chosen it would certainly have to be the seemingly infinite capacity to soothe and comfort her dear ones when they are ill. At these times she never seems to get tired or cross and is always right there with a comforting word and your medicine. We consider it our privilege in this pharmacy to help Mom.

WASHINGTON REPORT
FROM SENATOR J. GLENN BEALL JR.

A Look At Eastern Europe

In the past two weeks, I and several other members of the Senate Commerce Committee have traveled more than 12,000 miles and visited six nations to discuss foreign trade.

Most of the time was spent in four Iron Curtain countries: Russia, Poland, Hungary and Czechoslovakia. We also stopped at two Western European trade centers, Vienna and Brussels, before returning to the United States.

The trip was a follow-up to President Nixon's summit meeting in Moscow last May. The initiatives taken by the President have given us better opportunities to trade with countries with whom we have had little or no commercial dealing in the past, and this opening is of great interest to the Commerce Committee.

We wanted to see first-hand and hear first-hand from the leaders of these countries in order to learn more about the potential for American trade with the people of Eastern Europe.

The trip began in Russia, and here the entire trip was made worthwhile when we spent 3½ hours in Moscow talking with Soviet General Secretary Leonid Brezhnev.

The conversation with Mr. Brezhnev, as well as our talks with leaders in the other nations, was frank and very informative. I would like to save that material for the time being, however, and offer some initial impressions of the countries we visited.

Russia shows itself as being a country of great contrasts. In Moscow, for example, there is a very efficient subway system, but out in the countryside, there are no surfaced roads in the small towns and not even between communities.

There are big hotels in Moscow, but the poor service seemed to indicate that they were not run very efficiently. There is a great deal of government interest in promoting the arts, such as opera, the ballet and symphony orchestras. But, at the same time, you can see that there is a very serious housing shortage, and most of the Russian people do without a great number of consumer goods that are available to people living in Western countries.

In Poland, it was easy to notice that more Western goods are available, that the people enjoy more freedom and mobility, and that the Polish people have done a remarkable job of rebuilding the city of Warsaw, which was left in ruins by World War II.

The Hungarian people showed even more evidence of Western influence, especially in their clothing. The hotel at which we stayed also showed a marked improvement in service and efficiency.

In Czechoslovakia, one gets the impression of stepping back a bit. The 1968 revolt has left its mark on the Czechoslovakians in that they enjoy less freedom than the people in other Soviet bloc nations.

The transition was enormous when we finally left Eastern Europe and stopped off in Austria and Belgium. The contrast showed us the kind of freedom and affluence that is available under a free enterprise system in these countries.

The differences that met the eye during our trip were indicative of some of the things which we learned as we talked with the leaders of these nations. Those talks will be the subjects of a later report.

List Extensions Dates

Dates of Extension meetings and homemaker activities were listed this week by Mrs. Freda Denison, extension agent for home economics.

May 17, 1 p. m., Swallow Falls club will meet at the home of Mrs. Joan Glotfelty; 10 a. m., Mt. Zion group will meet at the home of Mrs. Viola Harvey.

County Is First In Bond Sales

Garrett County was first in the state in sale of Series E and H Savings bonds for March, according to a report from Mark P. Collins, state chairman.

Nationally the sales were again the highest on record for any month since the H bond was issued in June, 1952. Series E sales alone attained another 28-year record for any March and the highest monthly E sales since January, 1946.

Garrett's 1973 quota is $406,308, and the sales for March totaled $19,148, with a cumulative total for 1973 thus far at $169,101, or 41.6 percent of the quota. The cumulative sale for the previous year was $108,422.

Second in the list of counties was Talbot with Carroll county in third spot. Allegany was sixth.

The state sales for March totaled $11,149,279, with the cumulative total for 1973 thus far being $35,126,274, 25.4 percent of its quota for the year.

Bittinger-Glades

Has Ordination Service

Oren Bender, Cove, was ordained into the ministry Sunday evening at Cherry Glade Conservative Mennonite Church, and will serve as assistant minister to Elmer Maust, bishop. Alva Maust, former assistant minister, is now in charge of the Dry Run Mennonite Church. Alvin Swartz, Turner, Michigan, was here to conduct a series of preparatory meetings prior to the ordination, assisted by Ivan Miller, Grantsville. Delmar Yoder met Brother Swartz at the Pittsburgh Airport Friday, and also accompanied him there Monday morning for his return flight to Michigan. He was a guest at the Yoder home during his three-day stay, and visited other area families. Oren Bender is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bender, Springs. Mrs. Bender is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Omar Maust, Salisbury, Pa.

Dedication Services Planned

Dedication Services will be held at the New Glade Mennonite Church, Sunday, May 20th. Main speakers for the three services will be Paul Bender, Belleville, Pa., at 10:30; Paul Roth, Harrisonburg, Va., at 2:00; and Walter Otto, Springs, at 7:30. The Glade Ladies Chorus will be singing during the morning hour, and a Men's Chorus will present special music during the afternoon and evening services, according to Melvin Nussbaum, pastor. The public is invited.

Chorus To Give Program

The Wayne County Men's Chorus, of Ohio, will present a program of singing Sunday afternoon, May 13, at 2:30, at Glade Mennonite Church. The public is invited.

Auxiliary Meets

The Women's Auxiliary of the Bittinger Volunteer Fire Department, Inc., met Thursday evening at the Community building, with Mrs. Herbert Buckel, temporary chairman, presiding. Mrs. Robert Buckel presented the proposed by-laws, which were unanimously approved. The next meeting will be held June 14, at the Community building, with election of officers. Regular meetings will be held the second Thursday of each month, at 8 o'clock. Interested ladies are invited.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my dear dad, Lester Roy Welch, who passed away May 11, 1972.

It's so lonesome here without you
And sad in every way;
Life is not the same with me
Since you went away.
My heart aches with loneliness,
My eyes shed many tears.
Only God knows how much I miss you, "Pop."
After one lonely year.

Your Daughter,
Judy

Two Targets For Crime Fighters

In recent weeks, the Congress has wrestled with some important questions of Constitutional law, in such matters as impoundment, executive privilege, and my own pleas to overhaul the Congressional budgeting procedures.

I have been concerned lately with the law and the legal process in Maryland. I mean the kind of law that is meant to deal with vandalism, holdups and all the other crimes which have become an all too common feature of our society.

I visited the Greater Annapolis Chamber of Commerce the other day, where I reported on one of those classic cases of good news and bad news. The good news is that the recent crime statistics show we are close to checking the increase in crime in our major urban areas. The rate of increase has slowed, and in some cities, in some categories, there have actually been significant declines in the figures.

However, there is an unhappy consequence of this apparent effectiveness of urban police work and crime prevention. Crime is still gaining just outside the urban areas, placing new burdens on county and rural law enforcement officials who are ill-equipped to deal with them. I mentioned the case of some body [illegible] just since mi this story in the form of federal backing for better coordination of law enforcement on an interguvernmental basis. If criminals are ignoring county lines, we must enable police to work effectively and cooperatively across those same lines, in order to meet the growing challenge.

A second continuing crime problem must be noted. I have said before that the place to attack the crime problem is in the juvenile population. Much of our crime today is juvenile crime—and perhaps more importantly we have learned that the overwhelming majority of adult criminals had juvenile records. This indicates that we can and should shift much of our crime-fighting resources to this area, to stop present day crimes and to forestall the development of criminal careers only now beginning. As a member of the Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee, I am working for a redirection of effort, especially in the Law Enforcement Assistance Program, which now spends most of its money in other areas than the easing of the juvenile problem. This is a good example of how we can make present programs more effective, without spending more money to do it. As a member of the Appropriations Committee, that is a philosophy which I can bring to [illegible] across the whole [illegible] federal spending

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

The Republican
Attn.. Editor

Fellow Americans wake up! It is time for us to be counted for the freedom cause. Look around and what do you see? Our great land and its abundant resources are being used to further the cause of Communism. We have kept, fed and built up their economy while at the same time our soldiers were being killed in Vietnam. Now, our President wants to rebuild North Vietnam with our tax dollars. I think it is time for us to get off our backsides and let our representatives in Washington know how we feel.

If you think the food and monies go to help the people in these countries, you're wrong. The money goes for the building of more war equipment, and the food is used as a deception, to make the people bend to the will of the leaders, and put fear in them.

There are many needs in this country that $2,000,000,000 could be spent for. If they can't find anything better to use our tax dollars for, then the government should quit taking all the working man's money. One thing for sure, I would not give it to someone so they could turn around and destroy me.

Americans, we can stop this! Write your Senators and Congressman and let them know how you feel.

Sincerely yours

OPEN LINE

By
Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, ... of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked me.

How will the recent announcement of military base closings affect Western Maryland?

The recent announcement by the Department of Defense included no closings or personnel reductions for our area. The only installation affected in any manner was Fort Detrick and they are tabbed for a slight increase in personnel.

Can you send me a list of "endangered" wildlife species?

Your request can best be fulfilled by ordering the Fish and Wildlife Services' 1973 redbook, "Threatened Wildlife in the United States." The 300-page book contains data pages on "endangered" species as well as those species that are believed to be in trouble, but not yet in danger of extinction. For your copy just write the Superintendent of Documents, Washington D. C. 20402, and be sure to include the $3.35 purchase price.

Did the President's meat price ceiling include poultry?

No. The Cost of Living Council was ordered to impose an immediate ceiling on beef, veal, pork mutton and lamb prices only.

How much oil do we currently import and how much will the lifting of import quotas affect this amount?

Last year, U. S. foreign petroleum imports totaled 4.7 million barrels per day, accounting for 29 percent of our total oil supply. The projections are for increases in imported petroleum, primarily from the Middle East. In 1973 the U. S. will import an estimated 6 million barrels per day of crude oil and products. If existing trends continue we will have to import from 50 to 60 percent of our total oil supply by 1985.

What determines if a farmer is required to provide Workmen's Compensation for his employees?

According to the Maryland Farm Bureau any farmer qualifies who operates any machinery connected with any phase of soil crop or animal management, construction and repairs of machinery and fixtures, and who handles any crops or animals with or without machinery. If a farmer employs three or more full-time employees or has a year's payroll for his full-time employees of at least $15,000 he is required by law to provide Workmen's Compensation for his employees.

Does OSHA have to certify or approve employee training programs?

Under the Occupational Safety and Health Act OSHA no certification is required. However, the Department of Labor informs us that its personnel who conduct compliance inspections of workplaces, seek evidence that an employer has provided safety training required under the Act.

State Teenagers At 4-H Conference

Maryland delegates to last month's 43rd annual National 4-H Conference presented a check for $7,349.38 to the National 4-H Center in Chevy Chase. The money is part of Maryland's $45,000 pledge to the Center's building fund.

Contributions had been sent by 4-H clubs throughout the state. Through fund raising activities in their local communities, Maryland 4-H clubs have now contributed $27,991.85 to the National 4-H Center.

This year's National 4-H conference was held April 15-20, with headquarters at the National 4-H Center, located on the edge of Washington, D. C.

Maryland's representatives included Kathy Hoye, Oakland; one each from Chestertown, Garrettsville, Waldorf, Hughesville, Phoenix and Westminster.

Old Line State delegates to the conference are chosen each year at the Maryland 4-H Conference. Applicants from each county are interviewed and the delegates are chosen for their maturity, leadership, and achievement.

Maryland delegates participated with representatives from all 50 states, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, the District of Columbia and Canada in tours, seminars, assemblies and visits to Capitol Hill and the White House. They visited with congressmen and senators from their states to help develop a better understanding of national issues and citizenship responsibilities and to interpret 4-H programs and people to members of Congress and other public officials.

Mixed League Ends Season With Dinner

The Thursday Night Mixed league at Pat-Matt Bowling lanes, ended the season with a banquet at Blackwater Falls on Sunday, May 6, with 55 in attendance.

Numerous awards were presented. Those with perfect attendance included Loretta Ridder, Doug Webster, Thayer and Bertha Sanders, Judy Paugh, Ernie Sisler, Shelba Sisler, Doris Adams, Pat Filsinger, Donna Tasker, Henry Armstrong and Jean Sims.

SENSING THE NEWS

ANTHONY HARRIGAN

Southern States Industrial Council

The Right To Work

Dr. Emerson R. Schmidt's new book "Union Power and The Public Interest" is an important text for our time. In his work, published by the Institute for Humane Studies at Menlo Park, Calif., Dr. Schmidt makes clear that the monopoly power of the labor unions is causing inflation and other economic dislocations. Labor law, he notes, have effectively exempted labor organizations from the discipline of market competition.

This is a truth which needs restating at a time when prices are soaring. George Meany, head of the AFL-CIO, is calling for a rollback of prices, but no one asks for a ceiling on Mr. Meany's demands or a rollback of union wage settlements which have forced prices upward.

In the long run, Congress must deal with the monopoly power of the labor unions. Unions must be subjected to the same anti-trust legislation which forbids private business from exercising monopoly power. In short term, however, the only restraints on unbridled union power are the right-to-work laws in effect in a number of states. These laws, to be sure, aren't simply safeguards against unchecked union power but essential protection for the individual worker.

Sometimes right-to-work laws are presented solely as protection for a free economic system, but that's only part of the story. Lewis Powell, now a Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, made this point a few years ago when he wrote: "The threat to the enterprise system is not merely a matter of economics. It also is a threat to individual freedom."

Much more attention should be devoted to the union threat to individual freedom and safety. Union violence is widespread in the United States. It is directed against employers, employes, consumers, suppliers and distributors. "At times," writes Dr. Schmidt, "the threat may be psychological, or implicit, as in the case of a threatening midnight telephone call." Dr. Schmidt adds: "Union officials, and some politicians, at times in high dudgeon, defend 'labor's right to strike,' but rarely if ever point out that to be effective, the unions must be able to prevent—by force, if necessary—the hiring of other workers to take their place."

Dr. Schmidt's book documents union violence. For example, he cites a statement by Gov. Marvin Mandel of Maryland who spoke out against "a growing pattern of violence against nonunion contractors." At Morgan State College in Maryland, two non-union men were beaten and a shed was set afire near a library under construction. At Towson State College, a trailer and a crane were burned. Pickets blocked firemen from easy access to the blaze. In Baltimore, policemen were assaulted as they endeavored to escort laborers through pickets to a construction job.

Despite their use of violence, the unions haven't succeeded in increasing their membership in a substantial way. But they haven't given up hope of knocking out state right-to-work laws which protect workers against the worst union abuses. The union bosses are arrogant in the extreme. They want to assert control over the entire working force, in effect taxing those who aren't members of unions.

Reed Larson, head of the National Right to Work Committee discussed this situation in a recent address to the students of King College. "Exclusive representation," he said, "is an arrangement which confers on a labor union the sovereign power of government—a power extended to no other private organization in our society. It provides that, when a union achieves the support of 50 percent plus one of the employes in a bargaining unit, it thereby gains sovereignty, insofar as wages, hours and working conditions are concerned, over all employes including those who do not wish to be represented by the union."

Mr. Larson makes the important point that "exclusive representation compels the employe, who may have been on the job years before the union came along, to accept the union as his exclusive agent in dealing with his employer." In the so-called "agency" plan, which is being pushed in South Carolina, for example, union officials are given the sovereign power to tax—to compel a worker who does not desire to be represented by a union to buy from a union agent the privilege of keeping his job.

These and other aspects of the union tyranny should be spelled out in every state in the nation. Once the public truly understands the special privileges and powers sought by unions and their captive legislators, the country is likely to get not only more state right-to-work laws but the national right-to-work law now being sought by Rep. Sam Steiger of Arizona and other concerned members of Congress.

NOTICE

STATE OF MARYLAND
Department Of Natural Resources
Fisheries Administration

The following revisions to Fisheries Administration regulations have been proposed.

1. Pursuant to the provisions of Sections 112C and 713 of Article 66C of the Annotated Code of Maryland, Fisheries Regulation No. 8.02.02.11, prohibiting the taking or catching of soft shell clams, is rescinded effective June 1, 1973.

2. Fisheries Regulation No. 8.02.02.04 is amended to read as follows:

It is unlawful for any person licensed in the State to take or catch soft shell clams and for any boat or rig used in the taking or catching of soft shell clams to take or catch more than fifteen (15) bushels of soft clams in any calendar day.

The limitation imposed under this section is applicable to all clams caught or taken within the geographical limits of the State of Maryland.

Any comments on the proposed revisions should be made in writing to the undersigned before June 1, 1973.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES —Let us send you our success story. Are you too busy making a living to make money? Let Sun Chemical and Refining Corporation send you our Record of Success, then you decide if it is a track record you want to be a part of in making money. Our product is unique and there is none on the market to compete. The PILL for the automobile is nationally advertised in Road and Track, Hot Rod, Motor Trend, Car and Driver, Cycle, and Service Station Dealer, just to mention a few, and replaces all automotive additives on the market today. You simply drop it in your gas tank, get a ring and valve job and save gasoline. We cut 7 cents per gallon off gas price and we will stop oil burning. We will send you our complete brochure and laboratory testing, and for the qualified person, we will pay all expense bringing you to our home office for complete training, and furnish you a list of all customers in your area. We pay 100% cost of local and national advertising including newspaper ads, radio and TV scripts. We invest three dollars to your one. To get started, you must have $5000 to $10,000 investment for starting inventory depending upon size of territory. (No Franchise Fee) This is truly a ground floor opportunity you should check out if you want a Dream Success Story of your own. If you are serious, let us hear your story and position. If you are not serious, please don't waste our time or yours, as time is money. At this point we are sure you have questions and it is impossible to explain everything in this ad. Our brochure package will explain everything from factory to marketing to consumer use. Our brochure package contains a free gift for you and over 50 pages of pictures, laboratory tests and marketing concept on corporation. Our products are a guaranteed sale to you. For this package, write or phone Mark Anthony, A/C 904-396-5856 or write Sun Chemical and Refining Corporation, 1301 Gulf Life Tower, Jacksonville, Florida 32207. — Adv. 10-3t.

OF VALUABLE
REAL ESTATE

Situate In Election District No. 3, Garrett County, Maryland, in Grantsville.

Under and by virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage from Leon Boyer, single, to The Garrett National Bank in Oakland, dated March 14th, 1969, and recorded in Liber R.L.D. No. 290, folio 554, one of the Land Records (Mortgage) of Garrett County, Maryland, default having occurred under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and it having been duly assigned to the undersigned for the purpose of foreclosure, I hereby give notice that I will, on Friday, the 25th day of May, 1973 at the hour of 11:00 a.m., D.S.T.
in front of the Court House in the town of Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, offer for sale and sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the following property, to-wit:

All that piece or parcel of ground, situated, lying in Grantsville, Garrett County, Maryland, on the south side of the National Pike, in said town, and which said lot is known as Lot No. 1 on the plat of said town as laid off by one Adam Shultz, and which said lot is described as follows:

BEGINNING for the same 40 feet East of a stone marked A. S., planted at the corner of the Hotel, and running thence South 166 feet then East 66 feet, then North 166 feet to the National Pike, then with said Pike 66 feet to the place of beginning, reserving, however, and excepting from the operation of the deed all that portion of said lot upon which a part of the Hotel Stable and Granary once stood, and being the same parcel of land firstly described in a deed from Charles C. Nathan, single, to the said Hayward F. Broadwater and Lilly Broadwater, his wife, as tenants by the entireties, bearing date on the 26th day of July, 1947, and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber R.L.D. No. 148, folio 17, etc., the said Hayward F. Broadwater being deceased, title to said property has vested in said party of the first part as the surviving tenant by the entirety. And being the same property as described in that certain deed from Joseph C. Westcoat, et al, to Leon Boyer, by deed dated March 14, 1969, and recorded in Liber R. L.D. No. 250, folio 267, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The above property is situate at the intersection of Maryland Route 495 and U.S. Route 40 in the town of Grantsville, this site being a desirable business location in Grantsville and has been improved with a large frame structure partially damaged by fire.

Swanton Boy Scouts Recognized At Annual Court of Awards April 30

A scoutmaster was honored for twenty-two years of service, and numerous awards were presented to scouts of Boy Scout troop 57, of Swanton, at the 24th annual Court of Awards held Monday evening, April 30, at the Swanton Community Center.

Orval Teets served the troop for 22 years and was presented with an engraved Bowie knife from the members. He was recently appointed a unit commissioner.

Foster Riggs, of Mt. Lake Park, who organized the Swanton troop, was also recognized. Awards to the scouts included Life scout badge to Craig Hutson, Star scout award to Bill Kisner, first class badge to Jerry Friend, Ronnie Lee, second class badges to Carl Lee, Clarence Mellinger, Jr., Curtis Hutson; tenderfoot badges to Curtis Hutson, Kevin Craver, Clarence Mellinger, Jr.; and merit badges: fishing, Curtis Hutson, Kevin Craver, Clarence Mellinger, Jr., Carl Lee, Jerry Friend, Wayne Friend, Ronnie Lee, Craig Hutson, Bill Kisner; model building and design, Bill Kisner, Craig Hutson; citizenship in the nation, citizenship in the community, personal fitness and public speaking to Craig Hutson.

Willis Smith, scout executive, Potomac Council, spoke of scouting experiences and association with Mr. Teets and Mr. Riggs. He presented the star award to Bill Kisner, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kisner, Deer Park and Bill pinned a mother's star pin on his grandmother, Mrs. Pearl Campbell. Mr. Smith also presented the life award to Craig Hutson son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hutson. Craig pinned a mother's pin on his mother.

Members of Troop 57 will attend summer camp at Camp Potomac July 1-7, and Craig Hutson will attend Philmont Scout ranch in Cimarron, New Mexico, with scouts from Winchester, Va., July 11-30.

Several Road Fuel Tax Charges Noted

Several motor vehicle charges of violation of the Maryland Road Fuel Tax were noted among the records in District Court during the week ending May 7. All forfeited collateral except one who was found not guilty.

Anthony D. Hinebaugh, Deer Park, forfeited collateral on two charges for having no Md. Road Fuel Tax stamp he paid $35 and for having an oversize vehicle, he paid $30.

Ronald E. Blum, Mt. Wolf, Pa., was found not guilty of operating on an expired Md. Road Fuel Tax sticker.

All others forfeited collateral.

Clarence H. Biser, Keyser, W. Va., operating on an expired Md. Road Fuel Tax sticker, $20.

Paul R. Wilt, Grantsville, failing to display a Md. Road Fuel Tax sticker, $30.

Bruce F. Humberson, Friendsville, violating the Md. Road Fuel Tax law, $25.

Exceeding the speed limit: Donald E. Mason, Oakland, 68 in a 50 mile zone, $20; Forrest M. Gotf, 72 in a 50 zone, $20; Ronald L. Wise, Cumberland, 70 in a 50 zone, $25, and Sharon L. Weeks, Mt. Lake Park, 75 in a 50 zone, $20.

Operating on expired registration plates: Dalton A. McKenzie, Grantsville, $30, and Robert D. Schrock, RD 2, Oakland, $20.

Barbara Ann Wilt, Deer Park, speeding too great for existing road conditions, $20.

Gregory G. Benedict, Friendsville, two charges: displaying tags issued to another vehicle, $15, and operating at speeds greater than reasonable and prudent, $20.

Charles L. Rinker, Accident, operating at speed greater than reasonable, $45.

John M. Housler, Jeanette, Pa., failing to obey an official state road sign, $15.

Junior W. Guthrie, Grantsville, failing to grant the right-of-way, $20.

Betty L. Sowers, RD 1, Oakland, failing to drive to the right of center of the road, $20.

Among the motor vehicle violations listed in the April 7 issue of The Republican it stated that Linda Sue Windell, Fairfax, Va., forfeited collateral in the amount of $30 for improper passing. Due to being an out-of-state resident she was required by Trooper Lewis to pay the $30. This was shown paid on the ticket indicating that she had forfeited collateral. Two days later, April 5, Linda Windell appeared in District Court here and was found not guilty of the charge. This office was not notified of the correction.

Amounts shown include fine and $5 costs.

The average 1972 vacationer traveled 2,387 miles.

Teen Challenge Group To Be At Deer Park Church

A Teen Challenge group from the Rehersburg Training Center in Pennsylvania, will conduct services at the Full Gospel church in Deer Park on Sunday, May 13 both at 10:45 and 7 p. m. They will testify and preach in the morning and show the film, "The Rapture," in the evening.

Teen Challenge has been preaching on the streets, in coffee houses and in street evangelism.

The movie has been produced by David Wilkerson Youth Crusades.

Purpose of the film is to awaken in young and old the reality and nearness of the rapture. The public is invited.

Oakland Clean-Up Paint-Up Week Set

Clean-up, Paint-up Week has been designated for May 21 through the 25th, in the town of Oakland, by the proclamation of Mayor H. D. Swartzentruber. This was among other items of business taken up at the May meeting of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland Monday night.

The Mayor has urged citizens of Oakland to clean up rubbish and other trash especially from vacant lots. The town trucks will be about town Monday through Friday to pick up the rubbish and trash.

The town ordinance was amended in reference to parking meter times and charges. This brings the ordinance in line with times and charges set down by Mayor and Town Council about two years ago and now in use.

The Garrett County Community Action Committee has agreed to assist in renovating the Second floor of the City Hall. Starting date for this work has not been set.

The Mayor and Town Council have declined the request to use personnel and facilities of the town for the making of State Lottery Claims.

According to the report of the annual inspection by the Soil Conservation Service, structural operations at Broadford Dam have been found to be satisfactory.

The construction of a pro shop, shower room, cart storage and shop building at the Oakland Country Club have been approved.

The Oakland water has been designated as conforming to standards of the State Dept. of Health and Mental Hygiene.

The net income from the Cemetery Fund for the quarter ending April 15 was $723.64.

A permit has been given to the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home to construct a shuffleboard area. The area when not in use as a game area will be used as a regular walk or patio.

The financial statement follows: balance April 1, $49,374.22; receipts, $23,665.51; expenses, $18,685.46, and balance April 30, $54,354.27.

Meet The Staff

VIOLET TRESSLER

A six year veteran of our meat department is Violet Tressler. She is in charge of wrapping, displaying and pricing of meat products. Violet, who is known as Peg by most of her friends, is truly a professional at her work. She is a serious and dedicated individual who continuously finds new and better ways to improve her department.

Speaking of dedication, Peg never lets us down. Whenever the work load overtakes us or if somebody is missing from the meat department, she'll work double shifts making sure that our customers will always have a wide variety of freshly wrapped meat products.

Accuracy is another one of Peg's strong points. We seldom find an incorrect price on any of our meat products. For the outstanding job Peg has been doing for the past six years, we would like to take this opportunity to say THANK YOU!

Can you believe that behind the scenes this neat attractive and efficient worker is in reality a grandmother who enjoys spoiling her grandchildren as well as sewing and crocheting? Well, believe it or not, it's true.

Peg and her husband Park reside at Box 153, Mt. Lake Park, Md.

A Fine Line . . .

The conflict of service versus economy, an annual paradox thrust upon every government at budget time, is developing an audible knock in the smooth running county machinery of the Hamilton-Guy-Opel administration. Noise is coming from Jack Browning's sheriff's department, calling for more funds to provide more efficient and professional law enforcement services plus the continuation of emergency service communications.

Economy-conscious Commissioners are striving to hold the tax line and they are questioning every detail of every budget request.

The conflict boils down to a difference of opinion: what is considered essential, and what the county can afford.

Sheriff Browning is concerned that his department will be unable to cope with demands made upon it if funds are cut. His daily average of guests in jail is the highest since prohibition days. His deputies are running all over the place delivering summons and transporting prisoners down east. He has a problem with easy exit of prisoners who don't like the accommodations. He has expressed the hope of overcoming these deficiencies by up-grading his staff and facilities. This would take a considerable amount of money.

The unhappy burden of decision to this problem ultimately lies with the Commissioners who, we feel, have well demonstrated competence in decision making. Discerning the fine line between what is essential and what is economic for Garrett County is vital to our fiscal health. Despite the saber rattling, we feel reasonably certain that the final resolution will be made with cool and objective thinking.

Memorial Day Plans Underway

Plans are well underway for the American Legion and Knights of Pythias Lodge Memorial Day observances in Oakland, according to Randall Kahl, American Legion Post 71 historian.

This year the observances and parade will take place Monday, May 28. First will be the usual parade through the town, followed by a cemetery program before the tomb of the unknown soldier.

Speaker for this year's program will be Dr. Lawrence Sherwood, pastor of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland.

Dr. Lawrence Sherwood

Before assuming the pastorate at St. Paul's, Dr. Sherwood was Director of the Wesley Foundation at Glenville State College, Glenville, W. Va., and Pastor of Trinity United Methodist Church in that town. Prior to going to Glenville, he was Pastor of Main Street United Methodist Church, Petersburg, W. Va.

He graduated magnum cum laude from West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buckhannon, W. Va. He then did his post-graduate work at Garrett Seminary, Evanston, Illinois, from which he graduated in 1950 with highest honors. He received the Doctor of Divinity degree from West Virginia Wesleyan College, 1964. Prior to this he had done further graduate study at Northwestern University.

His wife, the former Hazel Steiding, is from McCoole. They are the parents of five children: Rebecca, a graduate student in Medicinal Chemistry at the University of Wisconsin; Judith, a student nurse at Maryland General Hospital, Baltimore; John, Martha, and Mary at home.

Dr Sherwood was a regional research editor of the Journal and Letters of Bishop Francis Asbury; one of the authors of the recent three volume History of American Methodism; the author of teaching helps on the book of "Luke"; and the author

At Northern High School, nine Independents, 107 Republicans; 41 Democrats, and one American Party, for a total of 158.

At Beall High School, where some county students attend classes, eight Republicans, eight Democrats, for a total of 16.

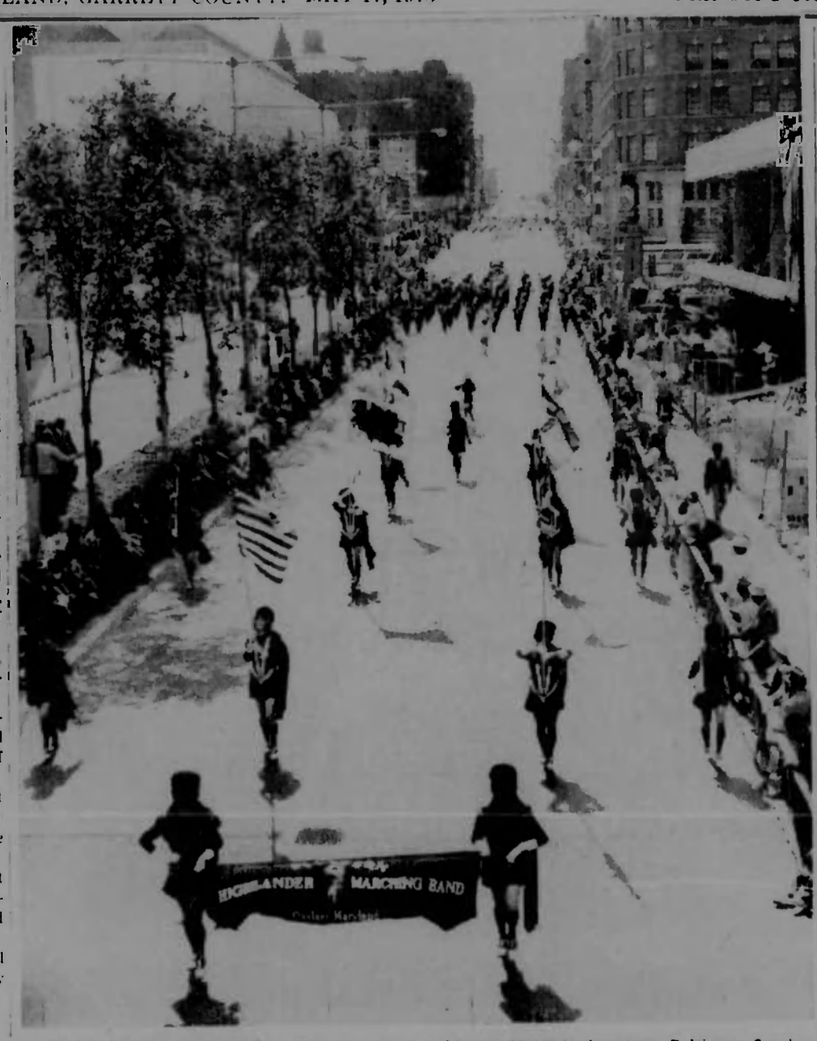
At Valley High, Lonaconing, two Republicans and one Democrat for a total of three.

At Bruce High School, Westernport, two Republicans and six Democrats, for a total of eight.

Registration will continue at Bruce High School May 22 for those students who missed the first opportunity.

Registration was held at Northern May 9 and 14; Southern May 11 and 15; Bruce and Valley May 7; Beall May 8.

Registration will be continued June 20 at Garrett Community College.



HERE COMES SOUTHERN—Marching down Baltimore Street in downtown Baltimore Sunday, is the Southern Highlander Marching Band, one of 25 high school bands invited to participate in the Preakness Festival Parade. The three-hour parade was one of the longest in distance the band has marched in to date. The Highlanders also competed in field formations at Memorial Stadium Friday night. They took fourth place.

Cut Back In Sheriff Funds Causes Concern

Browning Spells Out Need For Clerks, Commissioners Discount Crisis

Budget limitations for the coming fiscal year are threatening round-the-clock services of the Sheriff's Department, Garrett County Sheriff Jack Browning said yesterday. He conjectured that the department could be forced to an 8 to 5 daily operation July 1 because of lack of funds for four clerks needed to man communications and do the mounting pile of necessary paper work.

The cut-back would seriously affect the central alarm system which deals primarily with emergency services, such as fire and ambulance. Affected would be central and southern Garrett County fire departments and Southern Garrett County Rescue squad. Night calls for law enforcement also could be left in question, Browning intimated.

The threat of cut-back in services follows on the heels of budget hearings conducted by the County Commissioners Tuesday. In addition to routine needs to run department, Sheriff Browning had requested that a matron for female prisoners be added because of the growing number of females being incarcerated in the county jail. The Commissioners concurred and indicated approval of including a matron in the new budget effective July 1. The Sheriff said that seven women had been confined in the jail last month, posing problems in the absence of a matron. He is presently seeking a woman to serve in a dual role of matron and secretary.

In his request for four clerks, Browning was given to understand that funds for them, amounting to $20,800, would be denied. This prompted his announcement of possible curtailment in services because manpower requirements for 24-hour service are more than can be borne by his authorized 8-man depoty force, he stated. Seven deputies are now on active duty.

Wayne Hamilton, county commissioner president, discounted the need to curtail sheriff services, explaining that the sheriff is presently supplying these services with a clerk staff of two. He related that a staff of four clerks orignally had been set up under the PEP program, that the county had funded its share, but that the four clerks had not materialized. Hamilton said that while the program will not be refunded, it can be extended as long as the unused funds hold out, probably until February.

Lease Would Restrict Access To Deep Creek

Public Works Board Gives Approval of Leasing Lake From Power Company

The Maryland Board of Public works has given preliminary approval to the leasing of Deep Creek Lake from the Pennsylvania Electric Company, an arrangement state officials indicated would restrict public access to the lake.

The agreement calls for a 14-year lease of the man-made lake at a cost to the state of $1 a year. In addition the utility company will "convey to the state of Maryland $250,000 or an 'in-kind' equivalent for recreational facilities at the lake."

The lease covers both the 3,518 acres of lake surface plus some 1,400 acres of shoreline which the utility company had kept as a buffer zone around the water. From the standpoint of public usage and access the bolfer zone, ranging in width from 50 feet to several hundred feet, appears to be a key item.

Warren Rich, assistant attorney general, told the board that Pennsylvania Electric company previously issued permits to property owners around the lake, giving them exclusive use of the company's waterfront land abutting their properties.

This practice ended several years ago after the Federal Power Commission adopted a regulation requiring public access and participation in lakes such as Deep Creek which are part of hydro-electric projects, according to Rich.

Now Wide Open

He and Anthony Abar of the State Department of Natural Resources said that the ending of the company's permit system

County Tax Base To Increase Over $4 Million this Year

The assessable tax base for the coming tax year will show an increase of $4 million for real property, according to the Assessment and Department of Assessments and Taxation's report to The Garrett County Commissioners.

Real property assessments for 1972-73 amounted to $61,611,536.-00; business personal property, $1,856,040; domestic corporations, $5,333,520; foreign corporations, $5,905,920; and public utilities, including railroads, $37,689,300. Increases on the latter three figures have not been received, as the state computes this valuation.

In other business before the Commissioners, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buckel and others from the Bittinger area visited the office to discuss the schedule for improvement of Route 495 by the State Roads Dept.

Chief Judge Stuart Hamill, Richard Davis and Dwight Stover conferred with the commissioners about future plans for added circuit court office space. It was explained that a feasibility study is in the process and that the situation may be solved with either an addition to the rear of the court house or a new office building, or both.

N. Garrett Squad Gets Meyersdale Parade Award

The Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad, based at Grantsville, is the recipient of a $15 first prize awarded at the Meyersdale Pennsylvania Maple Festival.

The squad's ambulance met the total 24 points required by the Meyersdale Volunteer Firemen's ambulance inspection, which included being well equipped, general appearance, neatness and cleanliness.

Terra Alta Boy Drowns In Potomac

A 13-year-old Terra Alta boy drowned Saturday in the south branch of the Potomac river five miles southwest of Romney.

The youth was identified as [illegible] Anderson, son of William and Nola Mersmg Anderson. He was reportedly a member of a group of Future Farmers of America from Terra Alta High School on a weekend camping expedition.

Another member of the group, John Mitchell, tried to save the Anderson boy and almost lost his own life in the futile attempt. Young Mitchell was hospitalized in Hampshire Memorial Hospital, Romney.

The Anderson boy was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital there. The body was later taken to the Fike-Watson Funeral Home, Terra Alta.

Survivors in addition to his parents include two sisters, Karen and Linda, both at home, and two brothers, William Anderson, jr. and Larry Anderson, also at home.

Services were conducted in the Trinity United Methodist Church Tuesday at 2 p. m. Rev. Ellis Harvey and Rev. W. C. Douson officiated. Interment was in Terra Alta cemetery.

GCC Lists Eleven Students Graduating

Members of the first gradoating class of Garrett Community College will be awarded the Associate in Arts degree this Saturday, May 19.

Commission Asks Dualization Of Rt. 219 Be Postponed

The Garrett County Planning Commission sent word last week to Department of Transportation Secretary Harry R. Hughes, indicating wholehearted approval of a new bridge for Deep Creek Lake but that dualization of Rt. 219 should be indefinitely postponed.

The letter, from W. Marshal Rickert, planning director, avowed that the current bridge is a serious safety hazard and is critically in need of immediate replacement.

At present, a truck with 12-foot clearance must travel down the center line of the two-lane, low and narrow structure to avoid the corner sway braces.

State plans call for a new bridge which would have four lanes, to match plans for dualizing Route 219.

Col. J. Haig Jackson, of the Garrett Development Corp., says "We want a good bridge first, and the road can come later." Funding is considered insufficient to construct both a good bridge and a good road at present.

In addition, both the planning commission and the Development Corporation agree that channeling all traffic from the freeway through the center of the lake area is certain to be detrimental to the entire county.

Existing plans indicated that all traffic coming off the freeway would run through the center of the area, creating traffic hazards, taking away much of the retreat-value of lake properties, and slicing away at valu-

Southern Musicians Compete For Spot In All-State Band

Ten Southern Highlander Band musicians competed Saturday in Frederick for ratings in All-State Band auditions. All but three received a II score on a I-V scale of proficiency, I being the highest. The remaining three were scored with a rating of III.

Flutes dominated Southern's participation and consisted of a duet by Marta Turney and Susan Eberly, the latter also competing as a soloist. Other solo flutists were Cathy Leighton, Marilyn Foy, and Robin Redeheaver. Competing in trumpet was Tim DeWitt; in alto saxophone, David Evans; Clarenet, Charlene Shaffer and Jill Sweitzer; and in base clarinet, John Eberly. The students had previously auditioned in district tryouts in Cumberland, ten of eleven being chosen for state competition.

Bloodmobile Visit Scheduled May 25

The next visit of the American Red Cross bloodmobile to Oakland has been set for Friday, May 25, at the fire hall.

Donations will be accepted between 12 noon and 6 p. m. Quota for this visit has been set at 120 pints.

Last month a total of six pints of blood was used at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, according to Mrs. Norma Hesen, local chairman of bloodmobile activities.

SHS Valedictorians, Salutatorian Named

Barbara Leighton
Salotatorian

Michael DeWitt
Valedictorian

Barbara Porbaogh
Valedictorian

The honor of being named Valedictorian for Southern High School will be shared this year by two seniors, Barbara Purbaugh and Michael DeWitt, who tied for the position with identical grade averages. Barbara Leighton has been named Salutatorian with the next highest average.

Barbara Purbaugh, the daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Purbaugh of Oakland, is a member of the National Honor Society and The Quill and Scroll honorary. She has been a member of the Acorn staff for two years, and this year is managing editor. She was named an Outstanding American High School Student last year. She plays clarinet and has been a member of the Southern Highlander band, the Community College band, and the Western Maryland Regional Honor band. She was a member of the junior and senior play casts. This year she was chosen first runner-up in the Garrett County Junior Miss Pageant. She is an active member of the St. Paul's United Methodist Church and will attend West Virginia Wesleyan College next year on a scholarship. She was recently awarded a music merit award in addition to the above scholarship.

Michael DeWitt, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Edward DeWitt of Oakland, is president of the National Honor Society and was named an Outstanding High Student last year. In his junior year he represented Southern at the Maryland Junior Science and Humanities Symposium. He plays oboe in both the Highlander and Community bands. He is a member of St. Paul's United Methodist Church and has received a scholarship to West Virginia Wesleyan College, which he plans to attend next fall.

Barbara Leighton, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Leighton of Oakland, has received many honors. They are National Honor Society, Quill and Scroll, National Merit Finalist, Betty Crocker Award, and Maryland Assembly Page. She is captain of the Highlander Band Color Gnard and is vice president of the senior class. She is a member of St. Paul's United Methodist Church. Next fall she will attend Princeton University.

NHS Production of "Fiddler On Roof" Set May 25, 26

"Fiddler On the Roof," one of America's most acclaimed musicals will be presented by the Northern Garrett High School Senior Chorus next Friday, May 25, and Saturday, May 26, at 8 p. m. in Northern's auditorium. Dr. Reuben F. Rodeheaver and Steve Neville are co-directing the production.

Fiddler On the Roof is based on stories by Sholem Aleichem and the lyrics and music are by Sheldon Harwick and Jerry Bock, and is presented by Northern through special arrangements with Music Theatre International of New York.

The setting is a small peasant town in Tsarist Russia—ANATEVKA. Tevye, a dairyman, along with his wife and five daughters, comprise one of the hard-working families of the community. Here these people live as their forefathers did, observing the ways handed down to them following the dictates of "tradition."

Their lives are filled with simple joys of living guided by their ability to take adversity with gentle humor and faith in God. Enjoyment is found in the daily rituals as well as the dreams and hopes of simple folk.

Portable Units To Help Ease Classroom Load

Overcrowding at Northern, Southern and Dennett Road schools will be eased somewhat next school year with the addition of a portable double classroom for each of the schools. Foundation construction already has started at Southern adjacent to the gymnasium.

Dr. William H. Baser, county superintendent, said that the temporary classrooms would accommodate at least 60 students, taking part of the overflow from crowded classrooms. They are so designed that they can be easily removed when additional permanent classrooms become available.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

May 8, 1973

The Republican Paper
Oakland, Md. 21550
Dear Editor,

We are writing in concern of Mrs. Barbara Nolt being thrown from her teaching position at Northern. We feel it is unfair to throw her out because she is disliked. The administration is trying to keep this quiet so that parents won't know what's going on at NHS, but the students do.

Mrs. Nott is close to the students and really wants them to learn and cares about them. She's not on any kind of a pedestale like some other of NHS's faculty, Mrs. Nolt is nice in her classes and out. Her classes are never boring as others. She really knows how to relate to the students because that's what their looking for. Mrs. Nolt can get the subject she's teaching across to the students and she really cares what they learn.

Students at Northern are aware that the public does not know how Mrs. Nolt is being treated by the Board of Education and Northern's administration. We want the public to know how Mrs. Noll is being treated and to react.

We feel that it's bad enough to kick her out of the English teaching position but let alone try to kick her out of the Business Department. She had to learn the Business classes as we did.

Some people at Northern and in the public don't have any feelings about what happens. They would agree to everything and anything. But there are others who care about what's been happening. Then there are other people who just don't give a hoot' We care and want action. We want people in the county to take action and try to keep her in our school.

Sincerely yours,

Students of Northern High

Editor's note: Fifty students signed this letter and, while their assumptions may or may not be correct, it's a refreshing change to see a group go to bat for a teacher. Despite the pros and cons developed in the passion of controversy, the best place to gain understanding of this issue is directly with the Board of Education which does not air such matters through the medium of a newspaper.

Southern Golfers Defeat Moorefield

Southern's undefeated golf team won its tenth match of the season last Friday by defeating Moorefield High School on the Valley View Course by 17½ to ½.

Five Southern High players won by 3-0 scores, including Dave Sharps. Jim McHenry, Mark Domineck, David Hinebaugh, and Kevin Liller. Steve Lantz won his match by the score of 2½ to ½.

Dave Hinebaugh with an 84 and Dave Sharps with 91 were Southern's low scorers.

NHS Hits Bruceton 11-1 In Return Play

Northern High School's Huskies squared accounts for the only game they lost this season by defeating Bruceton Mills Friday, May 11, by 11-1.

This was the sixth victory for the Huskies, who had dropped a 1-0 decision in nine innings to Bruceton in their series opener.

So far, the Huskies have also defeated Berlin, 2-0, Meyersdale, 8-1, Salisbury, 6-5, Terra Alta 13-1 and 27-0.

Vernon Snyder limited Bruceton to two hits and struck out ten.

Northern forged way out in front in the third inning by scoring ten runs, punctuated by Kenny Sines' grand slam homer.

Baltimore Paper Reports On Health Plan At Grantsville

A Baltimore Sun staff correspondent, Tom Horton, has written a feature article on Grantsville and its health plan. The article appeared in the Monday, May 14 editinn.

Calling Grantsville the bellwether for the towas of Friendsville and other nearby towns in West Virginia and Pennsylvania, the article pointed out that for the six election districts around Grantsville, (including two in Pennsylvania) there are 7,000 persons and no doctors or dentists.

The Grantsville Health Care Center, formed by a non-profit group of concerned citizens, has raised $25,000 toward construction and equipping of a health care facility.

A doctor, Daniel Nofziger, has promised to come to Grantsville in July to begin practice, and will be the first doctor there in nine years.

Stumbling blocks to getting and keeping a physician have been many and varied, including stiff state requirements; the distance to a hospital; few cultural activities; criticism from Oakland physicians, including warnings of socialized medicine; and looming problems in keeping a young doctor content.

The Grantsville Health corporation has received a one-year renewable grant of $40,000 from the federal Appalachian Regional Commission to guarantee the salaries of a doctor, nurse and secretary.

According to Mr. Horton's story, the next step involves application for matching federal funds with which to construct a clinic. The request is seeking about $100,000 to go with the $25,000 raised.

Positive results listed by the article were the facts that a dentist, Dr. Ronald Tilgner, has located in Friendsville; a pharmacist has opened a store in Grantsville for the first time since 1937; and the county commissioners have purchased two vehicles for a 40-man rescue squad in the northern sector of the county. The rescue squad is planning to put up $6,000 of matching funds to build an annex to the proposed clinic.

Couple To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Harland Friend of Glassport, Penna. announce August 11, as the wedding date of their daughter, Glenda Jean, to Randall Lee Sharpless, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sharpless, Swanton.

Miss Friend will be a 1973 graduate of South Allegheny High School, Liberty Borough, Penna. Mr. Sharpless was a 1971 graduate of Southern High School, and is currently employed by the Oakland Water Department.

Mile-high Denver has also had flood problems.

Terra Alta Family Featured In S. S. Co-op Magazine

Terra Alta residents, Clem and Ruth Teets, were featured in an article in the May Southern States Cooperative Farmer magazine.

Entitled "Preserves the past for the future," the article dealt with the Teets' Americana Museum, Terra Alta.

On the property are re-creations of a country store, post office, barber shop, doctor and dentist offices, complete rooms of furniture, a schoolroom, and carriages, wagons, coaches and buggies. Mr. Teets is presently looking for a one-room school that he can move to the location.

The museum was originally opened to the public in a fund-raising attempt for the Terra Alta High School Alumni Association scholarship fund. The first four-day opening, in October 1970, drew 900 people and netted $500 for the fund.

This year the museum will open to the public on July 1. Admission is $1 for adults, 50 cents for children. The displays are assembled at 401 Aurora Ave., Terra Alta.

Clem Teets and his sons, James and Robert, operate an oil and auto parts business in the area.

Eight Listed As Additional Fishing Rodeo Winners

Eight winners were listed in the past two weeks for the first annual Deep Creek Lake Fishing Rodeo, sponsored by the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club and the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council. These anglers, successful in catching specially tagged Largemouth Bass in Deep Creek Lake, include:

Edward Schmidt, III, Glendale, $25.00;

Terry Imhoff, Mt. Lake Park, $25.00;

Alvy Alexander, Oakland, $10.00;

Shaun Pullen, College Park, $25.00;

Mike Thomas, College Park, $10.00;

Tony Liller, Oakland, $25.00;

Charlotte Glot, Belle Vernon, Pennsylvania, $10.00;

Kermit Brooks, Kitzmiller, $25.00.

Both Mike Thomas and Shaun Pullen, youngsters from College Park, were on a fishing trip together this past weekend at Deep Creek Lake when they caught their fish.

Tagged Largemouth Bass worth over $1,000.00 still remain to be caught in the fishing rodeo which runs until June 10. Prizes are also being awarded for the largest fish in eight different categories during the contest. All fish must be registered at Johnny's Bait House at Deep Creek Lake to be eligible.

The lake and its 65-mile shoreline at present account for most of the county's recreation and tourism income.

Rapid lake development, which has already begun spiraling so that now only about 25 percent of the shoreline is undeveloped, is expected to continue.

Recently, the State of Maryland Board of Public Works voted to lease Deep Creek from the Pennsylvania Electric Company, and there are predictions that within two years, the state will impose major restrictions on lake use, possibly permitting swimming, water skiing, and sailing only in certain areas.

Rather than see the lake become over-populated, Mr. Rickert suggested in his letter that additional funds be spent on improvement of existing Route 42 out of Friendsville, and on a roadway from the eastern part of the county through to Oakland and to Deep Creek Lake, skirting around the lake area.

Mr. Rickert feels that Route 42, which will bear the brunt of east-bound freeway traffic heading off the freeway to the lake area, needs attention before 219 is dualized. As residents know, Route 42 could use considerable improvement before traffic increases.

Mr. Rickert stated in his letter that "Deep Creek Lake is a well-established family residential recreation area and we fear that intensive promotional efforts will create intensive development pressures exceeding the area's capacity."

Spread Tourism Around

Instead of concentrating tourism efforts on the lake, he suggests that the state spread promotional efforts to include Savage River Reservoir, Youghiogheny River and Broadford Dam.

To help support the development of recreation opportunities in the 30,000 acres of state forest land comprising Savage River basin, he suggests a New Germany corridor road from the Freeway, helping remove some traffic burden from Route 219 and opening up access to Savage River.

Lease Would

had opened the entire waterfront of the lake to the public, bringing complaints from property owners that people were camping and holding beer parties on what property owners had long considered to be their front lawns. Rich said that while the state believes the property owners have no legal claim on the buffer zone land fronting their property, the state will reinstitute a permit system.

The two men indicated that property owners securing a permit will be able to call upon the state to arrest outsiders who come onto the buffer land and engage in yet to be defined activities.

There are certain areas that will be sanctified and preserved, it was stated. Rich said he expected the Department of Natural Resources to draft rules prohibiting the beaching of outsiders' boats along lake front areas where property owners have secured state permits.

Could Control Use

He said that the regulations will "exclude camping from in front of a person's home" but would not perhibit citizens from walking or fishing along any part of the lakefront.

One member of the board, Louis L. Goldstein, said the department must bring the regulations for the lake back to the board for approval.

Asked to explain why the electric company was willing to give the state $250,000 in cash or facilities, Ahar said "They're under orders from the Federal Power commission to supply a recreation plan for Deep Creek Lake."

of various other articles on American history, local history, Church history, Bibical studies, and devotional guides.

His Memorial Day address will be entitled, "Don't Forget!"

DeCorsey Bolden will serve as master of ceremonies. The invocation and benediction will be given by Rev. John Grant, rector of Deer Park Episcopal Church.

The Southern High School band will play the Star Spangled Banner and sacred music, under direction of Richard Clever.

The parade will form at 10 a. m. in front of city hall, moving out at 10:30 along Third Street to Fike's Dairy, turning west on Center street to Second, south on Second to Alder, Alder to Third, Third to Oak, Oak to Fifth and Fifth to the cemetery entrance.

The parade lineup will include American Legion Post 71 color guard, mayor and town council, Southern High School senior band, Legion auxiliary members, Girl Scouts and Brownies, Knights of Pythias, World War I veterans, Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts, World War II members and Gold Star mothers.

Any other group wishing to participate may contact Playford Ryan, parade committee members, or Randall Kabl. Other parade committee members are James Helbig who will be parade marshal, and Thomas Bittinger.

At the cemetery, Proctor Kildow Post 71 will provide a color guard and a salute to the dead with Rick Thayer and Rich Orr blowing taps. Rocky Swiger and Dale Fike are in charge of placing the K of P flags on the graves, while the Brownies will place flowers on the grave of the unknown soldier.

Transportation will be provided for World War I veterans to and from the cemetery, and seating will be provided at the cemetery.

Alfred "Blue" Marucci is in charge of placing wreaths on the soldiers' graves in Memorial Gardens. Flowers are to be provided by H. Weber and Sons, Florists.

Southern Style Show Planned Tuesday, May 22

Tevye, a pious man, tries to raise his five daughters according to the ways of the good book. However, the old ways of "tradition" no longer suffice and Tevye and his friends will have to become part of this changing world.

Dr. Rodeheaver states that "the musical is double cast so that more students have an opportunity to explore and develop their musical-drama talents." For the Friday evening production, Quincy (Buddy) Umbel will star as Tevye, and Nancy Shumaker as Golde, his wife. Sheila Buckel (Tzeitel), Anita Skidmore (Hodel), and Brenda Sines (Chava), are daughters that break Jewish "tradition," choosing their own mates rather than those of Yente, the matchmaker, played by Pam Riffle. Two other daughters are Shprintze (Nancy Teets), and Bielke (Betty Durst).

On Saturday night, Nathan Yoder plays Tevye, and Gale Stockslager is Golde. In the dual casting, Pam Workman, Geri Taylor and Kathy Bittinger will play daughter roles.

Others playing major roles include Nelson Yoder, Sandy Dice, Charles Bittinger, Nevin Crowe, Gerald Louck, Bonnie Yommer, Jo Ann Coddington, Julie Livengood, Gene Rodcheaver, and Keith Tackett. The show involves over sixty students; most are members of the Senior High Chorus, aided by a few Junior High Chorus members.

Northern's production will be accompanied by a twenty-piece orchestra made up of local musicians, students from Northern and Southern high schools, and string instrumentalists from West Virginia University.

Only 600 tickets are available for each showing. Adult tickets are $1.50 and student tickets are $1.00. Advanced tickets are available from the First National Banks in Oakland, McHenry, Grantsville, and Friendsville; from the Garrett National Banks in Oakland and Accident; and from the high school office. The public is invited.

SHS Baseball Team Beats Keyser 10-3

Southern baseball men came up with ten runs in the fourth inning to defeat Keyser 10-3 Monday on the Rams' home ground in a Potomac Valley conference clash.

The Keyser team had scored three in the second inning and seemed on the way to an upset over the unbeaten Rams when Southern erupted for the big inning.

Ernie Shotwell, after weathering second frame, scattered eight hits and fanned 12 as Southern kept its unbeaten record intact.

Shotwell aided his cause with a double and a single, driving in a pair of runs. Don Upole managed a double and a single and drove in a pair, while Randy DiSimone hit a pair of singles for the winners.

Quarterly Tobacco Tax Reaches $18,946 Total

Figures showing the latest quarterly distribution of tobacco tax revenue to the 23 counties and Baltimore city were released by Louis L. Goldstein, comptroller, last week.

Some $3,682,045.34 was distributed for the period January, February and March, and represented an increase of $297,978.48 over the corresponding quarter of last fiscal year.

For the first three quarters of fiscal 1973 the subdivisions have received $11,360,912.68. Tobacco tax receipts are shared with the subdivisions on the basis of population as directed by the General Assembly.

Garrett county received $18,946.53 for the third quarter, making a total of $58,858.25 for the three quarters, Garrett was fifth from the bottom.

Group For Retarded Will Meet May 24

The Garrett County Association for Retarded Children will meet Thursday, May 24, at 7:30 at the Green Street School.

Introduction of new officers will be held.

To have a town clean and beautiful should be the ambition of everyone of its citizens.

Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me as Mayor, and with the hearty approval of many conscientious citizens, I hereby proclaim

CLEAN UP & PAINT UP WEEK

Town Trucks Will Haul Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday

You are being asked to:

- Clean up your rubbish
- Banish the plague spots
- Clean up those vacant lots of rubbish, weeds and junk

We need a thorough cleaning and renovation. It is the sensible thing to do for health, safety, pride and happiness of all our people.

If you will cooperate and comply with this simple request, you will avoid the expense of having the town do your job and rendering you a bill.

If our town employees should miss any rubbish during this campaign do not hesitate to call City Hall, phone 334-2691, giving name and place of same, and it will be removed.

Honor Society Initiates 5 Teachers

Delta Kappa Gamma, international honor society for women educators, initiated five Garrett County teachers at its annual spring meeting April 28.

Becoming members of Eta Chapter at the luncheon meeting at the Cumberland Country Club were Mrs. Anna K. Beachy, Mrs. Barbara Flinn, Mrs. Jane Fox, Mrs. Jean Grose, and Dr. Lillian Mitchell.

Mrs. Beachy is a teacher of English and special education at Northern High school. Mrs. Flinn is employed as a Title I teacher with the Board of Education. Mrs. Fox is principal of Friendsville Elementary School.

Mrs. Grose teaches science and mathematics at Southern High School. Dr. Mitchell teaches psychology at Garrett Community College.

Mrs. Elizabeth Peregoy, president of Alpha Beta, State, of Delta Kappa Gamma; Miss Elizabeth Flake, president of Eta chapter; and other officers initiated the new members.

Garrett County members attending the meeting were Mrs. Alta Duling, Mrs. Evelyn Watson, Mrs. Elizabeth Randol, Mrs. Dorothy Frame, Mrs. Jean Wolfe, Miss Mildred Wnuk, Mrs. Zeola Robeson, and Mrs. Joann Harris.

Candy Stripers Recognized At Recent Exercises

Sixteen members of the Careers Club of Southern High School were given recognition for their work as Candy Stripers at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital at exercises in the hospital dining room the evening of May 8.

Fifteen young ladies were presented Candy Striper caps and one young man with a Candy Striper bar. Mrs. Verna Harvey, vice-president of the Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club, sponsors of the Candy Stripers, made the presentations to the following: Twila Reckerl, Sandra Tasker, Ruth Tasker, Deborah Schell, Susan Evans, Barbara Leighton, Debra DeBerry, Susan Friend, Mary Lohr, Jo-Ann Selders, Elizabeth Stalnaker, Barbara Rexrode, Lona Stewart, Beverly Will, Susan Yost and Walter Davy.

Each volunteer was given supervised training last November and December by Mrs. Norma Bolding and Mrs. Carol Clark, both Garrett County Public Health nurses. Each volunteer was then required to pass a test before they were allowed to go on duty. The Candy Stripers have given many hours on duty in the hospital since they started in January. Deborah Schell, a senior at SHS, has given the highest number of hours with 65, Barbara Rexrode is next with 58½ hours.

Recognition was also given to other members of the Health Careers Club for volunteer work in the County Health Department and Cuppett-Weeks nursing home. The club also contributed to the Heart Fund.

Some guests present who gave short talks were: Carl Everly, vice-principal of Southern High School; Mrs. Mary Lou Wilson, teacher at Southern High School and faculty advisor to the Health Careers Club; Merritt Feather, Administrator of the hospital; and Mrs. Mildred Dunbar, Directoress of Nurses at the hospital. Among other remarks, they assured the group that these volunteers aided in the comfort of the patients in the hospital and expressed the desire that the program be continued.

Sandra Tasker, president of the Health Careers Club, spoke and introduced various members of the club who told of the work the club has done this year. It was noted that the work of these volunteers is in contrast to much indifference of some other young persons today.

Two Candy Stripers who graduate from school this year, Walter Davy and Barbara Leighton, are planning a medical career. Three others, Sandra Tasker, Susan Evans and Deborah Schell are planning to be nurses.

Families, friends and guests attended the exercises.

Red Cross Conducts Extra Fund Raising

Special fund raising efforts for people left homeless in national disasters in 22 states are presently underway by the American National Red Cross.

Garrett County Chapter of the organization has been set a quota of $301. Anyone wishing to contribute may send a check, payable to the Garrett County Chapter, American Red Cross, to Mrs. Richard Shaffer, Alder Street, Oakland.

Funds will go to aid such people in such disaster areas as the Mississippi and Puerto Rico flood areas, and the munitions train explosion in central California.

The Red Cross has fed more than 32,000 persons during emergencies in 20 states since March 17.

Art Work From SHS Displayed At Library In May

Southern High School art students have manipulated many forms of artistic media into an eye-opening 200-article exhibit, including sculpture and clay forms, painting, graphic arts, ceramics, and rug hooking, which is presently displayed at the Ruth Enlow Library.

Under the direction of art teachers Frances Patterson, Patricia Filsinger and Marcette Danner, the exhibit represents the work of students from the seventh through the twelfth grades.

Students who helped to arrange it are Bryan Whorton, Ron Ball, Gary Fitzwater, Philip Crumley, Dorothy Hauser and Matt Pritts.

The art will be displayed through May.

Lunar Phase

The moon passed through its Full Moon Phase at 1:16 a. m. this morning. A waning moon will be seen this week. Moonrise will vary from 9:16 p. m. tonight to 47 minutes past midnight on the 23rd.

Moon at Apogee

Saturday at 8:09 p. m. the moon will be at its greatest distance from earth, 406,000 kilometers (252,300 miles) will separate these celestial bodies at that time.

Mercury

Sunday at 9:03 p. m. this planet will be exactly opposite the earth, but on the other side of the sun. This is called a superior conjunction. By next Saturday this tiny planet will perk above the western horizon to be seen in binoculars just after sunset.

Visible Planets

Saturn, Jupiter, Mars and Venus may be seen this week. Saturn, among the stars of Taurus, sets slightly more than an hour after the sun. Jupiter rises with the stars of Capricornus nearly 4 hours before the sun. Mars follows behind Jupiter with the stars of Aquarius, rising about 3 hours before the sun. Venus sets within an hour of the sun. It is very low on the western horizon.

Daylength Increases

The sun rose at 6:02 a. m. this morning. It will set at 8:27 p. m. Wednesday it will rise five minutes earlier and set five minutes later. There is a ten minute increase in daylight during the week.

Planetarium

Six classes have been scheduled this week. Today Allegany County Outdoor School studies "North Circumpolar Constellations." Tomorrow Mrs. Ethel Boltz's fourth grade class from Dennett Road will study "Reasons for the Seasons." The Terra Alta Elementary School will visit to study the same topic tomorrow also. Monday Mrs. Marjorie Hamill's fourth grade from Dennett Road School will study the "Solar System." Tuesday Mineral County's Outdoor School will study "North Circumpolar Constellations." Wednesday Mrs. Jean Grose's class from Southern High School will study the "Solar System."

SHS Golf, Baseball Teams Beat Keyser

Southern's undefeated golf team beat Keyser by 167-190 Monday afternoon at the Mill Creek Country Club

Dave Hinebaugh's 38 and Dave Sharps' 42 were low scores for the Rams. Low for Keyser was Rick Terizzi with 41

Southern's baseball team also topped Keyser in play Monday at Keyser, thanks to two runs driven in by Ernie Shotwell. Final score was 2-0.

Paul Lewis pitched a four-hitter as Southern took its seventh victory in as many decisions.

Shotwell singled home Junior Upole in third inning and Randy DiSimone in the seventh as the Rams rattled eight safeties off losing pitcher Robert Eagle. Both Lewis and Eagle struck out seven batters and walked three.

Upole singled to open the second inning, went to third on an error and raced home on Shotwell's first single. In the seventh, DiSimone singled, took third on a single by Donnie Uphold and tallied Southern's insurance run on Shotwell's third hit of the game.

HOOKS A WHOPPER—Gary Crosco, Route 1, Oakland, struggles to hold up the 26 inch rainbow trout he caught Sunday, May 13, in the Youghiogheny River. His six-pound prize was landed about 6:15 p.m., just after his father, Larry Crosco, had fished the area and moved on after getting no nibbles. Ten-year-old Gary was even using his father's spinning reel and rod at the time. Mr. Crosco says he plans to get the fish mounted, and has already entered it in the local fishing contest at Deep Creek Lake. So far the trout is the largest measured at Johnny's Bait House at the lake.

Woman Pleads Guilty Of Misuse Of The Telephone

An Oakland area woman pleaded guilty of misuse of the telephone in District Court yesterday before Judge Lewis R. Jones and was fined $300.

Alexandra Patillo, 73, Star Route, Oakland, pleaded guilty of making a number of telephone calls to Dr. James H. Feaster prior to May 7. Dr. Feaster reported that 30 annoying calls had been received on three days prior to that date.

Costs of $10 were also paid.

SHS English Classes Will Give PTA Program May 21

Two Southern senior English classes will present their long-postponed program which interprets Thomas Gray's "Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard" during the PTA meeting on Monday, May 21, in the Southern High cafetorium.

This program, which explores the many different areas of communication, was originally scheduled for March, but had to be programmed to a later date due to a snow holiday.

The presentation will be given at 7:30 p. m. before the regular business meeting. Students will be on hand to present and explain their individual interpretations.

At the business session new PTA officers for the coming year will be installed. Refreshments will be served from 7 to 7:30 before the program.

Southern Trounces Fort Ashby Twice, 5-0, 14-2

Southern trounced Fort Ashby 5-0 and 14-2 last Thursday in PVC action.

Randy DiSimone had two homers and Don Upole a single while Paul Lewis and Ernie Shotwell hurled the wins for the Rams. Lewis and Upole both allowed only two hits and Southern now has boosted its record to 6-0.

In Contrast, Less Rain Fell During The Past Week

In contrast to recent weeks, precipitation during the past week was about .6 inches below the normal. Temperatures were also below the season's normal.

Although skies were cloudy much of the week, precipitation amounted only a little over half an inch during the week with only scattered light showers. The heaviest 'rain day' was last Friday with .3 inch. There were brief periods of sunshine between the showers most every day. The only real clear day was yesterday.

Daytime mercury readings were mostly in the upper 50s and low 60s after last Thursday's warm 72 degrees. Nighttime lows were in the 30s and 40s. Last Friday the thermometer showed a milder low of 47 degrees. The mercury dropped below freezing two mornings with 30 degrees registered Monday and yesterday.

Moderate to gusty winds were noted over the weekend, tapering off Tuesday and becoming light yesterday.

SANG RUN

Mrs. Rodney McKenzie and children, Monrovia, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen DeWitt, over the weekend.

Mrs. Ada Stewart and Mrs. Pearl Tasker, Vindex, visited Mr. and Mrs. John Tasker Sunday. They also visited Mrs. Mae Mayle.

Mrs. Mae Mayle is spending a couple days this week with Mr. and Mrs. Arden Skipper.

Mrs. Milton DeWitt visited Mr. and Mrs. Steward Savage Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Michael and Mrs. Mary Hinebaugh spent a little while at her home here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cosner, Sr., spent the weekend at their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hoye, Baxton Hoye, and Mrs. Fred Hoye visited Alice Hoye at the General Hospital, Fairmont, Saturday.

Baxton Hoye, Mr. and Mrs. Rick Hoye and Stacia spent the weekend with Mrs. Fred Hoye.

Northern Clouts Terra Alta 27-0

Northern High School walloped Terra Alta 27-0 last Thursday afternoon in a five-inning game at Northern.

Kenny Sines hit a grand slam homer and Vernon Snyder managed a three-run blast for Northern, while Ronnie Bloeker and Ken Harding combined to pitch the no-hitter. Bloeker pitched the first four innings.

Sines' four-run clout happened during the seven-run second inning, and Snyder's three-run homer occurred during a 12-run spree in the first inning. Greg Humberson contributed three RBI's, on three successive hits.

Haskeill and Sisler shared the mound duties for Terra Alta. Haskeill had nine hits and 24 runs in three innings.

Robinson, Slagle and Snyder had two hits each for Northern, to go with the three by Humberson.

Playing for Northern were Robinson, Bender, Slagle, Snyder, Humberson, Graves, Sines, Bloeker, DeWitt, Harding, and Swauger.

Dr. Sherwood Author of Daily Devotions Series

Dr. Lawrence Sherwood, Pastor of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, is the author of a series of daily devotions published by the West Virginia Conference of The United Methodist Church.

The local Pastor was selected to write one of six sections of a booklet entitled "Biblical Studies on 'Priorities for Mission.'"

This section of the booklet deals with the theme "To Grow in Faith and Trust"; it compares various experiences of the Christians in the New Testament Church with our experiences in today's world.

The 10,000 copies of the first edition are being distributed for use in churches throughout the State of West Virginia and parts of Maryland.

Cousins Enlist In Armed Forces

Bradley E. Rush

Norris W. Rush

Two local cousins have enlisted in the Armed Services recently. Both were sworn in in ceremonies last Wednesday.

Bradley E. Rush, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rush, Mt. Lake Park, enlisted with the U. S. Air Force. Bradley, a senior at Southern High School, will leave for Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, in August.

Norris Wayne Rush, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benj. C. Rush, Accident, enlisted in the U. S. Navy. Norris is a senior at Northern High School and will leave for Great Lakes Training Station, Ill., in October.

Attends Homemaker Council Spring Meet

On May 9 and 10 at Hilltop Ranch, Colora, Md. (Cecil County) the Maryland Extension Homemakers' Council held its annual spring meeting with the theme "The Emerging Woman." The sole representative from this county was Mrs. Paul T. Calderwood, president of the Garrett County Council of Homemakers' Clubs.

In May 1972 this organization held its spring meeting in this County, at the Village Inn.

During June, at the University of Maryland campus, College Week for Women will be celebrating its 50th anniversary. In 1923 there were two attending, from the Grantsville section of the County, Mrs. H. P. Miller and Miss Lula M. Shaw.

It is believed that Mrs. Miller is deceased. If it were possible for Miss Shaw to attend this year's meeting, she would be honored as a member of that first group.

Unique Beef Raising Projects Are Underway In Northern Garrett County

Mr. Dean Rush's specially-constructed Butler farm building, designed and erected this year by Glenn Stahlman, Cumberland, especially for the calf-raising project. The enclosed section to the right is for baby calves; after six weeks, they move into the middle pen, and after six weeks there they are moved to the end section for seven weeks, until they weigh approximately 400 pounds. Charles Nolder is promoting the calf growing project in the county, and Wayne Feed Company provides the necessary feeds and helps farmers find sales for their 400-pound produce.

by Carol Canan

More tender and tasty beef is on the way, via Garrett County.

Several county residents are engaged in an innovative beef-raising project—taking baby calves and raising them to 400 pounds in rigidly controlled conditions.

Each of the farmers, Owen Stanton, Gerald Cowser and Roger Beitzel, all Bittinger; Tom and Stewart Stanton, Grantsville, and Deane Rush, Accident, cares for about 60 calves until they reach 400 pounds.

Mr. Rush's operation is the newest, and so far he is the only one who has had a building constructed especially for the purpose.

Glenn M. Stahlman, Cumberland, designed and constructed a 36' x 120' Butler farm building on the Rush property this year, completing the building about March 1.

Mr. Rush's first shipment of baby calves, bought at various auctions by Robert O. Glotfelty, Bittinger, who buys for all of the beefraisers, was housed in the uncompleted building when they arrived February 19. After six weeks in the first, enclosed, ventilated and heated section of the building, the calves are moved to a middle pen, and after six weeks there they move to the final and largest section where they stay for seven weeks before being sold to farmers who will finish them to about 1,000 pounds, or slaughtering size.

As each group is moved on, another group is ready to move in.

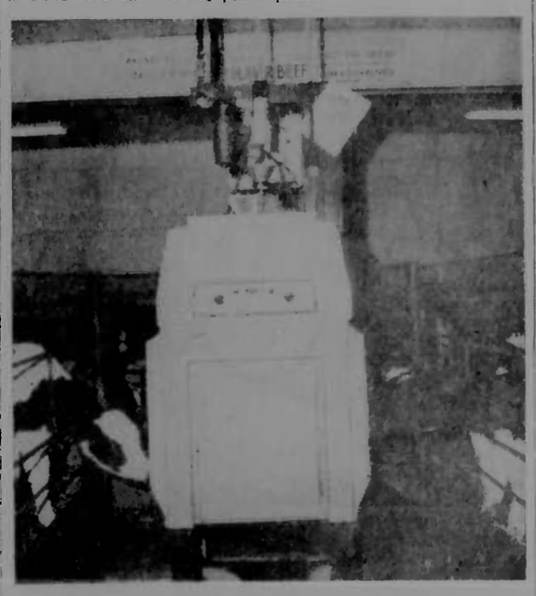
Only healthy, baby bulls are used in the program. Nearly all of the calves are Holsteins, which are apt to grow faster and more efficiently. As soon as the calves come to a farm, each receives $5 worth of medicine, five shots and two boluses, and is given a numbered ear tag. In the first two days in their new home, the sixty calves are given 30 dozen eggs to keep them healthy and strong.

In the first area for the calves, a maternal robot mixes milk replacer and calves are allowed all they want, along with the best of hay and some grain made especially for calves by the Wayne Feed Company and distributed locally by Buckel's Store, Bittinger. Wayne Feeds also helps the farmers sell their calves at six months of age.

The project in this county is promoted by Charles Nolder, West Newton, Pa., who is involved in the calf raising project on his farm there.

According to Mr. Rush, several other local farmers are planning to switch to raising baby calves for beef in the near future.

One dark spot on the promising horizon of this new "industry"—what happens when your wife and children get attached to the little calves and hate to see them sold? In the case of Mrs. Rush, she'll cooperate with the selling of these tender morsels, but as for their own table, she'll buy only a beef they did not feed and care for, so she won't have to feel that its "eyes are looking up at her from her plate."



A MATERNAL ROBOT in action at the Deane Rush farm, Accident. The machine mixes milk replacer constantly so it is always available to hungry calves. The three calves pictured are part of the 60 brought to the Rush farm April 8. In approximately another five months, these will be ready to be sold to farmers for finishing to slaughter size.

Shopping Tips

Supermarket shelves and airwaves are being saturated with more new versions of Hamburger Helpers and Skillet Dinners. The success of the original Hamburger Helper, consisting mainly of potatoes, has stimulated introduction of similar products based on noodles, rice, macaroni and oriental vegetables and so on.

The manufacturers say, "All you add is the meat," but really you add money. For example, you pay 57 cents for a product consisting of about 6 ounces of noodles plus a little more than an ounce of dried sauce which is basically cheese and bouillon. At 57 cents for 7 ounces, the Helper comes to $1.30 a pound or much more than the price of a pound of hamburger you add to what is supposed to make five servings. Since the value of the packet of cheese sauce is about 12 cents, you really are paying 45 cents for six ounces of dried noodles.

For the past few years young homemakers have been demanding more convenient foods. We have failed to think what this can do to our economy. Now we are faced with high cost of food and we are complaining. Let's get back to making things ahead of time and making large quantities of food and freezing them for future use.

Another tip to save food dollars is to use shopping ads. Plan your menus for a week from your shopping guide and you will see you can have well-balanced meals and also save money. Extension Service is available if you need help in planning meals or help with recipes.

Oakland Team Has One Win, One Loss Over Weekend

Oakland's baseball team won one game and lost one over the weekend, coming up with a one-win, three loss record so far for the season in Pen-Mar play. This is the first year Oakland has competed in the Pen-Mar league, centrally located in Cumberland.

Keyser defeated the Oakland team 2-1 Saturday at Keyser, due to efforts of winning pitcher John Chaney. Bob Finch was pitcher for the losers.

Wayne Bosley ended with two doubles. Bob Finch two singles for the losers. Other Oakland players were Scripp, Shotwell, Speicher, Shahan, G. Bosley, Helbig, Calhoun, and Kitzmiller.

Oakland trounced Cumberland 8-4 Sunday afternoon at Cumberland, thanks to efforts by winning pitcher Sam Glotfelty and two home runs socked in by Charlie Shahan.

Finch had two hits, Wayne Bosley two, Harvey Speicher a single, Terry Helbig, a single, Craig Bosley a double, and Sam Glotfelty a single.

Other players Sunday were Scripp, Imhoff, Kitzmiller, and G. Bosley.

home this coming Sunday on

The next scheduled game is at Southern's field against Everett, Pa. Game time is 2:30.

Baltimore Bicycling Group Here For Weekend

Approximately 200 members of the Baltimore Bicycling Club spent the weekend in Garrett County for a weekend on wheels.

The group, including State Sen. Joseph J. Staszak, also from Baltimore, stayed at Herrington Manor State Park and at camping sites in Swallow Falls State Park. Walking and bicycling tours and other outdoor activities were planned, as well as a visit from Sen. William Wilson, Allegany-Garrett County.

Hot Line Hears About Alcoholism

James "Smokey" Stanton, Addiction Coordinator of the Alcoholism Services, spoke to the regular monthly meeting of Hot Line volunteers at Southern High School on May 2nd. After a brief introduction on the alcoholism center, methods used and how volunteers can help the alcoholic caller or the friend or family member who may call, a movie was shown. The movie emphasized the subtleties of becoming an alcoholic, the difficulty of admission of the problem and possible treatments.

With the coming of summer and the usual problem of people being away for trips and vacations, many more volunteers are needed. Interested persons may call Lonna Sheltra or the Garrett County Health Dept.

Hot Line is a service-oriented phone answering system to assist all persons of any age who call for any reason. The phones are manned every night, Sunday through Saturday from 8 to 11 p. m. The local number is 334-2118 and long distance callers may use the toll free Enterprise number, 9-334-2118.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

"How Can You Sing at a Time Like This?"

The Book of Acts in the New Testament tells many strange stories. Chapter 16 tells about Paul and Silas who, because of their Christian witness, were thrown into jail. The other prisoners in the jail heard strange sounds that night; at midnight, Paul and Silas began to sing!

The prisoners had heard other prisoners bemoan their fate; they often had heard men cursing their luck that had brought them to this low estate. But, they had never heard men singing in jail at midnight before!

This attitude of Paul and Silas may sound strange even to us. But this attitude reflects a spirit that each of us needs.

We can well imagine these two would rather have been someplace else instead of where they were. They had plenty of cause to grumble and to make life miserable for themselves and others. But they would not let circumstances rule them.

Each of us often finds circumstances in life that are not what we would prefer them to be. We gripe because things are not as we wish them to be, rather than determine to take things as they are and make the best of them.

Our common speech is colored with our need to accept things as they are and move on from there. In golf one hears the phrase to "play it as it lies"; the player may wish that the ball had landed some place other than where it did, but he has to accept its position and play it from there.

One hears a young person tell another, when something has gone wrong, "Well, that's the way the cookie crumbles." One may have wished to eat his cookie whole, but if it crumbled he can still eat it in pieces.

Each of us will find himself imprisoned by circumstances. It is our attitude and our spirit that will make all the difference. Paul and Silas could sing in prison because they had the sure knowledge that their lives were committed to God who cares.

May we ask God's help to accept things as they are, do what we can with what we have, and face life bravely and confidently. Thus, we will find release from our prisons and newness of life.

Dr. Lawrence Sherwood, Pastor, St. Paul's United Methodist Church.

DIED

MRS. CHARLES WRIGHT

Mrs. Nevada K. Wright, 78, of Route 1, Gormania, died Monday, May 14, in the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home, Oakland.

Born in Miller's Tipple, Pa., she was a daughter of the late Jake and Adeline (Stefley) Gindlesburger. Twice married, she was preceded in death by both husbands, Delphia McCrobie and Charles Wright.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Alice Bircher, Baltimore; three sons, Joseph McCrobie, Iselin, N. J.; James W. McCrobie and Harry D. McCrobie, both Gormania; 26 grandchildren, 36 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

The body was taken to the Minnich-Stewart Funeral Home, where a service will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. by Rev. Paul Poland. Interment will be in Pleasant Valley Cemetery.

KITZMILLER

Mother's Day visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ellifritz were S.F.C. and Mrs. Darrell Armstrong, Adelphi; Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Ellifritz, Myra and Eric, Mt. Lake Park; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Armstrong, Sr., Sandra, Henry, Jr., Pamela and Robert, Deer Park; Mrs. Carol Whitacre, Martha and Douglas, and Jinnie Armstrong, Kitmiller.

Mrs. Ann Shaffer, Cumberland, visited her mother, Mrs. Florence Stewart, who has been confined to her bed for several days. She also visited her sister, Mrs. Leona Wolfe.

Mrs. Harry Riggleman is a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Those visiting Mr. and Mrs. James Lipscomb were Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Gallagher, Newton McRobie, Mrs. Robert McRobie, Bobbie and Sandy McRobie, Cumberland; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Lipscomb, Barton; Mr. and Mrs. John Gallagher, Petersburg, Florida; Mrs. Mellie Bucklew, Rowlesburg, W. Va.; James Lipscomb, Jr., Canton, O.; and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Tasker and children, Vindex.

Mrs. Helen Lipscomb and Mrs. Mary Jane Tasker visited Mrs. Mellie Bucklew, Rowlesburg. She accompanied them home.

A birthday dinner was held for Mrs. Mellie Bucklew at the home of Mrs. Leo Tasker. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. James H. Lipscomb, Bruce, James, Michael Randall, and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Tasker.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ellifritz, Mrs. Carol Whitacre, Joe, Martha, and Douglas Whitacre attended the Jubilators Quartet hymn sing at Swanton Saturday night.

(Delayed)

Full Gospel Church of Deer Park, Maryland

P. O. Drawer AD Deer Park, Md.

Rev. W. H. Leake, Pastor

To Whom It May Concern:

We, the Pastor and congregation of the Full Gospel Church of Deer Park, Maryland wish to make known our position as it relates to the religious program known as KEY 73.

We have never been, we ARE NOT, nor shall we ever be a part of the Ecumenical Movement known as the National and World Council of Churches. We consider KEY 73 to be a back door approach to the Ecumenical Movement; therefore, we are not supporting it in any manner whatsoever. We believe in working Spiritual Unity with other Christian bodies although they may not be in total agreement with us on all points of Doctrine. There are however, some doctrines we consider absolutely essential before we could co-operate in any type of program or fellowship.

1. The Bible is the Infallible Word of God, without error.
2. Jesus Christ is the Son of God, He was born of a virgin, lived a sinless life, died a vicarious death, rose from the grave on the third day, ascended back to Heaven, and is coming again.
3. A Triune God known as the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.
4. All mankind is lost and separated from God and the only means of being cleansed from sin is through repentance and faith in the precious Blood of Jesus Christ.
5. The resurrection of both the saved and the lost, one to everlasting life and the other to everlasting damnation.

In closing, let us quote Amos 3:3, "Can two walk together except they be agreed?" The answer is an obvious NO. So although we agree with the KEY 73 stated purpose of witnessing to everyone about Christ, we disagree with their means of carrying it out. We consider the Religious Ecumenical Movement the biggest threat to Spiritual and National Freedom in the world today and we challenge our fellow Christian brethren to obey the Scriptures and to separate themselves from the Apostasy. Please read II Corinthians 6:14-18 and II Thessalonians 2:1-12.

Volunteer Program Continues At Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home

Residents at the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home have been participating in the various activities of the Volunteer Program which was initiated there in September, 1972. One aspect of the program is an Arts and Crafts class which meets every Wednesday and Friday afternoon, with twelve to fourteen residents participating each week.

At present, the craft workers are endeavoring to produce hand-made souvenirs of Garrett County, which they plan to sell at various locations this summer.

In addition to Mrs. Browning and Mrs. Sharps, eight other volunteers are currently engaged in teaching Arts and Crafts including Mrs. Ruth Campbell, Mrs. Linda Fike, Mrs. Bonnie Calhoun, , Mrs. Goldie Bittle, Mrs. Lorraine Ledden, Mrs. Ardith Michaels, Mrs. Gladys Paugh, and Mrs. Ermal Hull.

The total Volunteer Program includes a variety of activities, scheduled throughout each week, including Social Teas, Movies, Bingo, Table Games, Slide Presentations, a Mobile Library, Music Programs, Personal Visiting, and a monthly Birthday Party. Eighty volunteers are presently enrolled in the program, contributing one hour every two weeks in the activity of his or her choice. The Garrett County Department of Social Services is responsible for recruitment, training, and assignment of volunteers. During the week of May 21 the Department will be recruiting new volunteers. Anyone, male or female, who wishes to enroll in the Volunteer Program should telephone Robert Shaffer or Miss Fannie Yoder at the Social Services Office, Oakland.

Two From Here Attend Convention

On May 6, 7 and 8, at Hunt Valley Inn, Cockeysville, the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs, Inc. held its 74th annual convention. In attendance from the County were Mrs. Eugene Baumgartner, past president of the Western District of the Federation, and Mrs. Paul T. Calderwood, current president of that District. Mrs. Baumgartner acted as delegate from The Civic Club of Oakland.

The Western District is composed of Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick and Carroll Counties, comprising 12 clubs, with approximately 950 members.

A number of awards were received by clubs within the Western District.

In the State Pennies for Art contest, a young man from Sykesville, Ryan Rash, received first place, which carried a $200 scholarship. The award was made on the final day of the Convention. Mrs. Tom Butscher is the Western District's Pennies for Art Chairman. During February the District contest was held at the Ruth Enlow Library. The State judging took place at Sherwood Forest, near Annapolis, on April 1st.

For the banquet on May 7th, Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew was an honored guest of the Federation.

Commission On Aging Meets

On May 8, the monthly meeting of the Commission on Aging was held in the Conference Room of the CAC. Attending as guests were Lucille Miser of the Health Department, Philip Barton of Ruth Enlow Library, and Representative DeCorsey Bolden.

The next meeting will be Thursday, May 17, when Mary Jane Lyman, Baltimore, State Director of Commission on Aging, will be present.

The Secret That Was

When someone shares a secret, it's on its way to becoming no secret at all. And yet it doesn't cease to be a secret until you have shared it.

When Jesus preached in the wilderness, hundreds came miles to hear Him. They wanted to share His secret . . . the secret of God . . . the secret of Man and God.

So right there in the wilderness, it was on its way to becoming no secret at all. Except that, even today, not everyone has shared it.

Academically every intelligent person knows what Christianity is all about. But each Sunday all over this world someone is finding in church a new strength, a new purpose, a new faith. For the heart of Christ's message brings a human soul into harmony with a mighty and loving God . . . whose power gives our lives direction . . . whose concern gives our lives meaning.

The secret that was is still a secret, until YOU share it too.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

"HANG IN THERE!"

Lesson for May 20, 1973

Background Scripture: Isaiah 40:25-31; 2 Corinthians 4:15; 12:9, 10; Philippians 4:10-13.
Devotional Reading: Psalms 84.

"The hero," Emerson once said, "is no braver than the ordinary man, but he is brave five minutes longer." Courage is often a matter of "hanging in there" long enough.

This is also true in terms of religious faith. Persistence and refusal to give in are often the elements that win the battles of faith. Defeat is often attributable to the fact someone did not hold on quite long enough.

Rev. Althouse

So close, yet so far

Near the top of Mount Washington there is a marker on the trail to show the spot where a woman climber lay down to die. On a clear day, her decision seemed ridiculous: she was no more than one hundred steps from the summit and a shelter cabin. But she had not climbed the mountain on a clear day and that fatal day she saw only the storm and its dark clouds all about her. Tired, frightened, confused, she gave up and lay down to die within a stone's throw of the cabin that would have saved her life. If only she had kept on!

How many tragic stories have ended under similar circumstances? People have met disaster or perished without knowing how close at hand was their help or their goal. Unable to see ahead, they have given up and suffered defeat unnecessarily. What they have needed in most cases has been the power to "hang in there" just a little longer.

Often the key to victory or salvation in cases such as these is our faith in God's grace. We can keep going, keep hanging on, if we know that God's help is sufficient for all our needs. It is this trust in God's power that enables us to persevere. As Isaias put it,

He gives power to the faint, and to him who has no might he increases strength. Even youths shall faint and be weary, and young men shall fall exhausted; but they who wait for the Lord shall renew their strength, they shall mount up with wings like eagles, they shall run and not be weary, they shall walk and not faint. (Isaiah 40:29-31)

Actually, we do not need to ask ourselves whether we are equal to the task, for God himself supplies what we need. "My grace is sufficient for you," promises the Lord, and what this means is that we will receive, if we accept it, resources equal to our needs. "I can do all things in him who strengthens me," says Paul. He can "do all things" because it is God who strengthens him, who gives him what he needs.

Knowing this, often we can "hang in there" longer, long enough, to see the problem through, to outlast the danger, to survive the crisis. The knowledge that his grace is sufficient for all our needs, and our trust in that grace, give us the power to go on.

Nursing Home Residents Observe Birthdays

Michael E. Supak, Thomas, W. Va., was traveling east on U. S. Route 40 last Thursday evening near the intersection of U. S Route 219. An unidentified vehicle was traveling west and failed to keep to the right side of the road. Supak, apparently to avoid it, ran off the right side of the road, skidded on some gravel and struck an embankment. Trooper Ronald C. Georg made no charges.

Dorothy Frazee DeWitt, Friendsville, was traveling south on First Ave. and Maple Street in Friendsville the morning of May 7. Galen E. Resh, Accident, traveling in a Mack truck west on Maple street, failed to stop for a red light and collided with the DeWitt car. Tfc D. E. Tharp charged Dorothy DeWitt with having plates improperly displayed and Resh with failing to obey traffic light.

Donna Kay Hinebaugh, Friendsville, was traveling on U. S. Route 219 near the Accident-Bear Creek road last Wednesday evening when a deer ran into the path of the car. The car struck the deer, skidded off the side of the road and struck an embankment. Trooper Georg investigated.

Daniel A. Dolphin, Newark, Del. and Charles B Teufel, Thomas, W. Va., were traveling east on U. S. Route 40 Saturday evening. An unknown vehicle ahead stopped suddenly. Dolphin hit his brakes and Teufel did the same; however, Teufel was unable to stop due to wet road conditions and hit the rear of the Dolphin car. Trooper Williams investigated.

James R. Rhodes, Keyser, W. Va., was traveling east on Route 40, last Thursday night, when the operator lost control of his car. The car then crossed the roadway, struck the guardrail, veered from it and came to rest on the westbound shoulder. Trooper Williams charged Rhodes with operating at a speed too great. The wreck occurred near Devil's Half Acre Road.

Donald E. Genard, Dickerson Run, Pa., was traveling north on the Swallow Falls road near Mellott road just past midnight, May 4. Genard lost control of the car, went over an embankment and came to rest against a rock. Trooper Williams charged him with negligent driving.

A conservation group has accused the government of adding to the flood problem in the Mississippi River Valley.

Dr. Ruh Is New Harbison-Walker Technology Head

Dr. Edwin Ruh, formerly Director of Research for Harbison-Walker Refractories Division, Dresser Industries, Inc., has been appointed Director of Advanced Technology for the Division. In his new position, Dr. Ruh reports to the Vice President-Group Planning.

As Director of Advanced Technology, Dr. Ruh will be responsible for investigating technological advancements in areas outside the normal scope of products and industries serviced.

Dr. Ruh studied ceramic engineering at Rutgers University, where he earned B.S., M.S. and PhD degrees. He joined Harbison-Walker in 1954 as a research engineer, was appointed Assistant Director of Research in 1957, and in January, 1971, was named Director of Research, the position he leaves to accept his new appointment.

Motor Accidents Injure Four Over Weekend

Motor vehicle accidents in different parts of the county over the weekend resulted in injury to four persons. Two refused treatment and the other two were only slightly injured.

Two were injured in a one-car wreck at the westt edge of Oakland, Saturday about 3:15 p. m. Rodger Lee Titchenell, Terra Alta, W. Va., driver of the car and his passenger Jerry J. Miller, Kingwood, W. Va., were slightly injured. Titchenell driving east on the Crellin road just west of the Oakland town limit, at a high rate of speed, ran off the left shoulder, struck a telephone pole, cutting it in two, and came to a stop down an embankment at the edge of the Youghiogheny River.

Tfc. Ronald S. Lewis charged Titchenell on three counts: failing to keep to the right side of the road, operating without proper license and operating under the influence of alcohol.

A passenger in one car of a two-car wreck refused treatment following an accident on U. S. Route 219 just south of the Glendale Road Sunday about 1 p. m. Bizie L. White, a passenger in a car driven by Glen W. White, both of Deer Park, was injured.

Neil L. Henline, Rockville, was traveling south on Route 219 and Glen White was traveling north. White failed to notice the Henline car coming toward him, and made a left turn into its path and struck it. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater charged White with failing to grant the right-of-way when making a left turn.

Hugh L. Lipscomb, Kitzmiller, refused treatment of injuries received in a two-car mishap on State Route 135 at Sand Flat road last Friday morning. Michael L. Kelly, Terra Alta, W. Va., had pulled onto Route 135 and failed to see the Lipscomb car traveling west on 135. Trooper Broadwater charged Kelly with failing to stop at a 'stop' sign.

There were no apparent injuries in six other accidents.

Betty Sue Sisler, Friendsville, was traveling south on First Ave. in Friendsville, overtaking another vehicle Saturday at noon. Terry E. Spear, Friendsville, was driving west on Ross Ave., approaching the intersection of First Ave. and failed to grant the right-of-way. Betty Sisler was charged with improper passing on roadway markings. Spear was charged with failing to grant the right-of-way at an intersection.

Meet The Staff

BOB DAVIS

One of our best production men is this week's staff representative. He is Bob Davis from our meat department. Bob started working for us in 1969. We didn't have to train Bob in the meat cutting trade for he came to us with many years of experience. One of the main reasons for the outstanding production per man hour in our meat department is due to Bob's superior efforts.

Bob is our number one first cutter and assistant manager of the meat department. He takes over when the present manager is absent. He has done such a fine job in the past that we offered him the management job in our new store in Elkins. Since his interests in this area made it impossible for him to accept the new position, we're happy to inform you that Bob will remain in our Oakland store giving you the high quality cuts of meats that you are accustomed to receiving at our store.

We're proud to add another pro to our team. Seventeen years experience plus interest and enjoyment towards his job makes Bob an "all pro" for sure.

In his leisure time Bob enjoys the outdoors. Probably his favorite sport is hunting. He also enjoys fishing, but we're told he traded his fishing pole in on a new softball glove. You can see him in action by attending one of the slow pitch games in the near future.

Bob and his wife Virginia reside at Star Route 1, Box 14, Oakland. They are the parents of a lively little boy named Bobby.

Gospel Film To Be Shown

A Gospel film (in color) entitled "TV and THEE" will be shown at the Full Gospel Church in Deer Park Saturday, May 19 at 7:30 p. m.

The pastor, W. H. Leake says, according to statistics there are more TV sets than bathtubs in our Country; the average child has seen a total of 9000 hours of TV before he enters school, and by the time he is eighteen (18) the total is 25,000 hours plus 350,000 commercials; there are five violent acts committed during the average TV hour.

According to Pastor Leake, this film starts with the proposition that the average Christian doesn't know how much time he spends before the TV screen. The film also asks some vital questions, such as, does TV affect your family's relationship with each other and God?

Two Youths Make No Contest Of Damage Charges

Two Oakland youths made no contest of charges of malicious destruction of property at trials before Judge Lewis R. Jones in District Court Monday. One other person was found not guilty and two cases were dropped.

Phillip Pritts, Second Street, Oakland, made no contest of a charge of malicious destruction of property, of some lawn, of Robert Rodeheaver, North Second Street, Oakland, on March 30. A 30-day jail sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation for one year. He is to make restitution for damage done and not to associate with Paula Browning. Costs of $10 were paid.

Paula Browning, South Fourth Street, Oakland, made no contest of two charges of malicious destruction of property, one being some lawn of Robert Rodeheaver on north Second Street and the other some lawn at Southern High School, both occurring about the end of March. A 30-day jail sentence was suspended and she was placed on probation for one year under supervision of the Department of Parole and Probation. She is to make restitution and not to associate with Phillip Pritts. Costs of $10 were paid.

Clark L. Bittinger, Meadow Mt. Inn, Grantsville, had been charged with assault and battery on his wife, Annabell Bittinger, April 29, and disorderly intoxication. Both charges were dropped because the wife would not testify against her husband.

John L. Tasker, RD 2, Oakland, was found not guilty of disorderly intoxication at the home of Dorothy Ludwig, Sunnyside.

Wildwater Races Set May 18-20 On Cheat River

Members of the United States team that participates in the World Wildwater Championship in Europe this summer will be determined by a series of three races held this Friday through Sunday, May 18-20, on West Virginia's Cheat River.

Also at stake will be the National Canoe Wildwater Championship, which will go to winners in Sunday's canoe races.

Races are scheduled for Friday and Saturday at 1 p. m. and Sunday at 11 a m.

Races will be run on the Narrows section of the Cheat, which begins near the Limestone caves below Rowlesburg and runs north along Route 72 toward Albright and Kingwood. The course is about five miles long

There will be separate classes for men's single kayak, women's single kayak, men's single canoe, men's double canoe and a pair of man and woman canoeists.

Kingwood Volunteer Fire Department has made the local park available for camping for a $3 fee. Friday evening a smorgasbord will be provided at Rowlesburg High School, and on Saturday night there will be a dinner at Albright school gymnasium.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES —Let us send you our success story. Are you too busy making a living to make money? Let Sun Chemical and Refining Corporation send you our Record of Success, then you decide if it is a track record you want to be a part of in making money. Our product is unique and there is none on the market to compete. The PILL for the automobile is nationally advertised in Road and Track, Hot Rod, Motor Trend, Car and Driver, Cycle, and Service Station Dealer, just to mention a few, and replaces all automotive additives on the market today. You simply drop it in your gas tank, get a ring and valve job and save gasoline. We cut 7 cents per gallon off gas price and we will stop oil burning. We will send you our complete brochure and laboratory testing, and for the qualified person, we will pay all expense bringing you to our home office for complete training and furnish you a list of all customers in your area. We pay 100% cost of local and national advertising including newspaper ads, radio and TV scripts. We invest three dollars to your one. To get started, you must have $5000 to $10,000 investment for starting inventory depending upon size of territory. (No Franchise Fee.) This is truly a ground floor opportunity you should check out if you want a Dream Success Story of your own. If you are serious, let us hear your story and position. If you are not serious, please don't waste our time or yours, as time is money. At this point we are sure you have questions and it is impossible to explain everything in this ad. Our brochure package will explain everything from factory to marketing to consumer use. Our brochure package contains a free gift for you and over 50 pages of pictures, laboratory tests and marketing concept on corporation. Our products are a guaranteed sale to you. For this package, write or phone Mark Anthony, A C 904-396-5856 or write Sun Chemical and Refining Corporation, 1301 Gulf Life Tower, Jacksonville, Florida 32207. — Adv. 10-3t.

Assignee's Sale

OF VALUABLE

REAL ESTATE

Situate in Election District No 3, Garrett County, Maryland, in Grantsville.

Under and by virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage from Leon Boyer, single, to The Garrett National Bank in Oakland, dated March 14th, 1969, and recorded in Liber R.L.D No. 290, folio 554, one of the Land Records (Mortgages) of Garrett County, Maryland, default having occurred under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and it having been duly assigned to the undersigned for the purpose of foreclosure I hereby give notice that I will on Friday, the 25th day of May, 1973 at the hour of 11:00 a.m., D.S.T. in front of the Court House in the town of Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, offer for sale and sell at public auction to the highest bidder the following property:

All that parcel of ground lying in Grantsville, Garrett County, Maryland, on the south side of the National Pike in said town, and which said lot is known as Lot No. 1 on the plat of said town as laid off by one Adam Shultz, and which said lot is described as follows:

BEGINNING for the same 40 feet East of a stone marked A. S. planted at the corner of the Hotel, and running thence South 166 feet then East 66 feet, then North 166 feet to the National Pike, then with said Pike 66 feet to the place of beginning, reserving, however, and excepting from the operation of the deed all that portion of said lot upon which a part of the Hotel Stable and Granary once stood, and being the same parcel of land firstly described in a deed from Charles C. Nathan, single, to the said Hayward F. Broadwater and Lilly Broadwater, his wife, as tenants by the entireties, bearing date on the 26th day of July 1947, and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber R.L.D No 148 folio 17, etc., the said Hayward F. Broadwater being deceased, title to said property has vested in said party of the first part as the surviving tenant by the entirety. And being the same property as described in that certain deed from Joseph C. Westecott et al to Leon Boyer, et ux, dated March 14, 1969, and recorded in Liber R.L.D No 290, folio 267, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The above property is situate at the intersection of Maryland Route 495 and U.S. Route 40 in the town of Grantsville, this site being a desirable business location in Grantsville and has been improved with a large frame structure partially damaged by fire.

TERMS OF SALE: Cash on day of sale.

STATE OF MARYLAND
Department Of Natural Resources
Fisheries Administration

The following revisions to Fisheries Administration regulations have been proposed:

1. Pursuant to the provisions of Sections 112C and 713 of Article 66C of the Annotated Code of Maryland, Fisheries Regulation No. 8.02.02.11, prohibiting the taking or catching of soft shell clams, is rescinded effective June 1, 1973.

2. Fisheries Regulation No. 8.02.02.04 is amended to read as follows:

It is unlawful for any person licensed in the State to take or catch soft shell clams and for any boat or rig used in the taking or catching of soft shell clams to take or catch more than fifteen (15) bushels of soft clams in any calendar day.

The limitation imposed under this section is applicable to all clams caught or taken within the geographical limits of the State of Maryland.

Any comments on the proposed revisions should be made in writing to the undersigned before June 1, 1973.

"Clean Streams" Project Planned In Preston Co.

Young people from low income families in Preston County may sign up for employment this summer in the "Clean Streams and Scenic Rivers" project co-sponsored in the county by the Department of Natural Resources and the county court.

Approximately 50 young people will be employed to clean trash and debris, such as cans, bottles, tires, from the Cheat River, Big Sandy, Little Sandy, Raccoon Creek, Big Buffalo, Salt Lick, Bull Run and Bird's Creek.

Those interested may sign up through the Department of Employment Security, Kingwood. Information is also available from the Clean Streams Committee office, 109 W. Main St. Co-chairmen are Paul Watson and Bill Coffindaffer.

Local Native Will Speak At FSC Doctor Weekend

Two laboratory employees of Memorial Hospital will be speaking to registered students on June 1, 2 and 3 at Frostburg State College's "Weekend With Doctors."

The "Weekend With Doctors" is held to acquaint area high school students with careers in medicine and related fields. Students may contact guidance counselors at their schools to find out additional details.

One of the speakers is Debora Sue Miller, a graduate of Southern Garrett County High School and Franklin School of Science and Arts. She is a member of the American Medical Technologists Association and employed by Memorial Hospital as a laboratory technician. She will speak on Medical Laboratory Technician duties and responsibilities. The other is Miss Lois Elaine Cessna, graduate of Everett, Pa. high school.

Physicians from all over the state, as well as veterinarians, nurses, technologists and educators, will be present and give talks during the weekend.

SUNNYSIDE UNDERWOOD

Mr. and Mrs. Noah Waybright and son Delbert, accompanied by Mrs. Bessie Canan, were in Sugarlands where Rev. Wilma Waybright conducted Mother's Day worship services. They were all dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Knotts. Other guests for dinner of Mr. and Mrs. Knotts were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Knotts and daughters, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones and son.

Mrs. Esther Holler accompanied her sister, Mrs. Flora Burton, and daughter Nancy, to Baltimore over the weekend. While there, they attended the wedding of a nephew, Ray Burton, on Saturday.

Michael Holler spent the weekend in Accident as a guest of his brothers-in-law and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Knox and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Fike.

Janet Brant, Esther Holler, and Flora Burton were shoppers and business visitors in Cumberland Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Butts, Gorman, were dinner guests of Mrs. Bessie Canan one day this week. Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Knotts and Ray Arnold were also visiting Mrs. Canan recently.

Dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brant Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Watson and children, Keyser; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Knox and family, Accident; Mrs. Linda Moon and children, Crellin.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

New Dog Licenses Must Be Purchased on or before July 1, 1973

No Extensions Will Be Permitted

As set out in Article 56, Annotated Code of Maryland (1957 Edition) dog licenses expire on June 30, 1973, and new licenses must be purchased. Persons owning dogs should secure the proper tag immediately as the law will be enforced and those persons owning dogs without a license will be subject to provisions as set out in said law as follows: "Any person violating or refusing to comply with any of the provisions of this sub-title shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, which upon conviction thereof before any Justice of the Peace of the County in which he resides, or in the Circuit Court of said County, shall be fined a sum of not less than five dollars nor more than twenty five dollars or shall be imprisoned in the County Jail for not more than thirty days or shall be both fined and imprisoned in the descretion of the Court. It shall be the duty of the State's Attorney, the Sheriff, and the Constables of the several Counties of the State to prosecute all persons found violating the Law by refusing to comply with its provisions."

Tags may be secured from the County Treasurer, Oakland, Maryland. For the convenience of the public, forms to be mailed to the County Treasurer for dog tags have been placed at the following locations in the County:

Accident	Matthew's Store
Bloomington	The Havelot
Finzel	Warner's Store
Friendsville	U & W Clover Farm
Friendsville	Schlossnagle's Store
Grantsville	Long Stretch Market
Kitzmiller	Sower's Texaco Service Station
McHenry	Walt's General Store

Applications may also be obtained at the Courthouse, Oakland, Maryland.

The County Treasurer requests that remittance for tags be made by check or money order, as she will not be responsible for cash sent by mail.

By Order of The Board of County Commissioners
Harold J. Adams, Clerk

Mountaintop Bowlers Hold Awards Banquet

The Mountaintop Men's League concluded a thirty-three week bowling season on May 8 with an Awards Banquet at the American Legion Club in Oakland. Approximately one hundred fifty persons attended the event, including spouses of the bowlers and special guests, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Parsons of Parr-Matt Lanes. President Carroll Miller presented trophies to the following persons, shown in the above photo, from left to right: Arthur Wolf, highest game of the season, with a score of 259; Clarence Stem, highest average, 192; Lester Bittinger, Captain of the League Champions, the Big Tee Burger team; Tom Gowans, highest series, 661; Charles Clary, representing the second place team, The Larks; President Carroll Miller; Ernest Savage, Captain of the third place team, the Woodman Choppers; and Irving Wolf, Most Improved Bowler award. The banquet concluded with election of officers for next season. Newly elected officials are Clarence Stem, President; Dr. Frank Custer, Vice-President; Tom Gowans, Secretary, and Kenneth Ridder, Treasurer.

Dr. Pickens Plans Retirement From Ministry May 25

Dr. Denver C. Pickens, St. Petersburg, Fla., has announced his retirement from the ministry effective on his 85th birthday, May 25.

He has served the ministry since 1909, when he received a local preacher's license during his last year at West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buckhannon. He received a Bachelor of Sacred Theology degree in 1919.

In the 1920's he served as minister of United Methodist churches in Morgantown, Terra Alta, and Elkins, W. Va., and later served St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland.

In 1952, he and his first wife Edith Falkenstein Pickens, retired to St. Petersburg where he has since served as minister of membership at Pasadena Community Church. His wife died in 1965.

In 1969, he wed Jeanette Starck, and they are living in Yacht Club Estates. Now, during his second "retirement," Dr. Pickens plans to work in his garden and fish.

Two Are Guilty On Drug Charges

Two persons pleaded guilty in Circuit Court last Friday of several charges of possession and distribution of drugs. One pleaded not guilty on two counts but was found guilty by the jury. The jury trials were presided over by Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill, Jr.

Arden Ellis Reeves pleaded guilty on five counts: possession and distribution of marijuana; possession and distribution of LSD, and maintaining a common nuisance (dispensing, storing and concealing of drugs).

Leo Stoffiemeyer, Jr., pleaded guilty on two charges: possession of marijuana and LSD. He pleaded not guilty to two other charges: distribution of marijuana and LSD. On these two charges, the jury found him guilty.

Reeves is out on continuation of bond pending a pre-sentence investigation.

Stoffiemeyer is being held in the Garrett County Jail pending a pre-sentence investigation.

With Our Men In The Service

Army Second Lieutenant William D. Kerns, son of Mrs. Olive P. Kerns of Grantsville, has been assigned to the global US Army Computer Systems Command.

2LT Kerns was assigned as an automatic data processing (ADP) officer for the command's Financial Data Systems Directorate. This command is responsible for the design, development, installation, maintenance and improvement of Army multicommand automatic data processing systems. These range from world-wide management data systems to world-wide tactical data systems.

A graduate of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, 2LT Kerns has also attended the Army Signal Officer Basic Course. He and his wife, Doris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Brenneman of Accident, presently reside at 7258 Jon Paul Drive, Alexandria, Va.

An obscure guard is credited with breaking the Watergate case.

Set-Aside Programs Must Be Certified Before Payment

Farm program participants who certify performance of program provisions now or within the near future can expect to receive set-aside payments shortly after the first of July, according to Raymond F. Jaeger, Chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

He pointed out that a producer cannot receive payment until after he has come in to the County ASCS Office, officially designated his set-aside acreage and certified compliance with other farm program provisions.

Final date for certification is June 15 in the western counties.

As this deadline date indicates, early certification is optional. A producer who is sure that his operations meet the farm program regulations can assure himself early payment by certifying early.

Mr. Jaeger also reminded producers that measurement service at cost is availble from the County ASCS Office. Participants should get their measurement request in as soon as possible.

73-Year-Old Signs Up For Walkathon

The oldest person signing up so far for the YFC Walkathon is 73-year-old Francis Ackerman, Mt. Lake Park.

Mr. Ackerman, who is employed at Oak-Mar in Oakland, walks to and from work each day and has hopes of winning second prize in the contest May 26.

He says he would use the prize, a 10-speed touring bicycle, to travel to Wheeling, W. Va. for a camping trip. His grandchildren also plan to walk.

The 17-mile walk is slated to begin at 10 a. m. that Saturday. Walkers must sign up prior to that time and get sponsor sheets filled out. Registration will begin at 9:15 a. m. for walkers on the day of the walkathon.

There are over 21 prizes available to those winning the different categories. Total value of the prizes is over $1,900. There will be a walkathon presentation rally at 8 p. m. June 9 at Loch Lynn Elementary school.

Legion Executive Reception Planned At Post 71 May 19

The annual reception honoring Department Commander Ray Callegary, Timonium, and Department president Roseanna Ford, Baltimore, of the American Legion and Auxiliary will be held by the Mountain District Legion at Proctor Kildow Post 71, Oakland, on Saturday, May 19.

Dinner will be served at 7 p. m., followed by a short program at 8 p. m. and a dance at 9:30 p. m. Reservations must be made at the Legion home. Cost per person is $3.00. This affair is limited to members of the Legion and Auxiliary, and only a few tickets are still available.

A capacity attendance is expected as members of the Legion and Auxiliaries throughout the state are to be present.

On Sunday, May 20, the Department Executive Committee will hold a meeting at Victory Post 155 in Westernport at 1:30 p. m.

Department Chaplain Holland Barton will hold church services at St. James Episcopal Church in Westernport at 11 a. m. All Legionnaires and auxiliary members are invited to attend.

A disarmament pact was finally reached at Wounded Knee.

Several cast members of "Fiddler on the Roof" practiced the wedding dance scene Monday night in preparation for the Friday and Saturday night performances at Northern High School. Dr. Reuben Rodeheaver and Steve Neville are co-directors of the presentation.

New Leadership Appointments In Schools Approved

Several transfers of leadership personnel and appointments to administrative and supervisory positions were approved at the meeting of the Garrett County School Board last Thursday.

New supervising principal at Bloomington-Kitzmiller will be Clark Sharpless. Supervising principal at Accident will be Robert Wilson while Wayne R. Johnson will assume similar duties at Center Street and Oak Street Schools.

Dr. Jerome T. Ryscavage will be director of administrative services, while Mrs. Sarah G. Wilson will be coordinator of Special Education.

E. Lloyd Robertson is new supervisor of pupil services, and Robert F. Rodeheaver is supervisor of high schools.

Brief sketches about each of the new appointees follow:

Clark A. Sharpless

Clark A. Sharpless will serve as supervising principal of the Kitzmiller-Bloomington schools, eliminating teaching principals at both schools, and improving instructional leadership for teachers and students at these schools.

Mr. Sharpless is married to the former Elaine Kalbaugh, has two children, and resides in Kitzmiller.

Robert E. Wilson

Mr. Robert E. Wilson was appointed supervising principal of the Accident Elementary School to replace Mrs. M. Thelma Hanlin, who is retiring at the end of this school year. His appointment becomes effective July 1, 1973.

Mr. Wilson is married to the former Sarah A. Giltin of Kevser West Virginia and has four sons.

Wayne R. Johnson

Wayne R. Johnson is to be supervising principal of the Center Street School and the Oak Street Kindergarten, replacing Mrs. Phyllis H. Williams, principal of the Center Street School, who is retiring at the end of this school year and is also assuming an instructional leadership role at the kindergarten.

Mr. Johnson is married to the former Rita McKenzie of Crosaptown and resides in Oakland.

Dr. Jerome T. Ryscavage

Dr. Ryscavage will serve as Director of Administrative Services, responsible to the superintendent for coordinating the planning of the school construction program and the business affairs of the school system.

Dr. Ryscavage is a Navy veteran married and the father of

NHS Production of "Fiddler On Roof" Begins Tomorrow

The Northern High School's senior chorus production of "Fiddler on the Roof" will be presented Friday night, May 25, and Saturday, May 26 in Northern's auditorium. Curtain time is 8 p. m.

The setting is a small peasant town in Russia, which is riddled by strife when three of the main characters daughters decide to choose their own mates, rather than marry ones chosen for them by the village matchmaker.

Dr. Reuben Rodeheaver and Steve Neville are co-directors of the production, which is based on stories by Sholem Aleichem. Original lyrics and music is by Sheldon Harnick and Jerry Bock.

The musical is being doublecast so that more students will have the opportunity to participate. The show involves over 60 students, most of them chorus members, aided by a few junior high chorus members.

The play will be accompanied by a twenty-piece orchestra of local musicians, Northern and Southern high school students, and string instrumentalists from WVU.

Only 900 tickets are available for each showing. Prices are $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for students. The public is invited.

Moderation Comes Following Snow Flurries Friday

Following the snow flurries of last Thursday through Friday morning, the weather has moderated to more seasonable norms. Some rain has fallen most every day with some sunshine in between.

About one third inch of rain fell Sunday and last evening, with less on three other days, which left the total fall slightly below normal.

The mercury was in the 60's every day except last Friday when it was a cool high of only 54 degrees. Tuesday was the warmest with 67 degrees, dropping off to only 54 degrees during the night. No freezing temperatures were noted with the lowest being last Friday and Saturday with 33 degrees. Highs averaged 64.7 degrees or 5.6 degrees below the normal. Morning lows averaged 1.2 degrees above the normal.

Winds were mostly calm but moderate to brisk Friday and Monday.

Lottery Ticket Sales Off To Rousing Start

Sales in the Maryland State Lottery got off to a rousing start last Tuesday, May 15, when the tickets went on sale in Maryland for the first time in 121 years.

Nearly 140,000 tickets have been distributed to the approximately 130 agents in Allegany and Garrett counties.

Distributing banks locally, which serve as distributors of the tickets to the agents, are The First National Bank of Oakland and Garrett National Bank.

Redemption centers for winning tickets here are Backbone Mountain Inn, between Red House and Gormania; Beachcomber Motel, McHenry; Buckel's Market, Grantsville; Helbig's Sport Shop, Oakland; Johnny's Bait House, Deep Creek Lake; Ross' Texaco Service, Kitzmiller, and Schlossnagle's Market, Grantsville.

The Lottery Commission points out that only at the above establishments can winning tickets be redeemed.

Agents for ticket sales in Garrett County are: W. H. Fratz Inc., Accident; Savage River Inn, Bloomington; Frazee's Grocery and Restaurant, Schlossnagle's Market, Friendsville; Backbone Mountain Inn, Route 1, Gormania; Buckel's Market, Grantsville; Post 214, American Legion, White Oak Inn, Grantsville; Ross' Texaco Service, Kitzmiller; Beachcomber Motel, Carsten's and Company, McHenry; C. P. Martin and Son, Mt. Lake Park; Capital Milk Coop, Crellin Service Station, Davidson's Discount, Fireside Inn, Helbig's Sport Shop, J. and M. Food Market, Johnny's Bait House, Procter Kildow Post 71, American Legion; Morris' Country Store, Par-Matt Lanes, Prondfoot's Pharmacy, Ward's Restaurant and Bar.

Beverly Remley Is Crowned Queen Of Southern's Prom

Miss Beverly Remley, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. James Remley, was crowned queen of the 1973 Junior-Senior Prom at Southern High School Saturday night.

Miss Remley's escort was Ben Sincell.

Members of her court were Joanne Cosby, escorted by Gary Heise; Kim Wilt, escorted by Mike L. Wilt; Diane Dean, with John Eberly; Mary Lynn Gibson and escort Jim Bosley; Patty Wolf, escorted by Bob Burgess; and Teresa Harvey escorted by Jim White.

Theme for this year's event was "Knights in White Satin" carried out in a blue, yellow and gray color scheme. Decorations included a castle complete with drawbridge, where the queen reigned.

The Kingsley Funk band provided music. Robert F. Rodeheaver, principal, presided at the coronation and crowned Miss Remley.

Some of her school activities include Senior band, Quill and Scroll, feature editor of the Acorn, G.A.A. and Student Council Chaplain.

Local Memorial Day Observances Set For Monday

U. S. flags will be displayed throughout Oakland, Monday, May 28 when the annual American Legion and Knights of Pythias Ladies Memorial Day observances get underway.

First on the agenda of scheduled events will be the Memorial Day parade through the town, which will include American Legion color guard members, the mayor and council of Oakland, Southern High School senior band; Legion auxiliary members, Girl Scouts and Brownies, Knights of Pythias, World War I veterans, Boy and Cub scouts, World War II members and Gold Star mothers.

The parade will follow the route of previous years, forming at 10 a. m. in front of city hall, moving out at 10:30 along Third to Center, Center to Second, south on Second to Alder, back to Third, Third to Oak and Oak to Fifth, to the cemetery entrance.

At the cemetery, Proctor Kildow Post 71 will provide a color guard and salute to the dead with Rick Thayer and Rich Orr blowing taps. Flowers will be placed on all military graves, including the local tomb of the unknown soldier.

DeCorsey Bolden will serve as master of ceremonies. Rev. John Grant, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Deer Park, will give the invocation and benediction.

Speaker for this year's program will be Dr. Lawrence Sherwood, pastor of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, whose speech has been titled, "Don't Forget."

Arrangements for the day's activities are under direction of Randall Kahl, Post 71 historian. Playford Ryan is parade committee chairman.

Saddle Tramps 4-H Youth Horse Show Will Be May 26

The Saddle Tramps 4-H horse show for young people under 20 years of age will be held this Saturday, May 26, beginning at noon at the Garrett County fairgrounds.

Entry fee is $1 per class with ribbons given to the first five judged the winners in each class by Tom Bussard, judge and instructor for the event.

Twenty-two English, western, and game classes are scheduled. Club leaders are Mrs. Jean Wright and Lawrence Glover.

Legion Auxiliary Plans Sale Of Poppies May 26

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary will be sponsoring Poppy Day sales this Saturday, May 26, in Oakland.

All money obtained from the sale of these poppies, made by hospitalized veterans, will go to the Disabled American Veterans organization. In 1972, contributions of $1,205,403 went to help more than 26,300 families of veterans.

Poppies will be on sale in front of Rudy's Department store, Second Street. Mrs. Chance Gower is in charge of distributing poppies and will be assisted by one other American Legion auxiliary member.

Local Businesses Will Be Closed Monday, May 28

Most of Oakland's business places, including the banks, will be closed Monday, May 28, in observance of Memorial Day.

The town's three pharmacies will remain open however. Business will resume as usual on Tuesday, the 29th.

Rams Suffer First Season Loss At Spartan Hands, 7-6

Bishop Walsh Spartans prevented the Southern Rams from clinching the Potomac Valley Conference baseball crown by a 7-6 win Wednesday on the Oakland team's diamond.

Rick Daugherty singled on Tom Perinzze for the deciding run in the top of the sixth inning. Perlozzo had singled and stolen second to set up the game winning hit.

The Spartans started fast with five runs in the first three innings. The Rams scored a pair in the third and four in the fourth to take the lead. In the fourth, the Rams loaded the bases on two singles and a walk. Supthin singled in a run. Junior Upole was walked, forcing in the second, tally, and Randy DiSimone singled in a score while Don Uphold plated a run with a single.

The Rams with a game left with Beall, needed to win to capture the PVC crown. A loss would give the title to Hampshire. Bishop Walsh is interested in the conference, but does not play enough games to qualify for the title.

This was the Rams' first defeat of the season.

National Guard Members Are Now At Summer Camp

Eight local young men, part of Company C, 121st Engineering Battalion National Guard, Oakland, left Saturday, May 19, for summer training exercises at Camp A. P. Hill, Va.

The unit, including a total of five officers and 101 enlisted men from Frostburg and here, will spend two weeks at camp, departing Friday, May 25, for Frostburg and then home.

Activities scheduled during the summer camp include building roads and culverts and running an orienteering course.

On Sunday, May 27, the local company will travel to Rayestown, Pa. for further training with the Army reserve.

The men are also engaged in the complete refurbishing of an elementary school and construction of an infantry training site.

1973-74 Tax Rate Still Speculative

Garrett County commissioners are still working on the 1973-74 fiscal budgets for various county departments prior to announcing the upcoming tax rate for the county.

The three are endeavoring to keep the same rate as last year, $2.73 per $100 of assessed valuation, according to Wayne Hamilton chairman.

Mr. Hamilton noted however, that any attempt to predict the tax rate at this time would be pure speculation and easily subject to change until all work on the budgets are completed.

Completion was slated for late this week.

323 Seniors Will Graduate From Schools

A total of 323 senior students from the two county high schools will receive diplomas at commencement exercises on Sunday, June 3.

This is twelve more students graduating than in 1972.

Speaker for the two schools will be Rev. Dr. John Harold McCombe, dean of Hendrick's Chapel at Syracuse University.

At Syracuse University, Rev. Dr. McCombe coordinates religious activities, ministering to more than 15,000 students.

He preaches at the Protestant services, counsels the students individually and in groups, and establishes religious policies.

He was born in Ashley, Ohio, the son of a Methodist minister. He received his Doctor of Philosophy degree from the National University of Cuzco, Peru, and served as pastor of the Asbury Methodist Church, Crestwood, N. Y., after serving as assistant pastor of Christ Church, New York City.

Dr. John H. McCombe

For a time he served as a Christian missionary, later joining the American Bible Society staff and finally becoming an executive secretary of the Society with responsibility for church relations.

In September 1967, he was appointed to his present position as Dean of Hendricks Chapel, Syracuse University.

Programs will be held in the school gymnasiums.

The program at Southern High School will begin at 2 p. m. with an invocation by Rev. John

Two Local Bills Signed Monday

Governor Marvin Mandel signed into law nearly 300 bills Monday, including two which related to this county.

One of the bills provided a jail matron for the county jail, the other allowed for hiring of a county attorney.

Sen. William Wilson, who sponsored the bills, said he put a bill in mandating that the attorney post created because there were no provisions in the law authorizing the county commissioners to hire a county attorney.

The bill does not however, stipulate a salary to be paid to such an attorney and the county commissioners say that they will create the post on July 1, but have practically no funds with which to pay another attorney.

In the past, an attorney has been hired as counsel to the county commissioners. The post of county attorney would be a full-time job, with duties not clearly defined as yet. Carroll County is the only other county in Maryland having such a post.

Sheriff Jack Browning noted that he needed a matron because for example in the past month he has had 11 female prisoners. His deputies are not allowed to search these women and girls for any contraband items, and must place themselves in potential jeopardy to their persons and reputations each time they enter the cells for women.

Compensation for matron-clerk duties are to be set by the sheriff in contrast to deputies' salaries which are determined jointly with the county commissioners. Some $5,200 has been set for the matron, the same amount the deputies are currently making.

Ram Golfers Collect Unbeaten Record

Pictured above is the Southern High Golf team, which completed its first full season of golf with an undefeated record of 14-0. The team also won the Potomac Valley Conference Tournament with Jim McHenry finishing first and Jim Ashby second. The Rams' closest opponent was 20 strokes behind. Going back to the 1972 season, the Rams have recorded 16 straight victories. Left to right above are Dave Hinebaugh, Brian Frederick, Dave Sharps, Coach Don Stemple, Jim Ashby, Jim McHenry, and Jeff Hile. Individual records for the group were Dave Hinebaugh, 13-1, third in PVC, low score 75; Brian Frederick, 13-0, third in PVC, low score 74; Dave Sharps, 13-1, third in PVC, low score 81; Jim McHenry, 14-0, first in PVC, low score 84; Jim Ashby, 13-0, second in PVC, low score 85; and Jeff Hile, 11-2, fifth in PVC, low score 88.

GCTA Meeting Is Next Tuesday

Member teachers of the Garrett County Teachers' Association will hold their annual business meeting Tuesday, May 29 in Southern High School at 7:30 p. m., according to Robert Wilson, president.

Annual election of first vice president, secretary and treasurer will be held. Darrell Malone, guidance counselor at Northern High School, will assume the presidency July 1.

Three Escaped Mental Patients Recaptured

Three inmates of Springfield State Mental Hospital were captured in Grantsville about 5 p. m. last Thursday by local state police.

The three, including one local juvenile, had stolen a pickup truck about 1 a. m. from Sykesville, and were just driving through with no apparent goal in mind.

Tfc. C. D. Skidmore and Tpr. Ronald Georg stopped the trio, who were returned to the hospital shortly afterward.

Bloodmobile Visit Planned Tomorrow

The American Red Cross Bloodmobile will visit Oakland tomorrow, May 25, from noon until 6 p. m.

The unit will be located at the Oakland fire hall. Quota for this visit has been set at 120 pints, according to Mrs. Norma Hesen, local chairman of bloodmobile activities, who noted that the quota must be met as the hospital has used all its Red Cross contract blood supply.

Oakland - Accident - Bloomington - Kitzmiller - LaVale Plaza

Most of the cast in Saturday night's performance of "Fiddler on the Roof" is assembled during this wedding scene Monday night at dress rehearsal. The production has been double cast so that more students can participate in the two performances. Curtain time is at 8 p. m. Friday and Saturday nights at the auditorium. Tickets are $1.50 for adults, $1.00 for students.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

With great interest, I read the recent Letter to the Editor concerning abortion, "Where have all the Babies Gone." As a pastor's wife and the mother of four young children, I am appalled to realize how easily abortion has been legalized in our nation. We murder the innocent and the condemned criminal goes free.

Recent statistics give us the following startling evidence:

The No. 1 Killer is abortion, not war! There have been 667,286 American battle deaths in the nine wars since 1775. In 1972 alone, 600,000 American babies were killed by abortion, more than one million being predicted in 1973. In 1972 alone, more babies were killed by "legal" abortion in California than were American servicemen killed in the Vietnam, Korean, Spanish, Mexican, 1812 and Revolutionary wars put together.

In war, the medical profession saves lives, while in abortion the same profession kills lives in the most inhumane way. If you are concerned about the lives lost in war, be more concerned about abortion! I want to raise my voice in the defense of these helpless, innocent babies, who deserve a chance to live. Wake up, Americans, and Repent; Could the crop failures, etc. be only the beginning of judgment because of moral decay?

Dear Sir,

On May 17, 1973 there appeared in The Stars and Stripes a statement by Joe L. Matthews, National Commander of the American Legion, in which he referred to the action of the House of Representatives in cutting off funds for bombing in Cambodia as DANGEROUS. He said by refusing to bomb Cambodia we would allow the communists to "build up a major supply network for an all-out offensive against the Republic of Vietnam at any time." Maybe that is true, but Nixon knew it when he accepted the peace terms. If we are to have peace, lets have it or go to war and do it right. we can't afford to prolong wars in order to satisfy the makers of war materials. We spent ten years in Southeast Asia and accomplished nothing. LBJ said we were there to meet our commitments. Well, why didn't we meet them? The answer is, that we had no intention of meeting them. If we had intended to meet our commitments and secure the freedom of South Vietnam, we would have fought that war like a war should be fought. If we had meant business, we could have destroyed Haiphong, Hanoi, and everything else that was beneficial to the enemy. An excuse for not doing it was that it might bring Russia into the war. That kind of talk was propaganda, pure and simple, and was put out to appease the conscience of the American people. Russia would not have come into the war for she had no intention of having her cities destroyed.

It was perfectly clear from the time the Paris peace talks began that no satisfactory peace would ever take place. When Nixon ordered the bombing of North Vietnam, the communists might have thought that he meant business, and that it would be a good idea to sign some kind of a peace treaty which they never intended to keep. The President certainly knew that the only way to deal with communists is on their terms — they make terms not in all cases. They don't keep the ...

Commander Matthews is wrong when he favors continued bombing in Southeast Asia. We took our army out. Let us stay out. The communists mean to take all of Southeast Asia and nothing except total destruction of their country will stop them.

The Congress has no business wasting taxpayers money and endangering the lives of our men in a useless effort.

Dear Sir:

Last week my mother, grandmother, brother and I were going to LaVale shopping. On the way the car tire hit a pot hole and went flat. This happened along Route 135 on Backbone Mt., which is a dangerous stretch of road. The car was pulled over although it was still mostly on the road, because of the soft ground along side.

Around 50 feet in front of us, along side the road, set a state road truck with two men leaning against it and one man inside. My mother and I opened the trunk and got the jack parts out, feeling sure one of the men would soon offer some help. Some trouble arose with the jack—we knew how it should work but not how to get it that way. By now, we figured that no offer of help was going to be made, so we were going to ask, when a local doctor came by and stopped to help.

After the work was well underway, one of the state roads men decided to come investigate. He watched and then rolled the flat tire around and gave off remarks like, "Must have drove 40 miles on it." Being told that it wasn't even 40 miles from home, but that we noticed it go flat after hitting the pot hole, didn't sit too well with him. Then he said "Then it must have been flat when you left home." Of course, we all know that it's a natural thing to start to LaVale with a flat tire.

Anyhow, the thing is—the state roads men are paid with our taxes and you would think that when they were obviously doing nothing that they could help a motorist, even if it were a man, but especially a woman, to change a tire, or at least inquire about the trouble. After all, they are clothed for work and like the doctor who helped in this case, many people having car trouble have on suits or dressy clothing.

I suppose we should all learn to operate a jack and how to change a tire in an emergency. I'm sure that all involved feel that there could be more gentlemen on the state roads department. We also wish to thank the person who did stop and help, and we are glad that some people recognize a motorist in distress.

Possible Season's Winning Fish Is Caught This Week

Only five winners were entered in the fishing contest for the week ending May 20. The 26-inch rainbow trout caught by Virgil Moats of Crellin could be this season's winner as it exceeded size and equaled the weight of the winner of the past three years.

Largemouth Bass, 18¼ inches, 3 lb., 10 oz., caught by Richard Walker, Finzel.

Rainbow Trout, 25¾ inches, 6 lb. 8 oz. caught by Virgil Moats, Crellin.

Chain Pickerel, 21 inches, 2 lb. 1 oz. caught by Tim Tyler, Bloomington.

Walleye, 26 inches, 8 lb. 8 oz. caught by Paul Barnes, Swanton.

Smallmouth Bass, 21½ inches, 4 lb. 1 oz. caught by William Lucas, Kitzmiller.

Winners are named weekly, generally in eight categories and fish must be registered at Johnny's Bait House on U. S. Route 219 at Deep Creek Lake. The contest is sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake - Garrett County Promotion Council and Johnny's Bait House.

Maryland's first lottery in 121 years began May 1a.

Nathan Yoder, as Tevye, is shown practicing for his major role in the Northern High School chorus production of "Fiddler on the Roof", set for tomorrow night, May 25, and Saturday night at 8 p. m.

Huskies Mangle Salisbury 10-0

Vernon Snyder, who also pitched a 2-hitter performance on the mound for the NHS Huskies, knocked in a total of five runs to push his team to a 10-0 verdict over Salisbury Friday afternoon on the Husky diamond.

Snyder struck out ten batters and walked only one while scattering a pair of singles. He also smacked a two-run homer in the first inning, a two run single in the second and an RBI double in the fourth.

The game brought Northern to a 7-1 record for the season.

Edward Lloyd Robertson

E. Lloyd Robertson is the new Supervisor of Pupil Services, filling the vacancy created by the retirement of A. B. Dean, effective May 1.

Mr. Robertson is a native of Allegany County, is married and the father of two children. His appointment will be effective August 1.

Robert F. Rodeheaver

Robert F. Rodeheaver is the new high school instructional supervisor of Garrett County schools, effective July 1. This is a newly created position separated from the responsibilities of the Director of Curriculum and Instruction, which is to provide additional assistance and services to teachers and promote curricular leadership and development on the secondary level.

Mr. Rodeheaver is married to the former Rosetta Copeman of Bruceton Mills, W. Va., has four children, and resides in Oakland.

Mrs. Sarah G. Wilson

Mrs. Sarah G. Wilson is now Coordinator of Special Education, contingent upon the approval and funding of a special ESEA Title VI proposal which requests this position for the Garrett County schools.

In essence, the Coordinator of Special Education will screen candidates for special education based on criteria developed by the Maryland State Department of Education, assist in creating special education classes and a sequential program in special education in all schools, and conduct inservice education for all special education teachers.

Mrs. Wilson is married to Robert E. Wilson and the mother of four sons.

Minor Accident Occurs On Oak Street Monday

A minor two-car accident occurred on Oak Street between Third and Fourth Streets Monday afternoon. There were no personal injuries.

Hazel M. Ahern, Oakland, was traveling east on Oak Street and was unable to stop in time to avoid hitting a car ahead driven by Gerald J. Sanders. The Sanders car had already been stopped due to traffic ahead being stopped.

Bittinger Fire Company Began Operations April 1

Since April 1, people in the Bittinger Community have gained protection from damaging fires with the birth of the Bittinger Volunteer Fire Department.

Some 45 men form the new organization, headed by Elbert Buckel, president; Roy Beitzel, vice president; Randall Glass, treasurer; Carlton Knox, secretary; Clelland Beitzel, chief; Delmar Yoder, first assistant chief; Olen Beitzel, second assistant chief; and Ira Yaste, chief engineer.

So far, the organization has two pieces of equipment—a 650 gallon 1963 Chevrolet pumper capable of pumping 750 gallons a minute, and a 1000 gallon tank truck. Both pieces are in good condition, according to the chief engineer.

The new group was welcomed into the fold of the Garrett County Firemens Association on April 25 and to the Allegany-Garrett Association May 6. So far they have answered one call since they began operations April 1. The fire, in the John Beachy home, was out upon arrival of the fire truck, however.

Fund raising efforts for the group are underway now. The equipment is being housed in the Bittinger Community Building, where the group also conducts meetings.

The men plan to attend fire training classes this fall. Included in future growth plans for the not-too-distant future are more men and more equipment for the group.

Women in the area are planning to organize a women's auxiliary very soon, with election of officers planned for around June 1.

Phone numbers to call in case of fire in that part of the county are 245-2331 or 245-2831.

Roads Department Awards Contracts

The Garrett County Roads Department opened bids on various equipment and operating needs during the first part of May.

On May 1, a contract to supply all tires and tubes was awarded to Hawkinson Tread, low bidder.

A dynamite contract will go to Harris Powder Company, Westernport, for needed explosives.

Gasoline and fuel oil supplies will be coming from two low bidders, Gulf Oil for gasoline and W. H. Fratz, fuel oil. The latter prices were up 35 percent and gasoline up 30 percent from last year due to the fuel shortage.

On May 8, a low bid from Leighton Motor Company got the contract to supply the department with a four-door sedan. The new Buick dealer's bid was approximately $100 less than other bids received.

Also on the 8th, Juniata Culvert Co., Bedford, Pa., was given a contract to supply various sizes of culvert pipe; and Allied Chemical Corporation, Pittsburgh, will be supplying calcium chloride for summer dust control.

Seven Juveniles Heard Tuesday On Various Charges

Seven juvenile cases were heard in court by Chief Judge Samuel E. Hamill, sitting as juvenile judge, Tuesday. Six were charged with being delinquent minors with specific charges being drugs, larceny, breaking and entering and malicious destruction of property. The seventh was placed on probation before verdict having been found to be a delinquent minor at a hearing in March.

A 17-year-old male of the Oakland area was found to be a delinquent minor by reason of illegal possession of marijuana. He was committed to the Maryland Training School for Boys but this was suspended and he was placed on probation under the supervision and jurisdiction of the Garrett County Department of Juvenile Services for an undetermined period. He is to be of good behavior generally, refrain from any infraction of the law.

Two 15-year old males, of Big Spring and Keymar, were found to be delinquent minors because of escape from the Backbone Mt. Forestry Camp and larceny of a 1971 Ford pick-up of Rev. Ellis L. Harvey, Swanton. Both were committed to the Maryland Training School for Boys until released by due process of the law.

Two males of RD 1, Gormania (Garrett Co.), one 14 years old and the other, 15, were to be delinquent minors because by breaking and entering the Bosley Service Station at Table Rock, with intent to steal. They were committed to the Maryland Training School for Boys but this was suspended and they were both placed on probation under supervision and jurisdiction of The Garrett County Department of Juvenile Services for an undetermined period of time to be determined by the Court. They were to be of good behavior generally, refrain from any infraction of the law and make restitution of $95 to the Bosley service station.

A 17-year-old male of the Swanton area was found to be a delinquent minor by malicious destruction of a window at Bradley Manor apartments, disorderly conduct at the Garrett County Jail, resisting arrest of a uniformed officer of the law and consumption of alcoholic beverages. He was committed to the Maryland Training School for Boys but this was suspended and he was placed on probation under the supervision and jurisdiction of the Garrett County Department of Juvenile services for an undetermined period. He is to be of good behavior generally, refrain from any infraction of the law and make restitution of $1911 for the broken window to the Bradley Manor management.

A 12-year-old male of the Oakland area found to be delinquent at a hearing in March and sent to the Maryland Children's Center, was placed on probation before verdict to the Garrett County Department of Juvenile Services and to abide by the rules and regulations of same at a hearing Tuesday. He had been charged with breaking and entering the residence of Elmer Blair at Kitzmiller.

How could you know if she's about to commit suicide or just have a good cry?

You don't.
And most people don't.
That's why there are over 60 thousand suicides every year.
And the real tragedy is the fact that 80% of all suicides could be prevented.
How?
If you and others knew the clues that indicate a family member or friend may be showing suicidal tendencies. That's what we talk about in our free book called "The will to die."
Send for it.
It could save a life...a life of someone you know. Suicide prevention is another way of showing, we do more than just care. We help.

Blue Cross Blue Shield of Maryland

Mrs. Chisholm Proud of Flag, and Her Country

Mrs. Chisholm dearly loves the U. S. flag and is proud to start with it, in more ways than one. Her late husband was the last surviving Spanish-American war veteran from this county.

"Why don't more people fly the flag?" wonders Mrs. William Chisholm, of near Deer Park, who flys a flag every day of the year in memory of her departed veteran husband, and because she loves and is proud of the United States.

Apathy toward patriotic privileges and consequently for the country, disturbs this little woman, 85 years young in every sense of the word, who is herself about as far from apathy as anyone can get.

Friends and neighbors can tell if she's okay by watching for her to raise her flag every day at dawn. Before raising the flag to the top of the mast, she kisses the red, white and blue material, a sign of respect that she's almost embarrassed to speak about.

She and her late husband, William, certainly saw enough of the country to know whether it is worth love and respect. He was the county's last surviving Spanish-American war veteran and together they had traveled over the U. S. when he was with the Army and later with the U. S. government.

Her many experiences in traveling reflect the pioneering tendencies of her forebears. A great-great-granddaughter of Meshack Browning, famous area hunter, she had some harrowing experiences in the west.

One such experience involved a fight with her in the middle of the street, between the two participants.

She recalls that they were at Fort Huachuaca, New Mexico, and she and another woman had been shopping when a man came running out of the nearby saloon and ran up to her. A second man backed up against a porch post and shot the first man, first in the jaw and then in the arm.

Meanwhile her companion had ducked to safety beaind a nearby wall, but Mrs. Chisholm said she was just too flabbergasted to think.

She does remember that "bullets were plopping" all around her before the shooting stopped. As soon as she could move, she says she "took off running for the Mexican border."

Sadness, too, has touched her life. She and her husband had had one son, born in the Philippines, who only lived to be three years old before succumbing to cancer.

After her husband's military career, which took them to Guam, the Philippines, and Puerto Rico, they spent some time in the west, including New Mexico, California, Arizona, and Texas. The most beautiful of all places she has been is Hawaii.

After moving around for many years, they returned to Garrett County and bought a dairy farm. Neither found the life dull, as both were glad to be able to spend time with their families. They also took two orphaned girls to raise, who are presently Mrs. Kate Risinger and Mrs. Lydia Kisner, both of whom reside locally.

Mrs. Chisholm is wistful when she speaks of her husband and remembers they had a wonderful life together. Both shared nearly equally in farm and housework—they "worked right along together at everything," she says.

After farming 33 years, they retired, eventually selling their farm and moving into the Quick House along present Route 135.

There was no flag pole there for years, so in order to keep up their daily flag-flying habit, she went to the woods, cut a pole and tied the flag with some string. Every day she would take down the pole, flag and all and carry it inside until the next morning. During the last 15 years of his life Mr. Chisholm had great difficulty in walking and spent most of his waking hours in a chair by the window. For his benefit, she flew the flag on a low pole so he could see it. Not long ago his nephews, Robert and Rusty Bowers, Greyling, Mich., put up a permanent pole for her. In return, she gave them her husband's last flag, the one draped over his casket. The nephews also fly the flag every day that is fit, and Mrs. Chisholm notes that "They're like me, and him."

Nowadays Mrs. Chisholm spends hours writing to relatives and friends, some of whom are members of the Mayan Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, in the Philippines.

She and her companion, Mary O'Brien, walk in the woods, enjoying the fresh air and gathering rocks for the flower borders. She also devotes time to raising flowers, both house plants and outdoor varieties. When the weather keeps them indoors, Mrs. Chisholm likes to do handwork during the day, and spends some time watching television in the evenings.

Her flag-waving faithfulness has prompted her to use two flags, one for fair weather and one for bad weather.

Mrs. Mary O'Brien and Mrs. Lillian Chisholm stand in front of her home along Route 135. She and her husband bought the house and 10 acres about 15 years ago.

Mrs. Lillian Chisholm displays some of her beloved plants in her "Sanford and Son" porch, so named because she calls it a repository for all her "junk."

William Chisholm and wife Lillian are pictured left and right of Randall Kahl, in November 1967 when Mr. Chisholm was taken into the American Legion as an honorary member.

Such faithfulness to the country deserves a little recognition, especially now that Memorial Day is near. Perhaps her faithfulness will prompt others to fly a flag, which would please this lively lady enormously.

Accident Ascension Day Service Set

the churches in the Accident area will hold a community Ascension Day Service on the football field at Northern High School (weather permitting) on Thursday, May 31, at 7:30 p. m.

In case of inclement weather, the service will be held in the high school cafetorium.

Music for the service will be provided by two choirs, a community choir under the direction of Dr. Reuben Rodeheaver, music instructor at Northern High School, will sing two anthems, as will the Mennonite Choir under the direction of Bishop Elmer Maust, pastor of the Cherry Glade Mennonite Church.

Other pastors and their congregations participating are Rev. William Shiner with the Bear Creek Church of the Brethren; Rev. William E. Carlson with the three churches of the Accident Lutheran Parish; Rev. Fred Illick with Zion Lutheran Church; and Rev. Frank Johnson with the Mellenry United Methodist Church.

The public is invited. The offering given at this service will be placed in a Community Key 73 Fund to be used in providing a Christian witness to this area.

Oakland Firemen Respand Ta Mt. Lake Flue Fire

A flue fire at the Carl Niner residence at 8:55 p. m. last Thursday brought Oakland firemen and one truck to N street, Mt. Lake Park.

Farmers Reminded Of Conserving Base Requirement

"Crop acreages are now being certified and producers should bear in mind the need for compliance with the conserving base established for their farms," Chairman Raymond F. Jaeger of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee said today.

The conserving base represents that acreage which must be devoted to conserving uses on the farm in addition to any acreage required to be set aside under applicable program provisions.

Final certification date is June 15 in the Western Counties. Crop acreages and set-aside acreage must be certified to by this date, says Jaeger.

Economic Miracle

From 1947 to 1973 living costs in the United States of America rose 94 percent, food went up 91 percent, and inflation irritated many people. But on the average over the same period weekly earnings rose from $45.58 to $140.23—an increase of 208 percent.

In the ten-year period, 1962-1972, the population was up 12 percent, beef production up 45 percent, and broiler production 68 percent. From 1947 through 1972 the population rose from 144 million to 208 million—an increase of 45 percent. In the same years the total number of cars in use rose from 30 million to 94 million, an increase of 214 percent. (Statistics from the U. S. Bureau of Labor)

All of this adds up to a miracle of production and distribution. It demonstrates "the greatest growth in average man living standards in the history of mankind, according to the Wall Street Journal. Who wants to trade it in for a 1984 model?

Seminar For Food Service Personnel Planned June 4, 5

In conjunction with the food service program in Garrett County, the Garrett County Health Department will be sponsoring a seminar for all personnel working in the food service industry.

The seminar will be presented at four different times and two different locations, Monday, June 4th at the Garrett Community College, Mellenry, 9:00 a. m. to 12 noon and 6:00 p. m. to 9:00 p. m. Tuesday, June 5th at Penn Alps Restaurant, Grantsville, 9:00 a. m. to 12 noon and 6:00 p. m. to 9:00 p. m. It is only necessary to attend one of these sessions.

This seminar involves all food service personnel, including waiters, waitresses, bus boys, cooks, supervisors, etc. The main speaker will be Ronald Nelson, Survey Officer for the Division of Food Control, Maryland State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. The public is also invited. For more information, contact the Garrett County Health Department, Oakland.

21 Are Killed Last Week On Highways

Twenty-one persons lost their lives on Maryland highways last week, according to Sergeant James E. Harvey of the Maryland State Police. Thirteen of those killed were drivers, five were passengers and three were pedestrians. The opinion of the investigating officers was that death might have been prevented in at least eight of the collisions had seat belts been in use.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in seven of the deaths, speed in thirteen and "driver error" in sixteen.

North Glade 4-H Meets

North Glade 4-H Club met Friday, May 18. Debbie Friend and Cheryl Smith participated.

Plans were made to clean the North Glade cemetery. May 26th will be demonstration day for the local club.

Sunday, May 27, the club will attend the evening service of the Sand Flat Assembly of God Church in honor of 4-H Sunday. All members should be there by 7 p. m.

A special 4-H meeting has been set for June 14, at 6:30 p. m., at the North Glade School to make plans for campfire.

County 4-H activities the club will be participating in are County Demonstration Day, June 2, and County Campfire, June 16.

The next meeting of the club will be held June 15, at 7:30 p. m., at the North Glade School.

Named Club Agent In West Virginia

Miss Martha Ellen Shumaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Shumaker, Wilson, near Bayard, W. Va., recently accepted a position as county 4-H club agent of Brooke county in West Virginia.

Miss Shumaker is a graduate of Bayard High school and attended Potomac State college for two years before transferring to West Virginia university, Morgantown. She graduated from WVU in 1972 with a B.S. degree in chemistry. She was active in 4-H work in Grant county, winning both county and state honors in sewing, leadership and conservation projects. She was president of the university 4-H club and was a county camp instructor for two summers.

She was also employed by the Appalachian Center at WVU as a program assistant in Environmental Education under a special grant, working with young people in camps and classes and with teachers endeavoring to incorporate problems of ecology into classroom instruction.

This past fall she was employed as a laboratory technician in the soil testing laboratory at WVU but gave up that position to work with young people in the 4-H extension program of Brooke county with headquarters in Wellsburg.

Red Cross Asks Aid For Family

The local Red Cross chapter, through the Disaster Services Committee, is asking assistance for the Gary Beitzel family, who lost all their belongings when fire destroyed their mobile home recently.

One outfit of clothing is furnished for each person through local disaster funds. Additional clothing, bedding, housewares and furniture is requested from anyone having such items to spare.

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Gerald Sanders, Southern disaster committee chairman.

Checks, marked "Disaster Services," may be sent to Mrs. Louise Shaffer, Alder Street, Oakland.

Mr. Beitzel is not employed at present, and the couple has two school age children in kindergarten and first grade. Size 12-14 in women's clothing and medium shirt and 31" waist pants are required for the adults.

Northern Rescue Squad News Listed At Meeting

Twenty-four attended the monthly meeting of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad held at the Grantsville Fire Hall May 13 at 7:30 p. m.

Criss Browning reported on a meeting of the Maryland State Ambulance and Rescue Association which he and Don Newman attended at Joppa Magnolia on May 12th. They witnessed a demonstration on the mobile defibrillator and cardiac monitor machines.

Clarification on the age of squad members, which came from the Attorney General's Office, was also discussed at this meeting. There is no age limit on a person wishing to serve on the squad, but in order to become an Emergency Medical Technician, one must be 18 years of age or older.

The "Grandfather clause" for an Emergency Medical Technician-Ambulance was explained; this enables those persons having had previous training or two years experience with first-aid, to qualify as members of the squad if they can pass a written and practical examination.

The Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad will host the next meeting of the Maryland State Ambulance and Rescue Association at Grantsville on September 8th.

An ambulance and crew will be entering the Firemen's Parade June 6 at Oakland, during the Annual Firemen's Convention.

Emergency Medical Technicians attending the ambulance at the Meyersdale Maple Festival were Rudi Kolb, Kermit Yoder and Allen Cutler.

Heading West . . .

Mrs. Sally O'Connor, center, and two sons on Backbone Mountain, as they ride toward Oregon on the first leg of their journey. The threesome had come from Gaithersburg in six and a half days, spending nights with several hospitable families along their way. The young mother and her sons, aged 11 and 13, plan to spend the next three and a half months on their vacation jaunt, riding along Route 50 through hilly West Virginia and then following secondary roads so that they might see more of the countryside. Supplies of grain for their horses, two of which are borrowed, and extra shoes are among the baggage they must carry along. After they reach their destination, or run out of time, they will ship the horses, and themselves home. —Picture by Carol Canan.

Man Is Found Guilty Of Two Counts Of Assault

One man was found guilty of two counts of assault and battery at a trial Monday in District Court by Judge Lewis R. Jones. Another man was found not guilty of assault and battery and a charge of negligent driving against the same man was dropped.

Robert Carr, Star Route 1, Oakland, pleaded not guilty but was found guilty of two charges of assault and battery, one against Norma P. Cogley and another against Michael Cogley on Mayhew Inn Road, May 5. A pre-sentence investigation has been ordered.

A charge of negligent driving against Larry Crosco, RD 1, Oakland, was dropped at a hearing Monday when the complainant would not appear. At the same hearing, Crosco was found not guilty of assault and battery on Albert C. DeWitt at Hutton May 5.

Escaped Forestry Camp Inmates Caught Thurs.

Two juvenile escapees from the Boys' Forestry camp near Swanton were picked up in downtown Oakland last Thursday morning.

The boys, both of whom were out-of-county residents, had committed no crimes and were held in the county jail until afternoon, when they were returned to the camp.

Oakland town police made the arrests.

Final Negotiations Are Underway To End Strip Mining In Savage River

The State Department of Natural Resources is awaiting a report from a Pennsylvania coal company as the final step towards negotiations to end strip mining in Savage River State Forest.

Negotiations are underway with the Georges Creek Coal and Land Co. of Uniondale, Pa. The report will describe the firm's mineral holdings in the area and the company's estimated value.

A bill passed by the 1972 legislature and effective next July 1 prohibits the issuance, renewal or extension of any license to strip mine state-owned lands.

Although the Georges Creek firm does not have a time limit on its permit, it is estimated it has enough acreage left on its permit to allow it to strip mine through 1974.

Yoder, Richter Are Named NHS Salutatorian, Valedictorian

Donald Richter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Richter, is president of the senior class and the senior band, participated in a Biochemistry Program at Windsor, Conn., took second in the State Oratorical contest; was named a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship program, and has received a $500 yearly scholarship awarded by the State Scholarship Board, which he hopes to use at Johns Hopkins University.

Nathan is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Yoder, and is a member of the Northern Hi-Lites, the Northernaires, and editor of the Viking. He has been accepted to Eastern Mennonite College.

AFROTC Commander

C Major Michael J. Nichols has been selected to be the 915th Group Corps Commander for the fall semester of 1973-74 at West Virginia University.

Cadet Nichols was selected by a reviewing board comprised of four Air Force officers. The board based its decision on overall academic excellence and continued superior performance of Corps duty.

During his three years of AFROTC, Cadet Nichols has held many high positions and won many honors, including the Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bender, Accident, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth, to Michael L. Friend, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell G. Friend, Oakland.

Miss Bender is a 1971 graduate of Northern High School and attended Garrett Community College. She is presently employed by the Goodwill Mennonite Home, Grantsville.

A fall wedding is planned.

Westvaco Begins $30,000 Scholarship Program For Children Of Employees

A new program to provide major scholarship assistance to about 30 local college students was announced jointly this week by Westvaco, Frostburg State College and Potomac State College.

A total of $10,000 has been donated by Westvaco to Frostburg State and Potomac State Colleges.

An amount nearly equal to the annual tuition for in-state students will be made available by Westvaco to qualifying freshmen. This equals $400 per year per student for Frostburg State and $300 for Potomac State.

The money will be made available to any eligible incoming freshman student planning to attend one of the two schools who is the son or daughter of a currently employed Westvaco worker at Luke.

All applications for Westvaco's tuition grants will be made to the Financial Aid Office of the particular school by June 30, 1973, for the 1973 fall term—not to Westvaco.

Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America, the outstanding sophomore award and the Excellence Award. He is also the Editor-in-chief of the 1973 Monticola, the WVU yearbook. He is a member of Arnold Air Honorary and has recently been selected for membership in Sphinx, senior men's honorary.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey M. Riley, Oakland, announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Sharon, to Townshend W. Grant, son of Dr. and Mrs. B. L. Grant, Oakland.

Miss Riley is a 1973 graduate of Frostburg State College and is presently employed by Washington County Board of Education.

Mr. Grant is employed by Hecht Company in Washington, D. C.

An open church wedding will take place June 3 at 1 p. m. at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Oakland. Relatives and friends are welcome to attend.

District Women's Meeting Held At Wisp On Weekend

The 52nd meeting of the Western District of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs was held at the Village Inn at McHenry on May 16. Approximately 70 people attended.

Registration began at 9 a. m. Coffee and doughnuts were served.

The Junior Women's Civic Club and the Civic Club of Oakland were co-hostesses for the meeting.

During the morning session, Mrs. Paul Calderwood, Western District president, presided. Reports were given and all District Presidents, club presidents and discussion chairmen.

A memorial service was held for deceased members. Reports were also given by Mrs. Gerald N. Hess, junior director of the Civic Clubs, and Mrs. E. I. Baumgartner, whose report dealt with the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. James A. Riley, president of the Civic Club of Oakland, and Mrs. Gary Daniels, president of the Junior Woman's Civic Club, also participated.

All six state officers attended the meeting, as well as four past presidents of the district.

A program of music was furnished by the "Southernaires" of Southern High School, under the direction of Mrs. Carolyn Lambert Wilt.

Mrs. E. I. Baumgartner entertained the state officers and incoming officers of the Junior and Senior clubs with dessert and coffee on Tuesday evening, May 15.

Oakland F.F.A. Holds Spring Forestry Field Day

Members of the Oakland F.F.A. Chapter, accompanied by adviser Richard Bishoff and by Paul Mateer of the Maryland Department of Forestry and Parks, held their first spring forestry field day on Friday, May 18, at Fernow Experimental Forest at Parsons, W. Va.

While at Fernow, the F.F.A. members observed two major projects, culture of northern Appalachian hardwoods and flood and water yield control.

They also discussed the harvesting of trees and the grading and measuring of logs while touring the 4,000 acre government-owned forest.

Pilots Will Meet

The new superhighway is a masterpiece of engineering skill, yet you still can't see around the curve in the distance. Whatever lies beyond the bend is as much a mystery as it was when this was a single-lane road.

Today we are living in the space age and are exposed to fresh miracles with almost every passing hour. But we still can't "see around the bend" of life. We are as human as we ever were and have no way of knowing what is coming next.

Since the beginning of time, man has lived with this mystery. What keeps him going? For many, it is the knowledge that the answer to our fate lies in far more capable hands than ours. This is God's universe, after all, His creation, and we are His creatures.

True, you can't see around the bend. But you can equip yourself for life's journey by taking a single, all-important step. This step is toward the church of your choice.

LIVING HOPE

Lesson for May 27, 1973

Background Scripture: Acts 1:6-11; 2 Timothy 2:8-13; I Peter 1:3-9; I John 3:1-3.
Devotional Reading: Romans 8:35-39.

But what kind of hope?

There are different kinds of hope. For example, there is the kind of hope that is actually wishful thinking. A woman shopping in downtown Philadelphia was caught in a sudden downpour. Laden with bundles, she madly raced for the nearest department store entrance. Once inside, she began to look around in confusion. At last she walked up to the "Information Desk" and asked: "Isn't this Wanamaker's?" "No," said the clerk patiently, "didn't you see our sign outside that said 'Gimbels'?" "Yes," sighed the woman, "but I had so hoped it would be Wanamaker's."

Rev. Althouse

Many vain hopes

For too many people hope is nothing more than wanting reality to be something different from what it is likely to be. This is why many people grow disenchanted with hope. Because their hopes have been vain, they decide that hope itself must be abandoned. Often it is these people who are the most bitter, the most negative about life and the world in which we live. Having been disappointed by their vain hopes, they refuse to hope for anything.

Hope by itself is neither good nor bad. It is the kind of hope by which we live, the source of our hope that makes the difference. Former Nazi official Albert Speer, in his book Inside The Third Reich, tells us that Adolf Hitler was a man who lived by a false, unrealistic hope that was founded upon his own sense of personal destiny. The Dictator's religion was founded on "the lucky break" which he was sure would come his way. "Sometimes," writes Speer, "he could realize the hopelessness of a situation, but he could not be shaken in his expectation that at the last moment Fate would suddenly turn the tide in his favor."

The source of hope

There is nothing more crushing than to find that we have been living by a futile hope. But the source of the Christian's hope is something else. The writer of 1 Peter puts it clearly on the line in identifying the source of our hope: "By his great mercy we have been born anew to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, and to an inheritance which is imperishable, undefiled, and unfading . . ." (1 Peter 1:3,4).

It is the living Lord Jesus Christ that is the source of our hope, not a vague conviction that "Everything will work out all right." It is this hope that carries us through the trials and crises of life. It is this hope that enables us to face even the seeming terrible reality of death. Thus, we are challenged to live, not by the vain and dead expectations of wishful thinking, but by a living hope that finds its source in a living Lord.

WHAT IS STRAIN?

Excessive stretching; overuse of a part of the body, is a portion of the dictionary definition for strain. It can involve many areas of your body . . i.e., eye strain, back strain, hernia, nervous tension. In some cases common sense and rest is all that is needed to relieve the condition. However, in such instances as a hernia, it is most important that you consult your physician for his expert advice.

For some of the more common forms of strain, we have regularly in stock products that can help: eye drops, mustard plaster, heating pads and many others.

Westernport Man Critical After Two-Vehicle Wreck

A Westernport man was listed in critical condition last Saturday as the result of a two-vehicle head-on accident about 9:40 last Thursday evening on U. S. Route 40 just west of Amish road at Grantsville.

Vance Craig, 58, was first taken to the Frostburg Community Hospital by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad ambulance. Craig was then transferred to Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, where he was still listed 'critical' Saturday. Vance was driver of a Chevrolet Bel Air car.

The driver of the half-ton truck Dana E. Umbel, and two passengers in his vehicle Norman V. Livengood, 23, and Victor R. Selby, all of Friendsville, were treated and released from the Frostburg Hospital following the accident.

Both vehicles were called a total loss.

Charges are pending, Trooper R. C. Georg investigated the wreck.

David Funderburk Gets Surgeon Degree, Honors

David C. Funderhurk, former resident of Oakland, received his Doctor of Dental Surgery degree at West Virgina University's 104th commencement ceremonies Sunday, May 20.

Dr. Funderburk was presented the Mosby Book Award for being one of the top five academic students in his graduation class at the awards assembly held the previous evening.

He also was awarded the American Academy of Oral Medicine Award, the American Dental Society Award and the American Academy of Periodontology Award for ability and academic excellence in those specialities.

Dr. Funderburk, along with five other members of his class, was inducted into Omicron Kappa Upsilon, national honor society of dentistry, on May 17 at Lakeview Country Club.

This past January, Dr. Funderburk was selected for the general practice rotating dental internship for the following year at West Virginia University Hospital.

Dr. Funderburk is married to the former Mary Kathryn Gonder, an instructor of drama at the West Virginia University Creative Arts Center and is the son-in-law of former State Senator and Mrs. Bernard J. Gonder, Sr., of Oakland.

A government study determined that passenger car tires are not significant factors in traffic accidents.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of William Brooks, birthday May 26

Bill, although you're gone from us
To a better land we know and trust,
With each passing day we miss you more,
And some day soon we'll meet at the golden door.

Sadly Missed By Naomi, Don, Dunnie, and Debbie Wolf

NHS-Salisbury Games Ends 10-0

Northern raised its season baseball record to 7-1 when the team defeated Salisbury 10-0. This is the second time this season that Northern has defeated Salisbury, winning the first game 6-5.

Vernon Snyder was the winning pitcher for the Huskies, and also had a home run.

Southern Beats Huskies

Despite home runs by Vernon Snyder, Northern was defeated by Southern 9-6 in Monday's game. This makes the Huskies' second loss of the season. Ron Blocker started on the mound for Northern and suffered the loss. The two teams will meet again on Northern's field May 25 on school time.

Lightning struck and killed the pitcher at the beginning of a baseball game in an Arizona city recently.

LONNIE RODEHEAVER

Lonnie Rodeheaver from our frozen food and dairy department is this week's staff feature. Lonnie has been with our company for over four years. He worked briefly in the meat department before being transferred to his present job in the frozen food and dairy department.

Lonnie performs his job with "vim and vigor". He is a soft-spoken individual who is very efficient in all his duties. He works during shopping hours and it is his responsibility to keep all the fast moving dairy and frozen food products stocked for your convenience. Customers have noticed how polite and accommodating Lonnie is whenever they ask for assistance.

In addition to his departmental duties, Lonnie is in charge of our beverage section. He orders, receives and stocks all items in this section. It is a pleasure to work with Lonnie for he is always in a good mood and always greets his fellow employees with a friendly Hello.

Residing at Route 4, Box 29, Deer Park, Lonnie and his wife Mary (an employee in the Yum Yum Shoppe) are the parents of three sons and one daughter. Lonnie enjoys hunting, fishing and gardening. A former baseball player, he enjoys the great outdoors. Recently the Rodeheavers moved to their new 10 room home which Lonnie helped to build. His 13 years experience as a finish carpenter was beneficial in the construction of their home and also comes in handy when there's a job to be done around the house.

Visitations, Other Items Discussed At School Board Meet

At the monthly meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education, the Board discussed various items, including the visitations to schools that have been held this year.

A general report on the visitations will be sent to all schools with favorable observations and challenges for improvement. Each local staff and the county office staff will utilize the report as a device for additional school improvement.

In other business, the Board acted to cooperate with the State Highway Administration in widening and drainage of Route 42 near the Friendsville Elementary School. The Board decided to use funds approved for a track at Southern High School to study and work toward a complete program of out door facilities improvement. It is expected that the Interagency Committee will support this action.

Upon the recommendation of Dr. William H. Buser, county schools superintendent, the Board voted to close the County Office for the week of July 23-27 in order that twelve-month employees could take a week of uninterrupted vacation.

Thomas Shaffer, M.S.T.A. Field Representative, appeared before the Board of present the concerns of M.S.T.A. and teachers relative to teacher evaluation and the granting of tenure to teachers. He stressed the importance of supplying supportive help to teachers and the importance of teacher rights in the evaluation-termination of contract process. Board President William Goldsborough indicated it was the Board's intent to act at all times within the framework of the school laws of Maryland.

The resignations of Elaine Hudson, Mrs. Susan Glotfelty, and David Siagle were accepted, effective at the close of schools. Mrs. Marie G. McManis was appointed to Center Street, grade two, and James Fowble was appointed to teach industrial arts at Southern High School.

William Goldsborough reported to the Board on his efforts as a member of the State Transportation Advisory Committee to insure transportation for those students who are living less than a mile from school but who are transported due to hazardous driving conditions. The committee recommended to the State Superintendent that a full-scale hearing be held prior to the State's withdrawal of this transportation.

May 24-31 "Respect For Law" Week

May 21 through 31 has been proclaimed "Respect for Law" week here by the Optimist Club of Oakland.

The proclamation was officially signed by Mayor H. D. Swartzentruber on May 22.

The proclamation asked that all citizens join the Optimists in carrying the respect for law message to other citizens, and all exercise responsible citizenship.

President Cecil Hahn urged citizens to join with the Optimist Club in this observance, noting that good law enforcement cannot be the responsibility of police alone—citizens' help is needed.

Arlie P. Breedlove is chairman of Respect for Law week.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our beloved mother, wife, and grandmother, Helen Frazee, who passed away seven years ago, today, May 27, 1966.

We had a dear mother and wife,
With a heart of gold.
That meant more to us than wealth untold.
Without farewell she fell asleep.
Leaving only memories for us to keep.
Yes, we have lost, but God has gained.
One of the best women the world contained.

Feld's Efforts Help Penn To 5 Rowing Victories

Mick Feld rowed in the number six seat on the University of Penn-sylvania varsity eight lightweight crew which rowed to victories over five of six opponents during the spring. Feld, for his efforts as a member of the varsity bnat for three seasons, was hailed by coach Fred Leonard as, "the best oarsman I've ever had."

Feld's efforts led to victories over Rutgers, Cornell, Columbia, Yale and a West German national crew. In the Eastern Sprint Championships which determine the best eight in lightweight crew, Penn was third.

Feld was a fencer at Mercersburg Academy before conversion to crew upon his entrance to Penn. He lives in Oakland and is a senior in the Wharton School. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Feld.

NEWS FROM THE Ruth Enlow Library

by Edith Brock

The Ruth Enlow Library will be closed Monday, May 28, in observance of Memorial Day.

The bookmobile is presently out of service for major repairs and improvements. The summer schedule will be announced in the near future.

The National Geographic film entitled "The Grizzly," will be shown at the Ruth Enlow Library on Friday, May 25, at 7:30 p. m., and is an excellent presentation of the study of the vanishing grizzly bear in Yellowstone Park, which is being conducted by scientists Frank and John Craighead. A great many myths which surround the grizzly bear are examined.

At the family film program on Saturday, May 26, the following films will be shown: "Tale of the Fiords," "Stowaway," and "Williamsburg - Story of a Patriot." The program will begin at 2 p. m.

On Friday June 1, the film "The Music Man," starring Robert Preston and Shirley Jones, will be shown at the library. The movie will run from 7 p. m. to approximately 9 p. m.

Plans are going ahead for rebuilding of Managua, Nica.

Greenhouse Named For Former Local Man

Charles Harsh Graduates From School of the Bible

Charles N. Harsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse H. Harsh, RD 1, Box 75, Oakland, graduated from the Bible-Missions curriculum of Lancaster School of the Bible at their Thirty-Eighth Annual Commencement Exercises un Saturday, May 19.

Mr. Harsh was one of forty-four students to receive certificates at these, the last official exercises of graduation for Lancaster School of the Bible, which became Lancaster Bible College at 4:00 p. m. on Saturday, May 19. These graduation exercises were also the occasion for the school's fortieth anniversary and the founder-president of the school, Dr. Henry J. Heydt, was present for the event and brought greetings to the graduates.

During his year at the school Charles Harsh served as the president of his class as well as a member of the Resident Council.

Gets Hood College Prize

Miss Elizabeth Sharps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Sharps of Oakland was recently awarded The Grace N. Brown Prize at Hood College in Frederick.

Miss Sharps recently completed her freshmen year at Hood College, an independent liberal arts college for women. The award is given annually to a freshman student who has consistently shown initiative, insight, and achievement in the course "Analytical Geometry and Introduction to Calculus."

Miss Sharps is a graduate of Southern High School.

List Of Speakers For College Days For Women Noted

A full roster of speakers has now been confirmed for this year's College Days for Women, scheduled June 13 and 14 on the University of Maryland Campus in College Park.

The 1973 version makes the fiftieth anniversary of special adult education for homemakers on the College Park campus by the university's Cooperative Extension Service.

Keynote speaker on this year's "Awareness" theme will be Dr. Gerald L. McLindon, dean of the school of environmental design at Louisiana State University.

Faculty members for a schedule of 10 separate classes being offered during the two-day session have also been verified, according to Dr. A. June Bricker, department head and state leader for Extension home economics.

The following classes will be offered: "Self Evaluation," "Will the Family Survive?," "Retire - Never," "Environment - Choice or Chance," "Do You Influence Community Resources?," "Who are the Handicapped?," "Legal Rights of Families," "Current Health Concerns," "Find Yourself - Face Facts," "The Cultural Scene."

If any woman or husband and wife are interested in attending College Days at the University of Md., please contact Freda S. Denison, Ext. Service, Oakland, before June 1. The fee for the two days is $20.00, including room and meals.

Southern-Northern Tilt Monday Leaves Rams Victors, 9-6

Southern High School registered a hard earned 9-6 victory over Northern High School Monday afternoon on Southern's field.

Ernie Shutwell needed seventh-inning help from Paul Lewis when Vernon Snyder smacked his second home run of the game.

The victory was the ninth in a row in as many games for Coach Eddie Green's Rams.

Lewis, who played the first six and one-third innings at first base, walloped a two-run homer for Southern to highlight a six-run first inning as the Rams assumed an early advantage. Northern nipped slowly away at that margin, making it 6-4 in the third inning on the strength of Snyder's first round tripper of the game, a three-run blast.

Don Upole's two-run single sparked a three-run fourth inning for Southern to put the contest out of reach. Snyder's two-run smash in the seventh exited Shotwell and brought on Lewis, who put down the Huskies without reprieve to end the game.

Shotwell yielded seven hits and four walks while striking out six batters. Ronnie Block lasted only one-third of an inning against Southern, yielding two hits and walking three. Buddy Harding finished up, walking five and surrendering three hits the rest of the way while fanning six.

Southern will play at Northern tomorrow.

The Cost of Living Council suspects many companies raised prices anticipating a freeze or stronger controls.

Gorman Accident Sends One To Hospital Sunday

An accident just west of Gorman Sunday morning sent one man to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where he was treated and released. Two others in the same accident were apparently only slightly injured Another person was injured in a Friendsville accident Friday morning.

Albert Nelson McKeen, Sr. 62, Grafton, W. Va. was treated and released from the hospital Sunday morning following a two-car mishap on U. S. Route 50 at Althouse Hill up the hill from Gorman. The driver of the car, Albert Nelson McKeen, Jr. 23, Grafton W. Va., and John I Boyd, 19, Negley, Ohio, driver of the other car were apparently only slightly injured. Two other passengers in the McKeen car were not reported as injured. McKeen was traveling east on Route 50 and Boyd, west. Boyd following a right turn in the road, failed to keep to the right side of the road and struck the McKeen car. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater charged Boyd with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

Betty Lou Humberson, 45, was slightly injured in a two-car wreck in Friendsville early last Friday morning. She was traveling south on First Avenue. Ronald F. Page, Cresaptown, was stopped at a traffic light at the intersection of Maple Ave. Page started to move forward and was struck by the Humberson car. Both claimed to have a green light. Trooper D. A. Miller charged both drivers with failing to obey a traffic control device.

A minor accident occurred on the Crellin road near the Old Crellin road last Thursday just past noon. Darlene Kay Creek, Bel Air, was traveling east and attempted to pass an unidentified vehicle, also going east. The unidentified vehicle moved to the left of the center of the road causing the car driven by Darlene Creek to go off the left side of the road. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater made no charges.

Two no-injury accidents occurred Sunday.

Gary Linn Skipper, Center Street, Oakland, was stopped headed south on the right side of the Swallow Falls road, one mile north of Mellott road about 7:30 p. m. Jacob R. Sisler, Star Route 2, Oakland, driving north, crossed the center line of the road and struck the left front fender of the Skipper car. Trooper Dale K. Williams investigated the accident.

A one-car wreck about 4 o'clock Sunday morning resulted in the total loss of a car driven by William J. Herod, Morgantown, W. Va. Herod was headed south on State Route 560 about a half mile north of the White Church road. The car went off the left shoulder, struck some guard rails, went back across the road, hit some guard rails on the right side and came to rest. Trooper D. A. Miller charged Herod with operating under the influence of alcohol and failing to keep to the right side of the road. Herod was apparently not injured.

My Paradise Island
(By Rex Mobeley)

There must be a Paradise Island,
A beautiful haven somewhere;
There must be a place where there's never a trace
Of sadness, heartbreak, or despair.
There must be a place where the kiddies
Play happily all the day through;
There must be a land so fashioned and planned,
That love is eternal and true.
I'll call it my Paradise Island.
A place where I'll get a new start;
Where there's no such thing as deception's cruel sting.
And love never walks on your heart.
Someday I shall come to my island
And stand on that beautiful shore,
To find that life seems to have been only dreams,
Then I'll never cry anymore.

LICENSES
HOW BIG IS BIG MONEY?
To some people it is making $1,000 a month. To others $5,000 a month, right in their own home town. — We have both kinds.
So it's opportunity if you qualify for the STROUT team. Not everybody does. But ask yourself if you are ready for your real estate license to start bringing you important money. Ask too, do you really like people? And do you have common sense? If yes, then ask for information on the "People-Business." It's mailed without obligation. Could be the start to something big — with the world's largest.

Allen Murlin, left, displayed fine physical condition when he walked the 17-mile Walkathon in 3 hours, two minutes Saturday. Roger Shaffer, second from left, came in third in three hoors, 17 minutes. Darrell Gregory, Jim Dodge and Dan Swartzentruber tied for second place, with three hours, 15 minutes. They will win a choice of gifts worth $50 from Kelly's. Grand prize winners will be determined by those turning in the most sponsor money to YFC by June 9.

Car Plunges Into Savage Dam Friday

Three teenagers narrowly escaped death in Savage River dam Friday night after the driver lost her way in the fog and the car plunged down an embankment and into 50 feet of water near the spillway.

Nothing was known about the mishap until Sunday, when Maryland Park Service Ranger Wilson Warnick noted the path of a car that had gone down a steep embankment, knocking down saplings, and into the water.

He immediately contacted the Garrett County detachment of the state police and Tfc. Carl Skidmore went to the scene, they were joined there by Lt. Charles DeWitt of LaVale barracks.

Before they called in a team of scuba divers to check the car for bodies, the aunt of one of the occupants notified them that the three in the car had escaped and all were well.

When the full story was told, it was found that Friday at 10:10 p. m., Jean Marie Getson, 16, driver of the car, accompanied by Barbara Wilt, 19, and Terry Baumann, 16, were traveling on the Savage River dam road in a dense fog between Dry Run and Big Run.

After the car went off the road and into the water, it floated just long enough for the three to get out the windows, stand on the trunk, and grab hold of a sapling the car had bent in its descent.

The three managed to climb up the steep bank and began walking. A passing motorist later picked up the three and took them to their homes.

The job of getting the car out has not yet begun. A scuba driver will have to hook a tow rope to the vehicle, which will need a strong tow to pull its water-logged weight from that depth.

1974 Education Budget Decided By Commissioners

The Garrett County Commissioners, after a day-long session with school board members and staff, made a final decision on the fiscal 1974 school budget request late last week.

The upcoming approved budget will be about $5,133,763, up from 1973's figure of $4,897,966. Approximately $1,758,000 of this will come from county sources, the remainder from federal and state funds.

The major increases granted were in the areas of salary schedules for all employees and the operation and maintenance of the school buildings. The Commissioners recommended that the school board apply $500 to starting salaries to insure a beginning teacher's salary of $7,000 per year.

Interest was also expressed by the Commissioners in maintaining the Title III program which includes Camp Hickory, planetarium, and Resource Center services to county schools.

In addition, the Commissioners approved a $29,385 Capital Outlay request from General

Allen Murlin Tops 66 Walkers To Win Walkathon

Allen Murlin, of Oak Street, Oakland, finished the 17-mile YFC Walkathon Saturday, May 26, in three hours ,two minutes to capture first place in the walk.

Sixty-six out of the 72 who started completed the walk Saturday. Some 102 had signed up to make the walk but threatening weather kept some away.

Tied for second place were Jim Dodge and Dan Swartzentruber, Oakland, and Darrell Gregory, Mt. Lake Park, who tied at 3 hours, 17 minutes.

Francis "Red" Ackerman, aged 72, was the oldest person to finish, and completed the walk in four hours, 17 minutes. He faced ninth.

Tammy Mason and Joan Davy were the first of the female walkers to complete the route, coming down the home stretch after four hours, 42 minutes.

Karen Workman and Rick Meyers, both Friendsville, were the first couple, four hours, 51 minutes; Margaret Murray, Kingwood, first mother, five hours, 14 minutes; George L. Rexroad family, first family to finish, six hours, 17 minutes.

Winners of grand prizes will not be known until noon June 9, when all sponsor money must be turned in. Winners will be announced at the Mt. Top YFC Presentation Rally June 9 at 8 p. m. at the Loch Lynn school.

Money may be turned in to James Ashby, Walkathon treasurer, Garrett National Bank, or to Mt. Top treasurer Deb Bittinger at Montgomery Wards, Mt. Lake.

Elisa Schofield, child of Mr. and Mrs. Brian Schofield, was the youngest to enter—she's 2½ years old.

The YFC Summer Insight program will be June 5 at 7 p. m. at Green Glade Ranch, Turkey Neck Road, with a hayride, campfire and music from a Christian folk group from Keyser, "The Faith Singers," scheduled. All teens are invited and there is no admission charge.

Debbie Kitzmiller Is Junior Winner Of Broiler Show

Debbie Kitzmiller, member of the North Glade 4-H Club, won top honors in the junior division of the Western Maryland District 4-H and F.F.A. Broiler Show held Saturday, May 26 at Southern High School.

Fifty-one 4-H and F.F.A. members of Garrett, Allegany and Washington Counties competed in the contest. Norma Yoder, of the Saddle Tramps, won second place in the senior division.

Other participants from Garrett County were Kenlee Hardesty, Heath Margraff, Donna Legeer, Durenda Riley, Timothy Friend, Richard Friend, Allen Noland, Ricky DeWitt, George Keller, Billy Noel, Gregory Fratz, Randall Steyer, Ray Steyer, Kenneth Yoder, Richard Bishoff, Nina Bishoff, and Dan Boone.

First place in the Poultry Demonstrations was also won by Debbie Kitzmiller, with Durenda Riley, of the North Glade 4-H Club, placing second. The chickens were started as a 4-H project in the middle of March.

Gilman Sylvester, manager of the Sterling Processing Corp., donated 2,000 chicks to the Garrett County youth for the project. Mr. Sylvester has sponsored the program for the past 3 years

61st Annual VFD Convention Slated June 6

Approximately 200 Expected For One-Day Meeting, Parade

Oakland should be well-supplied with firemen next Wednesday, June 6, when the 61st annual convention of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association will be held here.

Events will begin with registration at 9 a. m. at St. Paats United Methodist church for the members of the ladies' auxiliary, and at St. Peter's Catholic Church for the firemen.

Business meetings will begin at 10 a. m.

Approximately 200 persons are expected.

Following luncheon at the American Legion, meetings will reconvene at the above places at 1 p. m. A joint memorial service is planned for 4 p. m. at St. Paul's.

Dinner will be served at 5 p. m., at the Legion.

A firemen's parade will form at 7 p. m. downtown in Oakland, with approximately 70 units expected from as far away as Elkins and Bridgeport, W. Va., as well as many from surrounding areas. Area bands will also be participating.

The parade will march down Second street, east on Alder to Third and north on Third to its disbanding point, near Oak-Lee Dairyland.

This is the first such firemen's convention held in Oakland since 1963, according to Jim Rook, chief of the Oakland VFD.

Funds Will Set Up Occupational Therapy Program

Senators J. Glenn Beall, Jr. and Charles McC. Mathias have announced that Maryland will receive a $49,700 Appalachian grant to establish a regional occupational therapy program to serve Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties.

The two Maryland senators said the funds will be used to recruit a professional occupational therapist and to train six local residents, two from each county to act as occupational therapy assistants.

The program will provide occupational therapy for physically and emotionally handicapped residents including case finding, treatment and patient follow-up.

The grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission will be administered by the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

Trailer Burns Near Deep Creek Lake Sunday

A house trailer off Route 219 and Lake Shore Drive at Deep Creek was completely destroyed by fire Sunday evening.

It was located on the Joseph Ehrenrich property and apparently unoccupied at the time. The owner could not be ascertained.

The Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company responded to the alarm.

More Of The Same Describes Weather For The Past Week

More of the same thing is the best way to describe the past week's weather, cloudy with some rain each day, cool, and rather breezy at times. Temperatures averaged about 7 degrees below normal for the period.

Heavy fog was a dominant feature of the weekend. It had been considered the factor of a number of motor vehicle accidents. There has been some occasional sunshine every day since Monday. A heavy thunder storm occurred yesterday afternoon. Tornado warnings were in effect in parts of the county at times.

Daytime mercury readings varied from 54 degrees last Friday to 75 degrees Monday. Nighttime lows ranged from 46 last Friday to 55 degrees Tuesday. Temperatures had actually risen Sunday night to Monday morning.

219 Drive-In Has New Owners

Route 219 Drive-In theatre changed hands this week, after 19 seasons of ownership by Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Speicher and Hazel Harvey.

New owners are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoag, who have been summer residents on Deep Creek Lake for more than 17 years, and who reside in Pittsburgh during the winter months.

The drive-in, located on Route 219 for all the years of Speicher-Harvey ownership, will continue operations as usual for the present.

Mr. and Mrs. Speicher, whose home adjoins the theatre, plan to keep their home property, and to do occasional traveling.

Cumberland Man Lands Grand Prize Fish In Rodeo

A Cumberland man, Glenn Cross, Jr., landed the grand prize fish in the first annual Deep Creek Lake Fishing Rodeo Sunday. Mr. Cross was fishing from the bank in the McHenry section of the Lake when he landed his $300 prize Largemouth Bass.

Although the grand prize fish has been caught, the second and third prize fish, worth $200 and $100, respectively, still remain to be caught.

One oddity was noted at Deep Creek Lake over the weekend. Dale Umbel, Friendsville, caught two specially tagged Largemouth Bass, each worth $10, in the same area the same afternoon.

Other contest winners include: Michael Collins, Crellin, $25; Robert Lucker, Laurel, $10; Richard Clark, Scottdale, Pa., $10; Richard Goy, Joppa, $10, and Dave Martin, Pittsburgh, $50.

New Power Line Completion Set By Monongahela Co.

Construction is nearly finished on a $300,000 transmission line which will augment the supply of electric power to about 8,000 customers in the Oakland area, according to Monongahela Power Company officials.

The line covers a distance of nine miles from Bayard, W. Va., near Gormania, to Loch Lynn. Construction began last year, and the project is scheduled for completion by early summer.

The new line will tie in with existing facilities and serve as an alternate source of electricity for the Oakland area. In the event of trouble on the existing line, it will permit switching to another source of power.

Explorer Unit Initiated May 23

On Wednesday evening, May 23, a number of young people of Garrett County held the first meeting of Explorer Unit 1 of the Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, at the Garrett Community College.

The unit is sponsored by the Garrett Community College faculty. Professor O. Randall Harman, President.

Participants appointed temporary officers, Paul Sisler, president; Pat Callis, vice president; Cathy Smearman, secretary-treasurer. Other members are Susie Welch, Rick Thayer, Louise Norwish and Buddy Fauber.

The next meeting is planned for this evening at 7:30 at the Village Inn followed by a pool party in the swimming pool. All interested young people between the ages of 15 and 20 are invited to attend and join the group. The group's major area of interest is the water environment.

Dean's, Honors Students Named At Garrett College

GCC students with Spring Semester academic achievement records were recently nominated to honors' lists, according to Dr. Jan W. Janssen, Dean of Students. Students must complete more than 12 credit hours work with a grade point average of 3.50 or higher to qualify for the "Dean's List" and earn a GPA of 3.00 to 3.49 for the "Honors List".

Of the fulltime students, the highest performer was Carol McLaughlin with a perfect GPA of 4.00 out of a possible 4.00. Of the part-time student only four have a 4.00 average for 12 or more hours of accumulative work. They were Russell Friend, Marianne Green, George Schmidt and Ireta Sweitzer.

Full-time students designated to the "Dean's List" were Carol McLaughlin, Linda Fleming, and Barbara Wilt of Swanton; David Cathell, Allan Edgar, Stuart Hamill, III and Thomas Hauser of Oakland, Ethel Schlossnagle of Friendsville; and Donald DeWitt of Crellin.

Parttime students on the "Dean's List" were Russell Friend, George Schmidt, Ireta Sweitzer, Marianne Sears, Patricia Gregory, Russell Stewart and Mrs. James Thayer of Oakland, Marianne Green of Mt. Lake Park; Kathy Glotfelty of Mellonry; and David Davis of

Memorial Activities Are Well Attended

Rain showers let up just long enough for Oakland's annual Memorial Day parade and activities at the cemetery Monday morning.

The Rev. Lawrence Sherwood, Speaker

A medium-sized crowd gathered following the parade at the Oakland Cemetery to hear principal speaker Dr. Lawrence Sherwood give his message, "Don't Forget."

Perhaps the highlight of his talk was pointed out that the unknown soldier buried in the Oakland cemetery was a Union man from the Civil War, not an unknown soldier from World War I, as many had supposed.

Dr. Sherwood pointed out that a church in Oakland (St. Paul's United Methodist) had been used as a hospital by the Union army. Some of the wounded survivors of a battle found in the Opequon Creek vicinity, near Winchester, were brought by train to Oakland, and one man, severely wounded, died before he was able to give his name.

Other parts of his speech dealt with the three important "remembering" themes of our country's history, the Alamo, the Maine, and Pearl Harbor.

Dr. Sherwood noted that such events of historical importance also have personal, close-to-home effects, such as those felt by the widows and orphans of those killed in these battles.

He also noted that Memorial Day is possibly the most personal of the national holidays, in that people gather to pay respects to family dead, not only to the war dead.

Final points were, first, that each death involves individuals, and is not just a statistic; and that each person should try to do his duty, military or otherwise, in today's world.

World War I veterans were present, and honored guests at the ceremonies.

Jaycees Sponsoring Top Wrestling Matches June 7

The Oakland Jaycees will sponsor big-name wrestling matches in Oakland Thursday, June 7, at Southern High School.

Bruno Sammartino and Dominic DeNucci will team up against Baron Scicluna and the Masked Executioner.

Three other matches - Tony Parisi vs. Killer Kawalski, Johnny Dafazio against Frank Durso, and one other match, will finish the program.

Tickets are available from C. P. Martin, Helbig's Sport Center, or from any Jaycee member.

Matches will begin at 8:15 p. m.

Tax Rate To Remain $2.73 Per $100 Value

Expenditures Amount To $4,314,391.59; Income Totals $4,487,019.60

For the third year in a row, Garrett County Commissioners held the $2.73 tax rate on each $100 of assessed valuation.

The Commissioners had spent the past ten days concentrating on the various budgets, and noted that the only reason the present tax rate did not have to be increased was due to Federal Revenue sharing funds.

Assessable base for the county showed an increase of $10,000,000 over last year, producing an additional $273,000 of extra revenue.

Total expenditures amounted to $4,314,391.59, with an estimated income of $4,487,019.60 from all sources. The difference between income and outgo left a contingent fund of $172,628.01.

Nearly all department budgets showed increases, except Social Services and Community Action Committee, which remained the same, and two others which were less than last year.

Salaries and wages were major items increased, along with increased costs of materials and supplies. Fuel is up 35 percent from last year and parts up 18 to 22 percent, according to commissioner figures. A general wage increase of better than 5 percent is provide for all county employees, including the 180 roads workers and 25 court house employees.

The Board of Education request was reduced from more than $600,000 to $300,502, and still represented the largest increased expenditure of local funds.

The sheriff's department budget was reduced to $128,083 from a request of $246,000. Last year's budget totaled only $88,010.

There was a 10 percent increase in the Health Department budg-

GCTA Officers Elected Tuesday

New officers of the Garrett County Teachers' Association were elected at the annual business meeting held Tuesday evening at Southern High School.

Darrell E. Malone is now president; Eugene Flinn, vice president; Lucille Sires, secretary; and Kenneth Keplinger, treasurer.

The group will assume their offices July 1, to serve one year terms.

Delegates to the Representative Association are William Crone, Jim Zimmerman and Eugene Flinn, with Jack Frantz as first alternate.

Firemen Answer Manor Builders Call

Oakland firemen traveled about a block to a fire at Manor Builders Hardware Store Tuesday afternoon about 3:45.

The fire was contained in a storage room at the rear of the store, but smoke was so thick that the store and apartments above the store were vacated.

No estimate of damage has been filed, pending examination by, and consultation with, the insurance company. Alleged smoke damage occurred to furniture in the upstairs display room.

False Alarm

About 4:15 Wednesday, an accidental false alarm sent Oakland firemen to Mt. Lake Park, after a woman reported seeing a fire there. No fire could be found, however, and the men returned to Oakland.

Man Injured In One-Car Wreck In Oakland Mon.

A one-car accident at the west edge of Oakland Monday evening caused injury to one man.

Robert L. Crosco, 24, Mt. Lake Park, was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital following the accident.

Crosco was traveling east on the Crellin road just inside the Oakland town limits. He crossed the center line of the road to the left side and went over an embankment near the Little Youghlogheny River.

Officer Franklin G. Finch investigated the accident and made no charges.

Rolls Is Sent To Pen For Six Years By Court

John Rolls, who pleaded guilty to several counts at a trial in March, was sentenced to six years in the State Penitentiary last Thursday by Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., following an investigation.

Rolls had pleaded guilty to charge of worthless checks and larceny after trust and false pretense. On the worthless checks, he was given six years, and on larceny and false pretense, six years. The two sentences are to run concurrently.

Rolls had pleaded guilty to the above charges at a trial March 27 at which time a presentence investigation was ordered by Judge Hamill. The sentences last week were result of the investigations.

Rolls was sentenced to the Commissioner of Correction and ordered delivered to the Receiving and Diagnostic Center of the Maryland Penitentiary.

Rolls had skipped bond last October and was picked up on a bench warrant in Nevada and returned here in April.

Wayne Hamilton New Chairman Of Tri-County Council

Garrett County Commissioner Wayne B. Hamilton has been elected new chairman of the Tri-County Council of Western Maryland.

Elections were held at the group's annual meeting at the Village Inn, Mellenry, Thursday, May 24.

Other new officers included Donald R. Frush, chairman of the Washington County Planning Commission, vice chairman; and G. Louis Baker, Jr., a county commissioner from Allegany County, secretary-treasurer.

Officers were elected by the executive board, which includes Commissioners Earl E. Opel and Mr. Hamilton; Charlie B. Miller and Col. J. H. Jackson, all from this county.

Edward I. Heath, executive director of the Tri-County Council, reported the $28,000 in funds will be forthcoming for a flood management proposal which has been under consideration by the council for several months.

Such funds will enable the hiring of a flood management expert for 18 to 24 months, so that Western Maryland can qualify for the national flood plain insurance.

All of the 24 incorporated communities within the three counties, as well as the counties themselves, could qualify for the insurance. Mr. Heath was advised to proceed with the hiring of a flood management expert.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our appreciation to the many relatives, friends, and neighbors for the comfort and kindness offered us following the death of our husband and father, Daniel C. Sisler. A special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. David Sisler, Mrs. Ernest Savage, Mrs. Ray Sisler, and Rev. Joseph Goudy.

GROOMING "Dress-Rehearsal" FOR BRIDE-TO-BE

If you are planning to be married soon, your appearance on the big day is probably a primary concern. The made-up, actress-look is out. Natural makeup, clean hair and a fresh scent are in. It's important that you look and feel attractive.

Nonetheless, The Soap and Detergent Association suggests that you may have to work a little at looking natural. In the first place, your complexion will have to be glowingly blemish-free. This means that in the weeks prior to the wedding, diet should be as balanced as possible. In the hectic pre-wedding days, take time to pamper skin with suds facials, light steaming from a facial sauna and night cream.

If nails are not in good condition, trim them several weeks before the wedding, then pamper your hands while the nails grow back. Soak fingertips daily in a small bowl of gentle suds, and push back the cuticles. Use hand lotion after every washing.

Practice applying the makeup you will use on the wedding day. An all-over blusher is often needed to keep girls from looking too pale in a white or very light dress. Generally, pinkish tones are used in lipstick and nail polish, and a lip gloss keeps lips looking moist for photographs. Practice using a light hand on translucent eye makeup, too, but remember, nothing substitutes for enough sleep, balanced meals and a cleanliness ritual during the pre-wedding weeks.

Grantsville Man Injured East Of Clarysville

A Grantsville man had been held in the emergency room of Sacred Heart Hospital following an accident last Thursday on U. S. Route 40 just east of Clarysville in Allegany County

Jacob Elwood Hutzel, 24, of RD 1, Grantsville, was traveling west on Route 40 and came up behind a vehicle. He applied his brakes, lost control of the vehicle, skidded off the left side of the highway and struck some guard rails.

Hutzel was charged with operating at a speed too great for existing conditions by Tfc. Roy Reed.

An Oregon woman sued a meat co. for having too much fat in some ground beef.

Salute To The Unknown Soldier

VOLLEY IN SALUTE to the unknown soldier is fired by Legion squad commanded by Waller Hoye. The Rev. Lawrence Sherwood, speaker at the ceremony, related that the unknown soldier died in Oakland from wounds received in battle during the Civil War. He was brought to Oakland, along with other wounded, by train and succumbed without disclosing who he was.

A Really Nice Catch

Joseph Metheny, 10, displays his Northern Pike he "accidentally" caught while fishing on Penn Point for blue gill and perch. The 26¾ inch fish weighed four pounds, three ounces. Joe was so determined about his catch he not only landed his fish, he landed on him so he couldn't get away. The ten-year-old is the son of Mrs. Carol Metheny, Underwood Road.

et, and a slight decrease in the Assessments and Taxation budget due to the state assuming the supervisor's salary and expenses. Total costs of the Assessments department will be fully assumed over the next two years by the state, as provided by action of the past legislative session.

The Roads department showed a substantial increase from the present budget of $1,037,000 to $1,345,000 for 1974.

Publication of the entire budget should be forthcoming next week, according to the Commissioners.

It was possible to reduce the local share of Garrett Community College budget by $8,000 through use of Revenue Sharing monies in permissible areas. Revenue sharing funds, which were expected to total about $1,000,000, also are to be used in other permissible areas such as a new bridge over the Savage River.

A supplemental general revenue sharing budget will be prepared later for publication.

Tax bills will be mailed out about July 1. A five percent discount is allowed for payment in July, four percent in August and three percent in September.

About 85 percent of the county tax revenue is received during the above three months.

Civic Club Has Miss Dillon As Guest Speaker

Some 36 members and guests of the Civic Club of Oakland met at Village Inn, Mellenry, May 29.

Guests were Mrs. Gary Uhalt, Miss Lucille Mitchell, Mrs. Mary Fridinger, Mrs. Katherine Plum, Mrs. Harvey Gortner and Miss Louise Dillon.

Miss Alverta Dillon was guest speaker. The club members were to tour the garden of Miss Dillon, but due to inclement weather Miss Dillon brought slides of her Garrett county wildflowers growing in her garden, along with slides of popular cultivated flowers.

She noted that many wild flowers are becoming extinct because of road building, housing developments, lumber mills, etc.

Mrs. E. I. Baumgartner Installed Mrs. James A. Riley as president and Mrs. Loree McRobie as treasurer.

Plans were discussed for a rummage sale June 16 and a garage sale in July.

A board meeting will be held Monday June 11 at 10 a. m. at the home of Mrs. James A. Riley.

The program and luncheon were arranged by a committee consisting of Mrs. Robert Delaney, chairman, Miss Isabel Hamill, Mrs. A. T. Matthews, Mrs. Charles McCutcheon, and Mrs. J. C. Renninger

Revenue Sharing Funds.

With approximately $78,099 in additional state aid not calculated in the estimated budget submitted in March, the total cut in the budget is about $276,000. The school board is now faced with the task of eliminating this amount of money from the original budget estimate, which must be completed for the signatures of all county officials by the last of June.

According to Dr. William H. Buser, county school superintendent, any cuts made in the negotiated agreement with the Garrett County Teachers' Association will need to be renegotiated with the teachers' organization prior to the end of June.

Ten Are Injured In Six Accidents

Seven persons were taken to hospitals and three others were apparently only slightly injured in six of seventeen accidents during the past week in the county. Fog was the apparent cause of five wrecks at Keyser Ridge Saturday and Sunday.

Four persons of Dundalk were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital late Sunday evening when the operator went through the intersection at Keyser Ridge in the fog. Ray Paul Summerfield, 28, operator of a station wagon, and his three passengers: Hedy L. Summerfield, 28; Alice Ann, 4 mo., and Terri Lynn, 7, were those injured. Summerfield, traveling north on U. S. Route 219, failed to notice that he was approaching the intersection with U. S. Route 40, due to fog, ran through it and hit the guard rail on the north side of Route 40. The station wagon sustained disabling damage.

Jerry Wayne Robbins, 26, of Grantsville, was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital after he was thrown from his Honda as it overturned in a field just south of U. S. Route 219 in the Thayerville area about 4 p. m. Sunday. Cpl. Stephen Russell investigated.

Two persons were taken to Sacred Heart Hospital Cumberland, following a motorcycle mishap, at Keyser Ridge just after 8 p. m. Saturday. Alfred C. Joy, 26, operator, and his passenger, Kathleen J. Barrett, 22, both of Olean, N. Y., traveling north on U. S. Route 219 in dense fog, did not notice the intersection with U. S. Route 40, went through it and hit the guard rail on the north shoulder of Route 40. The Honda sustained disabling damage. Tfc. Carl D. Skidmore investigated the accident.

Beckie D. Schockey, Deer Park, was injured in a two-vehicle mishap the morning of May 23 on State Route 560 about a mile north of the Bethlehem road. She was a passenger in the car of Ronald J. Unger, also of Deer Park. Unger was driving north on Route 560 when a car owned and operated by Errice O. Liller, Mt. Lake Park, pulled from a private drive. Unger attempted to avoid the Liller car and lost control. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater charged Liller with failing to give the right-of-way.

John L. Chidester, 16, of Ursina, Pa., was injured in a one-car wreck on U. S. Route 219 about a mile south of Glendale road about 9 p. m. Saturday. He was traveling north at a high rate of speed with foggy conditions, lost control of his vehicle, ran off the right shoulder, into a telephone pole, then into Boyd Sander's yard. Tfc. Ronald S. Lewis charged Chidester on three counts: operating without proper license, excessive speed, and operating under the influence of alcohol.

Robert M. Proudfoot, 21, was slightly injured in a mishap early Saturday morning on Monte Vista road about a mile west of Route 219. He was traveling south on Monte Vista road when Roger L. Baker, in a pickup, crested a hill traveling north. Baker applied his brakes, skidded about 37 yards and hit the Proudfoot car head-on. Proudfoot said he noticed the Baker truck in the middle of the road and attempted to stop. Trooper J. E. Foley charged Baker with operating under the influence of alcohol. Both vehicles sustained disabling damage.

In eleven other mishaps there were no apparent personal injuries.

Alma A. Barton, Romney, W. Va., was traveling east on State Route 135 about 6 p. m. May 23 George A. Friend, Deer Park, traveling west, swerved to avoid hitting the Barton car but the two collided. Tfc. Robert E. Friend charged Alma Barton with failing to stop at a 'stop' sign.

Glenn G. Sisler, Grantsville, was driving south on U. S. Route 219 just south of the Glendale road when a deer ran from the west shoulder and into his path. The animal was struck and killed. Trooper David A. Miller investigated the accident.

James M. Reckart, RD 2, Oakland, traveling south on Route 219 near Lake Shore Drive about 3:30 a. m. last Saturday, failed to negotiate a left turn and ran off the right shoulder. The pick-up came to rest against an embankment on the right shoulder. Trooper Miller charged him with negligent driving.

Henry J. Kiszela, Falls Church, Va., was traveling west on Route 40 at Keyser Ridge about 8 a. m. last Saturday in foggy conditions. William J. Wagner, McHenry, traveling north on Route 219, came to the intersection with Route 40. Wagner stopped, then pulled out hut into the path of Kiszela car. Tfc. C. D. Skidmore made no charges.

Sharon L. Johnson, Denton, was traveling north on the Finzel road about a half mile north of Route 40 in extremely foggy conditions about 1 a. m. Saturday. The operator hit her brakes but was unable to avoid colliding with the guard rail after skidding on loose surface material.

James E. Hronek, Butler, Pa. and Melvin Stanish, Pittsburgh, were both driving north on Route 219 at Keyser Ridge about 2 p. m. Sunday. Hronek, towing a small trailer, had stopped at the intersection with Route 40. Stanish failed to see the stopped Hronek vehicle and ran into the trailer. Trooper Ronald C. Georg made no charges.

William C. Ryan, Monongahela, Pa., stopped at the intersection at Keyser Ridge. James F. Kohler, Pittsburgh, failed to notice the Ryan car in time to get stopped and skidded into it. Foggy conditions existed at the time. Trooper Georg made no charges. The accident occurred 3 p. m. Sunday.

Linda Alta Leonard, Pasadena, was driving east on Glendale road about noon Sunday. Anthony E. Sclalabba, Pittsburgh, in a pick-up, had pulled from the Beckman Peninsula road onto Glendale road and was struck by the Leonard car. Very heavy fog existed at that point. Tfc. Broadwater made no charges.

Mitchell E. Minard, Rockville, and Edgar A. Bender, Grantsville, were both driving west in pick-ups on the Savage River road about 3:30 Sunday afternoon. Bender started to pass Minard and the two trucks hit.

Karen A. Kalbaugh, Paul H. Harris, both of Westernport were traveling north on Maple Glade road just south of the Swallow Falls road Monday afternoon. Harris did not notice the Kalbaugh car slowing and hit her car in the rear. Tfc. Friend charged Harris with failing to reduce speed under certain conditions.

Craig L. Brant, Friedens, Pa., was driving south in a Jeep on Tooth Pick road near the State Park Road Monday afternoon, on the right side of the road. Charles S. McCrobie, 2nd. St., Oakland, was driving west on the wrong side of the road and struck the Brant Pinto. Tfc. Friend charged McCrobie with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

25 Killed On State Roads Last Week

Twenty-five persons lost their lives on Maryland highways last week, according to Sergeant James E. Harvey of the Maryland State Police.

Twelve of those killed were drivers, nine were passengers and four were pedestrians. The opinion of the investigating officers was that death might have been prevented in at least nine of the collisions had seat belts been in use.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in six of the deaths, speed in twenty-one and "driver error" in twenty-one.

This is another in a series of ads designed to inform you of the many services available in our Trust Department.

How can I make my estate last?

The answer to this question is . . . with a TESTAMENTARY TRUST!

What is a Testamentary Trust? It gets its name from the fact that it is provided for in your Will . . . often referred to as a "Last Will and Testament."

What does it do? It provides a means of keeping your estate intact for a longer period of time (even years) and allows a trustee (like us) to professionally manage your estate to the maximum benefit of those whom you wish to provide for. In many instances it affords greater tax savings, thus, providing a larger estate which is also of greater benefit to your loved ones.

We couldn't possibly answer all of your questions about Testamentary Trusts here, but our professional staff would be very happy to discuss your needs with you at any time. Naturally, legal advice will be sought, as appropriate, to insure that you get the best possible plan.

When You Visit Be Sure To Ask For Our FREE Booklet:
"MAKING YOUR ESTATE LAST"

Now is an excellent time to plan your estate. A recent ruling now permits INCOME TAX DEDUCTIONS for LEGAL EXPENSES incurred in planning your estate.
